Rayville Mayor, Marshal Stage Bloody Street Fight Over Town 'Gambling War'

Mulhearn Slugged With Marshal's Gun; Mayor Charges Smith With Refusing To Clean Out Slot-Machines

RAYVILLE, August 16.—(Special)—Rayville Mayor John E. Mulhearn, was struck on the head with a gun by Town Marshal Robert N. Smith, during a bloody street brawl today as the Rayville "gambling war" erupted anew.

The clash took place on the main street about two hours after Smith was arrested on charges of obstructing officers bent on removing slot machines from a number of Rayville establishments.

He was taken into custody by Sheriff's Deputies E. M. Jones and Edgar Duncan after Mayor Mulhearn filed an affadavit accusing him of malfeasance and non-performance of duty.

Smith was released in $500 bond pending presentation of the case to the Richland parish grand jury.

According to Sheriff J. Foster Jones, Smith had ejected from several cafes three men deputized by the mayor

PROGRESS SLOW ON SETTLEMENT OF SOVIET DEBT

Difficulties On Lend-Lease Agreement Due To Lack Of Russian Records

EVERYTHING GOES BACK TO MOSCOW FOR APPROVAL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The United States and Soviet Russia were reported today to be making "very slow" progress toward agreement on the $11,200,000,000 American lend-lease supplied the Russians as wartime allies.

American officials retain hope of an eventual lend-lease settlement, despite the virtual breakdown of efforts to agree on other current conferences.

Closed-door negotiations which began more than three months ago were said by authorities to have run into difficulties at the start because of lack of Soviet records of what materials the Russians actually received before V-J day and were still using.

More recently Russian responses were said to be slow to specific American proposals. This could be ascribed in part to the characteristic insistence of Soviet representatives abroad upon referring policy questions back to Moscow for answer.

Almost daily sessions are continuing laboriously nevertheless on a "working level" with American officials assuming their opposite members are acting in good faith here regardless of suspicions of Moscow's tactics elsewhere.

Only in these Washington talks are Americans and Russians facing each other across conference tables with even moderate prospects of an eventual meeting of minds. The latest negotiations to be written off are those of a joint Soviet-American commission on Korea's future, for whose lack of progress Secretary of State Marshall has blamed Moscow.

After disregarding for a year American requests that Russia talk over

HOLY LAND TENSE OVER RACE WAR

Arab, Jewish 'Armies' Mobilize With Illegal Small Arms For Battle

JAFFA, Palestine, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Arab and Jewish "armies," well organized, well supplied with small arms and completely illegal, were mobilized tonight on either side of the Jaffa-Tel Aviv border as the Holy Land's racial war eased on its seventh day.

The Jewish Hagana defense militia on the Tel Aviv side and the Arab Nejada youth organization on the Jaffa side were under orders from their respective leaders to enforce the peace—but to be alert for attacks from the other side.

The only fatal incidents of the day in the troubled areas where Jews and Arabs have been at each others throats for a week in eruptions of racial hatred were the fatal stabbing of one Jew in the Jaffa-Tel Aviv border slums and the shooting of an Arab by an army patrol in the curfew area before dawn.

An Arab boy died of injuries suffered in a clash three days ago, bringing the week's casualty list to 34 dead —21 Arabs and 13 Jews.

Hagana said it also had repulsed two attacks by Arabs, but no casualties were reported.

An Arab house was burned in an

ATTLEE APPEARS TO HAVE LICKED ECONOMIC STORM

Labor Government Seems Secure Barring Complete Industrial Breakdown

DELICATE BALANCE KEEPS PRIME MINISTER IN POST

LONDON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Frank discussions with responsible spokesmen for Britain's three major parties indicate that the labor government likely will weather the storm—barring a complete industrial breakdown—despite an economic crisis as threatening as was Dunkerque.

Prime Minister Attlee's own position, for the present at least, appears to be secure. Despite the political implications of the nation's plight and criticism within his own party, there has been no one to challenge his leadership.

Critics have complained that his leadership is not dynamic, that it lacks vigor, imagination and appeal. But it is an open secret in British political circles that Attlee, from the start, has owed his position to "the equation of opposites."

Another aspect that cannot be discountered entirely is that the conservatives have no stomach to assume charge of the government at this late stage when the full impact of the crisis may be expected to hit at any moment.

NEW AIR SAFETY PLAN PROPOSED

To Bar Commercial Planes From Airports Lacking Fire-Fighting Equipment

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—President Truman's air safety board proposed today that commercial planes be barred from airports lacking adequate fire-fighting equipment or plans to provide it.

It also suggested in its fifth report to the President:

A prompt hearing and decision by the Civil Aeronautics board on whether a flight engineer or other extra member should be added to the crew of a four-engine plane.

Should harnesses be required for pilots and co-pilots, by next July 1, to protect them in crashes.

An "intensive study" of facing seats to the rear. The board said that "on the surface it seems much can be said for such seats."

An investigation by the Civil Aeronautics administration of the entire problem of design of emergency and other exits.

Headed by James M. Landis, the board was created by President Truman after a series of air disasters this spring. Many of its recommendations for improved air safety were technical; others were of a general nature.

RADIOACTIVITY KILLS BOMB PLANT WORKER

FORT WORTH, Tex., Aug. 16.—(AP)—An autopsy surgeon's report said here today that radioactivity acquired by Wilton Rhodes Earle, 39, during his employment in the atomic bomb plant at Oak Ridge, Tennessee, caused the death of the latter here yesterday.

Earle, formerly employed as an accountant here, became ill six months ago and had been unable to work since. A Geiger counter borrowed from the Texas Christian University psysics laboratory showed Thicorle's body was emitting gamma gas, the surgeon said in listing the death as caused by failure of the liver due to exposure to radioactivity.

PASSMAN BEGINS GOOD WILL TOUR

Joins 3 Other Congressmen For Week's Air Trip To Central America

Congressman Otto E. Passman will be absent from his Monroe "vacation office" this week while he is on a congressional goodwill and inspection trip to Guatamala, Costa Rica and Nicaragua.

He left on the Saturday midnight M. P. train for New Orleans where tonight he will board a clipper plane with Reps. Henry D. Larcade and James Domengeaux of Louisiana and John Bell Williams of Mississippi in the six-day air tour of the three Central American republics.

In order to devote the between-terms period to affairs in his district, Congressman Passman declined several other opportunities to make congressional tours this summer, including a mission that will survey post-war conditions in Europe. He accepted the Central American assignment because of its brevity. He will be back in his office Monday, August 25, and that week will resume the series of trips through the Fifth district which he began Thursday when he attended a picnic given by the Tensas parish Farm Bureau.

MORRISON PROPOSES PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS, DEVELOPMENT

A far-reaching program of public improvements and the development of Louisiana's natural resources was put forward by Representative Jimmy Morrison yesterday as "essential to the progress of the state."

Morrison, a candidate for governor in the forthcoming Democratic primary, said if elected he intends to launch "an intensive effort" to obtain "home industries which will most profitably utilize our vast natural resources."

His platform, which will be formally issued within the next few weeks, he said, will embrace a "well-defined and integrated program designed to raise our level of income and standards of living through inducing new industries to locate in the state and promoting the most recent advances in agriculture."

Morrison said he is also looking toward expansion of hospital facilities throughout the state, and a network of modern roads and highways.

The congressman outlined his objectives in an interview here enroute to political rallies at Farmerville and Rayville later in the day.

Bandit Government Formed In Greece

Guerrilla Leader Broadcasts Announcement As Third Army Reports Intensified Activity At Dozen Points

ATHENS, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Gen. Markos Vifiades, Greek guerrilla leader, proclaimed by radio broadcast the organization of a military government in "free Greece" and the government today seized published copies of the proclamation as soon as they appeared.

At the same time Greek Third Army headquarters in Salonika announced intensified guerrilla activity at a dozen points, ranging from western Thrace to western Macedonia, during the past 48 hours. Use by the guerrillas of heavy mortars not even available to government forces was reported.

Napoleon Zervas, minister of public order, declared the setting up of a "bandit government on Greek territory" was a "comic manifestation of the Enver Hoxha-Markos radio station" but nevertheless the government was "attaching the necessary importance" to the event.

A Greek general staff spokesman has charged that the guerrilla radio was located at Tirna, capital of Al-

Jes' Ramblin'

How many people know that Louisville avenue is both in and out of the city limits of Monroe? Some men entered into a discussion and one was sure that this street was all within the city while the second man was fully as sure that it was at least partly out of the city. He was correct according to City Engineer W. I. Neel who explained that immediately west of 21st street, there is a stretch of about 300 feet which follows a triangular strip of land line which was not included in the city. Also for the same reason a stretch of perhaps 1,000 feet immediately west of the railroad crossing is out of the city. After the railroad is crossed, the remainder of the street is in the city. The city limits were enlarged in 1928 but these two stretches were not admitted. The only way they can be admitted, Mr. Neel states, is for property owners to petition that they be included in the city and thus far no such effort has been made.

A good one is told on Judge Edward L. Gladney of the Fourth Judicial district court. The judge, resident of Bastrop, has for a hobby a consuming passion for the art made famous by Izaak Walton. He fishes frequently and as part of his paraphernalia possesses a pair of scales on which he weighs the captures he makes among the finny tribe. Other day a baby was born in his neighborhood and the parents naturally were desirous of weighing the newcomer. Out came the famous Gladney scales. The newborn arrival was placed on the scales and weighted exactly 28 pounds!

And another true fish story. B. S. Downing, of Loop Road, clerk in the postoffice, a fishin' went in the bayou. In a few minutes time he caught three

The laboratory will be built for the atomic energy commission. All workers must be investigated and approved under the provisions of the atomic energy act.

REECE ATTACKS CIO VOTE GUIDE

Labeled 'Dictatorship Attempt'; Barkley Assails Republican Congress

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—GOP Chairman Carroll Reece said today a new CIO voting guide is another "attempt at dictatorship" while Senator Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, said the Republican Congress ignored needs of the people in order to manufacture 1948 campaign ammunition.

Reece predicted the CIO "1947 voting guide" would "meet with the same degree of success attained by the 1946 model."

He referred to publication in the CIO news last week-end of "right" and "wrong" votes of senators and representatives to guide union members in supporting candidates in next year's election. Reece said it constituted part of a campaign of misrepresenting the record of the Republican Congress.

In his own appraisal of that record, Senate Democratic Leader Barkley said that in domestic affairs the GOP-controlled Congress "painted a

RUSSIA OPPOSES LINKING WORLD BANK WITH U. N.

CLAIM ACTION VIOLATES UNITED NATIONS CHARTER

LAK ESUCCESS, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Russia and the western powers headed toward a major clash over the international bank for reconstruction and development tonight as the United Nations economic and social council drove toward the end of its four-weeks session.

This became certain when Russia, who is not a member of the bank, disclosed that she would make a vigorous effort to block approval of a draft agreement to link the bank to the U. N., as a specialized agency.

Alexander P. Morozov, Soviet delegate, told a reporter the agreement violated the U. N. charter and must be opposed by Russia as a matter of principle.

Norwegian Delegate Finn Moe opened the fight against the agreement with a declaration that "if the council accepts this agreement, it will seriously undermine its own authority."

He said the agreement had the effect of defining the bank as an "independent" agency rather than a specialized agency of the U. N.

"The Norwegian delegation is not prepared to recognize the bank as a specialized agency on its own terms," he said.

Moe proposed that the council defer action until its next session and that the general assembly, meanwhile, be asked to lay down specific directives concerning principles which should govern specialized agencies.

This morning the Netherlands demanded that the council reconsider a previous decision to invite the Indonesian Republic to send a representative to the forthcoming world trade conference.

The council voted 12 to 5 after a lengthy wrangle to uphold a ruling of Council President Jan Papanek of Czechoslovakia that the council could not re-open the question. The United States, Britain, France and Canada

MARSHALL HEAD IS ELECTROCUTED

Welder Working On Auto Battery Loses Life Near Calhoun

Ground, wet from a recent shower, connected a circuit of electricity with an automobile battery box being welded, and caused the electrocution of Marshall Head, 27, as he was at work under the machine, Friday at 7 p. m., seven miles north of Calhoun.

Although suffering greatly from shock, he clambered out from under the car and immediately collapsed, before a number of bystanders watching the performance of the work.

Dr. J. O. Taylor, Calhoun physician, was summoned and men in the group endeavored to give artificial respiration. A call was placed for the L. B. Faulk American Legion truck which made a quick run to the scene, where it remained from 9:52 p. m. to 11:42 p. m., but workers were unable to resuscitate the victim. The parish coroner, Dr. J. T. French, was summoned when it was assured that the man had died.

The coroner made investigation and stated that no inquest would be required in an accident case of this nature.

The scene of the accident is a community called "Frostown" for a well known resident, Lonnie Frost, father-in-law of Marshall Head, who owns and operates a grocery store and welding shop. Watching the work of welding was Mr. Frost, Dan Crofford, owner of the auto on which work was in progress; Henry Green and Charles Lenard. Mr. Head was regularly em-

Argentina Reaffirms Demands Before Inter-American Parley For Swift Economic Aid, Hemisphere Cooperation

QUITANDINHA, Brazil, Aug. 16.—(AP)—A proposal for joint mediation of the Paraguayan civil war was adopted unanimously today by the 20-nation inter-American conference, and Argentina reaffirmed her demand for swift economic aid and cooperation in the hemisphere.

The conference, called to draft a hemispheric defense treaty, adopted a mediation proposal by Uruguay under which it will dispatch messages to both sides in the Paraguayan conflict asking for a quick end to the fighting.

Argentine Foreign Minister Juan Braumuglia asked the delegates "if we were able in defense of world peace far from our shores to offer economic help and cooperation to countries needing it, why cannot we do the same within America?"

Bramuglia said such a program would be "the compromise of America with America which will allow us, after it has been accomplished, to offer to the men of the world in stormy, painful hours the refuge and source of new creative energies."

Earlier this week the Argentine foreign minister called for a special inter-American economic conference.

Some delegates have opposed plans now for an economic session on the ground that insufficient time remained before the next inter-American conference in Bogota next January. U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall told reporters yesterday he would reserve the United States' attitude on introducing economic questions at the present conference until

ANTI-RED LEADER SENTENCED TO DIE

Hungarian Court Charges Petkov With Plotting To Overthrow Government

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Aug. 16.—(AP)—A people's court today sentenced to death Nikola Dimitrov Petkov, outspoken anti-Communist leader of the Agrarian party, on charges he plotted to overthrow the Communist-dominated Bulgarian government and install himself as leader of a new regime.

Petkov also was fined and given a 15-year prison sentence on conviction of responsibllity for an indictment of the government which appeared in the Agrarian party newspaper.

The court chairman said his conviction on both charges might be appealed before the supreme court within seven days.

Petkov's four co-defendants, all of whom were convicted of participation in the alleged plot against the government, received prison sentences. Col. Marko Ivanov was sentenced to 15 years, Col. Boris Gergov and Maj. Hadji Atanasov to 10 years, and Dimiter Ivanov to five years.

Six days after Petkov was placed in jail the Communists ousted 23 members of his party from the national assembly, charging they were "tools" of their jailed leader.

He pleaded innocent to the charge. On the witness stand he declared dramatically in his behalf "never have have I thought to do anything illegal against the state."

Petkov apparently realized he might be doomed to death, for he told the court his father and brother were "murdered in the streets of Sofia as

ARMY TO PROBE ITALIAN THEATER

Eisenhower Orders Check Of Morale Of American Occupation Troops

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, army chief of staff, said today an investigator—probably the inspector general himself—will go to Italy to check on the administration of Gen. John C. H. Lee, commander of the Mediterranean theatre.

Eisenhower, who arrived at the Washington National airport at 4:50 p. m. (E.S.T.) from a tour of Alaskan defense bases, told reporters that Lee himself had wired the war department asking that an investigation be made.

"Lee has asked the inspector general to look into conditions and that's exactly what we'd do anyway," the chief of staff said.

"We'd do it for nothing else than to defend the officer himself."

Eisenhower said that Maj. Gen. Ira T. Wyche, the inspector general, probably will make the trip. He said that Wyche likely will leave Washington Monday and it will take "approximately 10 days or two weeks" to complete the inquiry.

SENATOR TO INSPECT HUGHES FLYING BOAT

CULVER CITY, Calif., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Sen. Harry Cain, Republican, Washington and Plane Builder Howard Hughes made a date today to inspect Hughes' $25,000,000 flying boat Monday morning.

The senator, member of the war investigating committee, said it was more convenient to look over the huge ship then, than today as he and Hughes had planned. The big plane has yet to fly. Hughes' associates having said it will be several months more before test flights.

Sen. Cain arrived yesterday and saw Hughes take the XF-11 photo reconnaissance plane Hughes built for the army air forces aloft on a two-hour flight. Hughes previously had test-flown the XF-11, another of the type in which he crashed in 1946 suffering nearly fatal injuries.

The senator said his inspection was in connection with committee hearings, scheduled to resume in November, on the $40,000,000 in contracts given to Hughes for building the two types of planes.

BASTROP EMBALMER ACCUSED OF SHOCKING JOB ON CORPSE

BASTROP, Aug. 16.—(Special)—A Bastrop funeral director, who once used two young fugitives as assistants, today faced loss of his license as the result of what was termed "shocking and shameful" preparation of a body for burial.

Threatened with drastic action by the state board of embalmers is James E. Reeder, owner of the Reeder Funeral Home here.

The charges against Reeder, alleging "incompetence and untrustworthiness in preparing a human body for burial," were filed by Jack Liddell, a former employe of the funeral home.

In sworn statements submitted to the state board, Liddell said he was called to the Reeder Funeral Home about 2 a. m. August 8 by Ernest Neighbors, of Bastrop, whose wife, Addie May Neighbors, had died two days before.

Laddell related that on arriving at the funeral home chapel he found a group of friends and members of the family "seriously alarmed" over the condition of the body.

Bandit Government Formed In Greece

Guerrilla Leader Broadcasts Announcement As Third Army Reports Intensified Activity At Dozen Points

ATHENS, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Gen. Markos Vifiades, Greek guerrilla leader, proclaimed by radio broadcast the organization of a military government in "free Greece" and the government today seized published copies of the proclamation as soon as they appeared.

At the same time Greek Third Army headquarters in Salonika announced intensified guerrilla activity at a dozen points, ranging from western Thrace to western Macedonia, during the past 48 hours. Use by the guerrillas of heavy mortars not even available to government forces was reported.

Napoleon Zervas, minister of public order, declared the setting up of a "bandit government on Greek territory" was a "comic manifestation of the Enver Hoxha-Markos radio station" but nevertheless the government was "attaching the necessary importance" to the event.

A Greek general staff spokesman has charged that the guerrilla radio was located at Tirna, capital of Al-

Jes' Ramblin'

How many people know that Louisville avenue is both in and out of the city limits of Monroe? Some men entered into a discussion and one was sure that this street was all within the city while the second man was fully as sure that it was at least partly out of the city. He was correct according to City Engineer W. I. Neel who explained that immediately west of 21st street, there is a stretch of about 300 feet which follows a triangular strip of land line which was not included in the city. Also for the same reason a stretch of perhaps 1,000 feet immediately west of the railroad crossing is out of the city. After the railroad is crossed, the remainder of the street is in the city. The city limits were enlarged in 1928 but these two stretches were not admitted. The only way they can be admitted, Mr. Neel states, is for property owners to petition that they be included in the city and thus far no such effort has been made.

A good one is told on Judge Edward L. Gladney of the Fourth Judicial district court. The judge, resident of Bastrop, has for a hobby a consuming passion for the art made famous by Izaak Walton. He fishes frequently and as part of his paraphernalia possesses a pair of scales on which he weighs the captures he makes among the finny tribe. Other day a baby was born in his neighborhood and the parents naturally were desirous of weighing the newcomer. Out came the famous Gladney scales. The newborn arrival was placed on the scales and weighted exactly 28 pounds!

And another true fish story. B. S. Downing, of Loop Road, clerk in the postoffice, a fishin' went in the bayou. In a few minutes time he caught three

INITIAL PLANNING BEGUN ON HUGE ATOMIC PLANT

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Initial planning on construction of the Argonne national laboratory, huge atomic energy plant to be built here, has begun.

The University of Chicago, prime contractor for the project, said the firm acting as architects and engineers of the project had opened new offices here to assemble a staff of architects, designers, draftsmen, and other technical workers, and that survey parties were mapping the site.

The laboratory will be built for the atomic energy commission. All workers must be investigated and approved under the provisions of the atomic energy act.

REECE ATTACKS CIO VOTE GUIDE

Labeled 'Dictatorship Attempt'; Barkley Assails Republican Congress

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—GOP Chairman Carroll Reece said today a new CIO voting guide is another "attempt at dictatorship" while Senator Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, said the Republican Congress ignored needs of the people in order to manufacture 1948 campaign ammunition.

Reece predicted the CIO "1947 voting guide" would "meet with the same degree of success attained by the 1946 model."

He referred to publication in the CIO news last week-end of "right" and "wrong" votes of senators and representatives to guide union members in supporting candidates in next year's election. Reece said it constituted part of a campaign of misrepresenting the record of the Republican Congress.

In his own appraisal of that record, Senate Democratic Leader Barkley said that in domestic affairs the GOP-controlled Congress "painted a

ELECTION PLANNED FOR WARD 1 JUROR

A special election will be called to fill the vacancy on the Ouachita parish police jury caused by the death of W. E. Hendricks of Ward 1. This announcement was made by State Senator John McCormick who discussed the matter with Gov. Jimmy Davis last Thursday at which time the latter stated that he would instruct his legal council, headed by George Wallace to issue a proclamation to this effect.

The proclamation is expected in the next few days when date for the election will be made known.

RUSSIA OPPOSES LINKING WORLD BANK WITH U. N.

CLAIM ACTION VIOLATES UNITED NATIONS CHARTER

LAK ESUCCESS, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Russia and the western powers headed toward a major clash over the international bank for reconstruction and development tonight as the United Nations economic and social council drove toward the end of its four-weeks session.

This became certain when Russia, who is not a member of the bank, disclosed that she would make a vigorous effort to block approval of a draft agreement to link the bank to the U. N., as a specialized agency.

Alexander P. Morozov, Soviet delegate, told a reporter the agreement violated the U. N. charter and must be opposed by Russia as a matter of principle.

Norwegian Delegate Finn Moe opened the fight against the agreement with a declaration that "if the council accepts this agreement, it will seriously undermine its own authority."

He said the agreement had the effect of defining the bank as an "independent" agency rather than a specialized agency of the U. N.

"The Norwegian delegation is not prepared to recognize the bank as a specialized agency on its own terms," he said.

Moe proposed that the council defer action until its next session and that the general assembly, meanwhile, be asked to lay down specific directives concerning principles which should govern specialized agencies.

This morning the Netherlands demanded that the council reconsider a previous decision to invite the Indonesian Republic to send a representative to the forthcoming world trade conference.

The council voted 12 to 5 after a lengthy wrangle to uphold a ruling of Council President Jan Papanek of Czechoslovakia that the council could not re-open the question. The United States, Britain, France and Canada

MARSHALL HEAD IS ELECTROCUTED

Welder Working On Auto Battery Loses Life Near Calhoun

Ground, wet from a recent shower, connected a circuit of electricity with an automobile battery box being welded, and caused the electrocution of Marshall Head, 27, as he was at work under the machine, Friday at 7 p. m., seven miles north of Calhoun.

Although suffering greatly from shock, he clambered out from under the car and immediately collapsed, before a number of bystanders watching the performance of the work.

Dr. J. O. Taylor, Calhoun physician, was summoned and men in the group endeavored to give artificial respiration. A call was placed for the L. B. Faulk American Legion truck which made a quick run to the scene, where it remained from 9:52 p. m. to 11:42 p. m., but workers were unable to resusicate the victim. The parish coroner, Dr. J. T. French, was summoned when it was assured that the man had died.

The coroner made investigation and stated that no inquest would be required in an accident case of this nature.

The scene of the accident is a community called "Frostown" for a well known resident, Lonnie Frost, father-in-law of Marshall Head, who owns and operates a grocery store and welding shop. Watching the work of welding was Mr. Frost, Dan Crofford, owner of the auto on which work was in progress; Henry Green and Charles Lenard. Mr. Head was regularly em-

BASTROP EMBALMER ACCUSED OF SHOCKING JOB ON CORPSE

BASTROP, Aug. 16.—(Special)—A Bastrop funeral director, who once used two young fugitives as assistants, today faced loss of his license as the result of what was termed "shocking and shameful" preparation of a body for burial.

Threatened with drastic action by the state board of embalmers is James E. Reeder, owner of the Reeder Funeral Home here.

The charges against Reeder, alleging "incompetence and untrustworthiness in preparing a human body for burial," were filed by Jack Liddell, a former employe of the funeral home.

In sworn statements submitted to the state board, Liddell said he was called to the Reeder Funeral Home about 2 a. m. August 8 by Ernest Neighbors, of Bastrop, whose wife, Addie May Neighbors, had died two days before.

Laddell related that on arriving at the funeral home chapel he found a group of friends and members of the family "seriously alarmed" over the condition of the body.

Liddell said examination of the dead woman disclosed that she had been Adopted Unanimously By Rio Conference

Argentina Reaffirms Demands Before Inter-American Parley For Swift Economic Aid, Hemisphere Cooperation

QUITANDINHA, Brazil, Aug. 16.—(AP)—A proposal for joint mediation of the Paraguayan civil war was adopted unanimously today by the 20-nation inter-American conference, and Argentina reaffirmed her demand for swift economic aid and cooperation in the hemisphere.

The conference, called to draft a hemispheric defense treaty, adopted a mediation proposal by Uruguay under which it will dispatch messages to both sides in the Paraguayan conflict asking for a quick end to the fighting.

Argentine Foreign Minister Juan Braumuglia asked the delegates "if we were able in defense of world peace far from our shores to offer economic help and cooperation to countries needing it, why cannot we do the same within America?"

Bramuglia said such a program would be "the compromise of America with America which will allow us, after it has been accomplished, to offer to the men of the world in stormy, painful hours the refuge and source of new creative energies."

Earlier this week the Argentine foreign minister called for a special inter-American economic conference.

Some delegates have opposed plans now for an economic session on the ground that insufficient time remained before the next inter-American conference in Bogota next January. U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall told reporters yesterday he would reserve the United States' attitude on introducing economic questions at the present conference until

ANTI-RED LEADER SENTENCED TO DIE

Hungarian Court Charges Petkov With Plotting To Overthrow Government

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Aug. 16.—(AP)—A people's court today sentenced to death Nikola Dimitrov Petkov, outspoken anti-Communist leader of the Agrarian party, on charges he plotted to overthrow the Communist-dominated Bulgarian government and install himself as leader of a new regime.

Petkov also was fined and given a 15-year prison sentence on conviction of responsibility for an indictment of the government which appeared in the Agrarian party newspaper.

The court chairman said his conviction on both charges might be appealed before the supreme court within seven days.

Petkov's four co-defendants, all of whom were convicted of participation in the alleged plot against the government, received prison sentences. Col. Marko Ivanov was sentenced to 15 years, Col. Boris Gergov and Maj. Hadji Atanasov to 10 years, and Dimiter Ivanov to five years.

Six days after Petkov was placed in jail the Communists ousted 23 members of his party from the national assembly, charging they were "tools" of their jailed leader.

He pleaded innocent to the charge. On the witness stand he declared dramatically in his behalf "never have have I thought to do anything illegal against the state."

Petkov apparently realized he might be doomed to death, for he told the court his father and brother were "murdered in the streets of Sofia as

Search Continues For 50 Miners; 'Miracle Survival' Of 3 Lends Hope

DEATH TOLL RANKS HIGH IN BRITISH PIT DISASTERS

WHITEHAVEN, Eng., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Rescue squads dug 54 scorched-twisted bodies out of blasted William coal mine today and speeded the search for 50 other missing miners—spurred by the "miracle survival" of three men trapped more than 24 hours in the 135-year-old undersea shaft.

The three shocked and bruised explosion survivors—who were among the 117 trapped late yesterday in Britain's worst coal mine disaster in 13 years—stumbled into the arms of rescue workers this afternoon.

They had been entombed for nearly a day and a night in abandoned reaches of Britain's oldest underwater mine that stretches under an inlet of the Irish sea on England's northwest coast.

Rescue of the trio raised the roll of survivors to 13 and rekindled the

ARMY TO PROBE ITALIAN THEATER

Eisenhower Orders Check Of Morale Of American Occupation Troops

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, army chief of staff, said today an investigator—probably the inspector general himself—will go to Italy to check on the administration of Gen. John C. H. Lee, commander of the Mediterranean theatre.

Eisenhower, who arrived at the Washington National airport at 4:50 p. m. (E.S.T.) from a tour of Alaskan defense bases, told reporters that Lee himself had wired the war department asking that an investigation be made.

"Lee has asked the inspector general to look into conditions and that's exactly what we'd do anyway," the chief of staff said.

"We'd do it for nothing else than to defend the officer himself."

Eisenhower said that Maj. Gen. Ira T. Wyche, the inspector general, probably will make the trip. He said that Wyche likely will leave Washington Monday and it will take "approximately 10 days or two weeks" to complete the inquiry.

Eisenhower said he did not "know much about" published reports con-

SENATOR TO INSPECT HUGHES FLYING BOAT

CULVER CITY, Calif., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Sen. Harry Cain, Republican, Washington and Plane Builder Howard Hughes made a date today to inspect Hughes' $25,000,000 flying boat Monday morning.

The senator, member of the war investigating committee, said it was more convenient to look over the huge ship then, than today as he and Hughes had planned. The big plane has yet to fly, Hughes' associates having said it will be several months more before test flights.

Sen. Cain arrived yesterday and saw Hughes take the XF-11 photo reconnaissance plane Hughes built for the army air forces aloft on a two-hour flight. Hughes previously had test-flown the XF-11, another of the type in which he crashed in 1946 suffering nearly fatal injuries.

The senator said his inspection was in connection with committee hearings, scheduled to resume in November, on the $40,000,000 in contracts given to Hughes for building the two types of planes.

YOUNG BURGLAR CAUGHT WITH LOOT

Troopers Seize Boy On Bridge, Clear Two West Monroe Break-Ins

After pausing in West Monroe for a little light burglary to finance a hitchhiking trip to Florida, Jerry L. Leeds, 16, of Shreveport, was really "caught with the goods" when two passing state troopers stopped their car and halted him as he walked eastward across the Louisville avenue traffic bridge at 1 o'clock yesterday morning.

Questioned by the officers as to how he came by the two pairs of khaki trousers and three pairs of new shoes he was carrying, the youngster admitted he had just broken in a West Monroe store. He was taken into the police car and directed his captors to the Brown clothing store, 230 Trenton street, where he showed them how he had gained entrance through a rear door transom. He turned over $13 in currency, $9 in silver a $2 roll of nickels and 50 pennies which he had stolen along with the wearing apparel.

Continuing his confession, young Leeds included one of the two filling station burglaries in West Monroe last Thursday night. That was at the C. H. Martin office, 601 Trenton, where he gave up an attempt to open a safe after assembling tire tools for that purpose. He denied he had broken into the R. G. Hart station at 1300 Cypress street where $27.75 was taken from a cigaret machine and about $1 from a cash register.

The boy said he burglarized two filling stations at Shreveport, getting about $5 in money, before leaving there Thursday. Base of his operations while in West Monroe was a clump of bushes along the west bank of the river near the new bridge and the officers found his baggage and an inner tube which he said he had taken from the Martin place.

The young prisoner was turned over to Juvenile Officer L. V. Tarver, who said he would be charged with burglary in juvenile court.

Looking Ahead In Washington

(By The World Staff Of The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The capital's biggest "if" story:

If Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham, the White House physician, says Robert E. Hannegan should slow up, the latter probably will quit the Democratic national chairmanship and stay on as postmaster general.

If that happens, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson, former congressman and onetime president of Rotary International, reportedly will be asked to leave cabinet and take the party helm—

If he thinks his own health will permit, and—

If he sees no opening for him to run for the Senate from New Mexico.

If Anderson takes the chairmanship, Gael Sullivan, executive director now running the committee, will most likely resign.

If there is an agriculture vacancy, President Truman may pick a new secretary from among these: Robert S. Kerr, former Oklahoma governor, lawyer, oil operator; Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Kansas State College, who put in 16 years in the agriculture department under Presidents Hoover and Roosevelt; Norris E. Dodd, present undersecretary and Oregon rancher; Gayle Armstrong, New Mexico rancher and an Anderson consultant; Roy Thompson of New Orleans, former chairman of the price decontrol board.

Real Money!

Rome—For the first time in four years, Italians soon will be able to jingle coins in their pockets. The government plans to take up all paper lire in denominations of one to 10, replacing them with metal.

Horse Racing

New York—Prospects are that one of three horses will break a million in winnings before long.

The three, all of which have already bested the $561,161 mark set by Whirlaway in 1942, are:

Stymie, $722,150.

Assault, $623,370.

Armed, $574,161.

Trainer Ben Jones feels that if Whirlaway were running today he could win $1,600,000 because present day purses are so much higher. Some races that brought Whirlaway $5,000 pay almost 10 times that much now.

Marshall Plan Quandary

Berlin—American and British military government authorities look for the Paris conference on the Marshall plan to make heavy and conflicting demands on Germany's economy.

It's expected that one group of nations, led by France, will demand capital goods be shifted from Germany to France and Luxembourg for the production of steel and machine tools.

On the other hand, nations like the Netherlands, Denmark and Sweden are expected to demand that Germany immediately step up production of consumer goods and machine tools.

A "formula" will have to be worked out—and this formula will at the same time have to make Germany self-supporting and lift the burden from American and British taxpayers.

Taft, Dewey, Vandenberg

Washington—Politicians usually give Senator Taft of Ohio the edge when they're tallying up how many convention votes various possible Republican presidential nominees might get from southern delegates.

That's because Taft's father, the former president, had great strength among southern Republicans. But—

The only convention clash between Taft and Governor Dewey of New York was in 1940. Dewey got 93 of the south's votes on the first ballot and Taft 83.

Dopesters are beginning to believe Michigan Senator Vandenberg's repeated statements that he isn't seeking the nomination. In private talks with friends he goes even further in discouraging "draft" movements than he has publicly. Strategists in the camps of other potential G. O. P. candidates have been watching Vandenberg's every move sharply but profess to have found no indications he is acting behind the scenes.

Korea

Washington—In view of the stalemate with Russia over Korea, the state department is dusting off a $540,000,000 three-year plan to rebuild roads, railways and industry in the American occupation zone.

Officials stress that the U. S. is going to stick to its aims in its own zone, regardless of whether agreement can be reached with the Soviets on a unified provisional government.

The Korean plan was shelved at the tag end of Congress when Republican leaders made plain they were in no mood to vote any more foreign aid funds.

India

New Delhi—Although the British are surrendering their crown rule in India, British governors have been invited to remain to head two provinces in the Indian dominion—Madras and Bombay—and two in Moslem Pakistan — Northwest Frontier and West Punjab.

Labor Forecast

Washington—Here are a couple of strong possibilities when the bulk of the Taft-Hartley labor law goes into effect Friday:

1. The justice department soon will prosecute at least one union for making political expenditures. Unions are inviting this because they believe the courts will agree with them that the potential provision of the law is unconstitutional.

2. Some unions will snub the National Labor Relations Board, as announced. But most will probably change their position whenever they think the board can get them important gains which they can't win by themselves.

Atomic Future

Washington — Construction planned at and near the government's plutonium manufacturing site at Pasco, Wash., will cost almost as much as was spent there to develop that phase of the atomic program during the war.

"The original announcement in July about the construction was rather modest," says one authority. "It's really going to be one hell of a construction program."

The atomic energy commissioners will make their first visit to the Hanford works late this month. They started out on such a visit when they were first appointed, but bad flying weather interfered.

Slow Going For U. N.

Lake Success—At the present rate it will take the United Nations a long time to increase its membership to the 70 countries provided for in its projected skyscraper.

The 55-nation U. N. has 11 applications, but signs point to the rejection of all but one—Yemen—because of Soviet-western disagreements.

Canadian Briefs

Ottawa—Close mouthed officials indicate that the source of American dollars after this year is one of their big worries. British payments of 50 per cent of her Canadian purchases in Canadian dollars, which have helped Canada meet her adverse U. S. trade balance, are expected to end when the American loan to Britain is exhausted.

Winnipeg—Despite reports that 50 of the first 500 Yugoslavs to return home from Canada have been imprisoned, another 200 are expected to leave late this year.

Ottawa—Canada is showing extreme caution in drafting terms under which Newfoundland may become the 10th province. One insider says the dominion does not want to appear niggardly but at the same time does not want to agree to financial arrangements that might give other provinces an opening to ask for more grants.

Leeds, 16, of Shreveport, was really "caught with the goods" when two passing state troopers stopped their car and halted him as he walked eastward across the Louisville avenue traffic bridge at 1 o'clock yesterday morning.

Questioned by the officers as to how he came by the two pairs of khaki trousers and three pairs of new shoes he was carrying, the youngster admitted he had just broken in a West Monroe store. He was taken into the police car and directed his captors to the Brown clothing store, 230 Trenton street, where he showed them how he had gained entrance through a rear door transom. He turned over $13 in currency, $9 in silver a $2 roll of nickels and 50 pennies which he had stolen along with the wearing apparel.

Continuing his confession, young Leeds included one of the two filling station burglaries in West Monroe last Thursday night. That was at the C. H. Martin office, 601 Trenton, where he gave up an attempt to open a safe after assembling tire tools for that purpose. He denied he had broken into the R. G. Hart station at 1300 Cypress street where $27.75 was taken from a cigaret machine and about $1 from a cash register.

The boy said he burglarized two filling stations at Shreveport, getting about $5 in money, before leaving there Thursday. Base of his operations while in West Monroe was a clump of bushes along the west bank of the river near the new bridge and the officers found his baggage and an inner tube which he said he had taken from the Marin place.

The young prisoner was turned over to Juvenile Officer L. V. Tarver, who said he would be charged with burglary in juvenile court.

Looking Ahead In Washington

(By The World Staff Of The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The capital's biggest "if" story:

If Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham, the White House physician, says Robert E. Hannegan should slow up, the latter probably will quit the Democratic national chairmanship and stay on as postmaster general.

If that happens, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson, former congressman and onetime president of Rotary International, reportedly will be asked to leave cabinet and take the party helm—

If he thinks his own health will permit, and—

If he sees no opening for him to run for the Senate from New Mexico.

If Anderson takes the chairmanship, Gael Sullivan, executive director now running the committee, will most likely resign.

If there is an agriculture vacancy, President Truman may pick a new secretary from among these: Robert S. Kerr, former Oklahoma governor, lawyer, oil operator; Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Kansas State College, who put in 16 years in the agriculture department under Presidents Hoover and Roosevelt; Norris E. Dodd, present undersecretary and Oregon rancher; Gayle Armstrong, New Mexico rancher and an Anderson consultant; Roy Thompson of New Orleans, former chairman of the price decontrol board.

Real Money!

Rome—For the first time in four years, Italians soon will be able to jingle coins in their pockets. The government plans to take up all paper lire in denominations of one to 10, replacing them with metal.

Horse Racing

New York—Prospects are that one of three horses will break a million in winnings before long.

The three, all of which have already bested the $561,161 mark set by Whirlaway in 1942, are:

Stymie, $722,130.

Assault, $623,370.

Armed, $574,161.

Trainer Ben Jones feels that if Whirlaway were running today he could win $1,000,000 because present-day purses are so much higher. Some races that brought Whirlaway $5,000 pay almost 10 times that much now.

Marshall Plan Quandary

Berlin—American and British military government authorities look for the Paris conference on the Marshall plan to make heavy and conflicting demands on Germany's economy.

It's expected that one group of nations, led by France, will demand capital goods be shifted from Germany to France and Luxembourg for the production of steel and machine tools.

On the other hand, nations like the Netherlands, Denmark and Sweden are expected to demand that Germany immediately step up production of consumer goods and machine tools.

A "formula" will have to be worked out—and this formula will at the same time have to make Germany self-supporting and lift the burden from American and British taxpayers.

Taft, Dewey, Vandenberg

Washington—Politicians usually give Senator Taft of Ohio the edge when they're tallying up how many convention votes various possible Republican presidential nominees might get from southern delegates.

That's because Taft's father, the former president, had great strength among southern Republicans. But—

The only convention clash between Taft and Governor Dewey of New York was in 1940. Dewey got 93 of the south's votes on the first ballot and Taft 83.

Dopesters are beginning to believe Michigan Senator Vandenberg's repeated statements that he isn't seeking the nomination. In private talks with friends he goes even further in discouraging "draft" movements than he has publicly. Strategists in the camps of other potential G. O. P. candidates have been watching Vandenberg's every move sharply but profess to have found no indications he is acting behind the scenes.

Korea

Washington—In view of the stalemate with Russia over Korea, the state department is dusting off a $540,000,000 three-year plan to rebuild roads, railways and industry in the American occupation zone.

Officials stress that the U. S. is going to stick to its aims in its own zone, regardless of whether agreement can be reached with the Soviets on a unified provisional government.

The Korean plan was shelved at the tag end of Congress when Republican leaders made plain they were in no mood to vote any more foreign aid funds.

India

New Delhi—Although the British are surrendering their crown rule in India, British governors have been invited to remain to head two provinces in the Indian dominion—Madras and Bombay—and two in Moslem Pakistan — Northwest Frontier and West Punjab.

Labor Forecast

Washington—Here are a couple of strong possibilities when the bulk of the Taft-Hartley labor law goes into effect Friday:

1. The justice department soon will prosecute at least one union for making political expenditures. Unions are inviting this because they believe the courts will agree with them that the potential provision of the law is unconstitutional.

2. Some unions will snub the National Labor Relations Board, as announced. But most will probably change their position whenever they think the board can get them important gains which they can't win by themselves.

Atomic Future

Washington — Construction planners at and near the government's plutonium manufacturing site at Pasco, Wash., will cost almost as much as was spent there to develop that phase of the atomic program during the war.

"The original announcement in July about the construction was rather modest," says one authority. "It's really going to be one hell of a construction program."

The atomic energy commissioners will make their first visit to the Hanford works late this month. They started out on such a visit when they were first appointed, but bad flying weather interfered.

Slow Going For U. N.

Lake Success—At the present rate it will take the United Nations a long time to increase its membership to the 70 countries provided for in its projected skyscraper.

The 55-nation U. N. has 11 applications, but signs point to the rejection of all but one—Yemen—because of Soviet-western disagreements.

Canadian Briefs

Ottawa—Close mouthed officials indicate that the source of American dollars after this year is one of their big worries. British payments of 50 per cent of her Canadian purchases in Canadian dollars, which have helped Canada meet her adverse U. S. trade balance, are expected to end when the American loan to Britain is exhausted.

Winnipeg—Despite reports that 50 of the first 500 Yugoslvs to return home from Canada have been imprisoned, another 200 are expected to leave late this year.

Ottawa—Canada is showing extreme caution in drafting terms under which Newfoundland may become the 10th province. One insider says the dominion does not want to appear niggardly but at the same time does not want to agree to financial arrangements that might give other provinces an opening to ask for more grants.

NATIONALIST ARAB MOVEMENT CRISIS LOOMS IN NEAR EAST

Hub Of Movement Is Egypt; Current Trouble Spot Is Palestine

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Many significant changes are impending along those shores of the Mediterranean known as the Arab speaking world. At the center of the Arab Nationalist movement is Egypt. Max Boyd, chief of the A. P. staff in that area, surveys post-war trends of the Middle East in the following dispatch, one of a series of A. P. week-end interpretative stories.)

By Max Boyd

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The nationalist movement among 70,000,000 people of the Arabic speaking world is approaching a crisis in Palestine and Egypt.

Along the southern and eastern shores of the Mediterranean, from which the western allies bombed and fought their way into Europe after the Nazis had overrun it, Arab political leaders in many lands are demanding an end to "foreign domination," and threatening vast changes in the many political, economic and strategic factors of an area that for centuries has been a crossroads for the eastern hemisphere.

The hub of this movement is Egypt. The current trouble spot is Palestine.

Syria and Lebanon, promised independence when allied troops needed their help to defeat Vichy forces, raised their determined cry for complete freedom before the final shot was fired in the war. Their brief, but fierce fight with the French, led to the end of the French mandate and the withdrawal of French and British soldiers.

In neighboring Palestine the Arabs, who contend that Jewish immigration is an invasion of their country, are up against Zionists who feel just as strongly that a Jewish state in the Holy Land is the only solution to the plight of hundreds of thousands of Jewish refugees in Europe.

This week, the long-expected trouble between Arabs and Jews broke out in bloody violence. Palestine, already torn by Jewish terrorist attacks designed to drive out the British who enforce limits on immigration, saw more than 30 Jews and Arabs knifed, beaten, shot and blown to death.

Many Zionists will be satisfied with nothing less than a Jewish state and unlimited immigration. Many Arabs are demanding an independent Arab Palestine and say they will fight to prevent the formation of any Jewish state, no matter how small a part of Palestine it may be.

There is little expectation at present that armies from Egypt, Saudi Arabia, TransJordan, Lebanon, Syria, Iraq and Yemen—the seven states of the post-war-born Arab league—would actually fight in Palestine if the United Nations decided against the Arabs.

But foreigners who have been in the Middle East a long time predict that arms and guerrilla fighters from most of those countries would raid and harass Zionists in the Holy Land for years to come.

Some observers believe such raiders would encounter well-armed Jewish forces, well-trained in fighting by years of service in the armies of various nations during the war.

While Jewish terrorist attacks impair the value of Palestine as a forward British base in the Middle East, practically every section of the Egyptian press warns that there will be trouble in Egypt likewise if the U. N. security council fails to back Egypt's demands for withdrawal of all British troops from the Nile valley.

How serious such trouble might be, no one knows. But undoubtedly there is a far larger supply of small arms and grenades in the hands of Egyptians today than at the time of the 1919 Egyptian revolution when trains were derailed, crops destroyed and hundreds of persons killed.

For years the armies of Britain, Italy and Germany fought back and forth across the North African desert, leaving weapons scattered. Many of these were picked up by the Arabs, who also have stolen liberally from supply depots.

The chance of strife-provoking incidents between Egyptians and British troops has been minimized by the withdrawal of British forces from Cairo and Alexandria to the Suez Canal zone last spring, but troops still rub elbows with Egyptians at the Canal zone cities of Port Said and Ismailia.

Prime Minister Mahmond Nokrashi Pasha who warned the security council this week that popular resentment against the British might get out of hand was at the head of the Egyptian government in the spring of 1946 when student demonstrations against the troops turned into battles with Egyptian police. He left office amid a storm of criticism, accused both of weakness in pressing Egypt's demands against London and harshness in dealing with the students.

Several other riots in which more than a dozen Egyptians were killed and two British soldiers beaten to death occurred before his successor, Ismail Sidky Pasha, wiped out further demonstrations with stern police measures.

The British, who contend they have the right to keep troops in the Canal Zone until 1956 under their 1936 alliance with Egypt, offered in negotiations broke down over the future status of the Sudan, now under joint rule of Britain and Egypt. Nokrashi Pasha then returned to power.

There has been talk that Britain might move her main military base from the Canal Zone to the crown colony of Kenya, far south on the east coast of Africa. Advocates of this move say the Mediterranean would be closed to shipping and the Suez Canal subject to heavy air and rocket attack in any future war, and that Kenya would be a safer base for long-range bombers and sea shipping. But development of a big Kenya base would take several years and much money.

Britain maintains garrisons under treaty rights in two other Middle East countries, Iraq and Trans-Jordan, but she agreed some time ago to negotiate a revision of the pact with Iraq. Neither of these countries has much in the way of industrial facilities to support a modern base.

Egypt, most modernized of the Arab states, is gaining leadership not only by her appeal to the U. N., but also by granting refuge to exiled Arab Nationalists from Palstine and northwest Africa.

Haj Amin Al Husseini, Mufti of Jerusalem, who fled first to Iraq and then to Germany when the British tried to arrest him as the leader of the 1936 Arab revolt against Zionism, is directing the Palestine Arab executive committee from Cairo.

Abd El Krim, who fought the French and Spanish in Morocco in the 1920's and demonstrated rare leadership qualities, is giving interviews here and promising to fight France again if the U. N. fals to listen to independence demands from North Africa.

One of Britain's chief worries in this troubled situation is the security of Middle East oil. The United States Navy, which uses more oil from Saudi Arabia than any other single supplier, is interested in this problem as well.

IRVING ZEIDMAN IS TO GIVE CONCERT

Irving Zeidman, prominent local vocalist, will render a sacred concert at Gordon Avenue Methodist church tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Zeidman has unnumbered friends and admirers in the Twin Cities and it is expected that there will be a large attendance as the public is cordially invited to attend.

The selections on the night's program will be as follows:

Twenty-third Psalm, The Old Rugged Cross, Be Still My Soul, The Blind Plowman, Turn Back, O Man, My Faith Looks Up to Thee, The Holy City, Nearer My God to Thee, Recessional, The Lord's Prayer.

POLICEMEN ORDERED TO HOUSING PROJECT

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—(AP)—For the second consecutive night 1,000 policemen were ordered tonight to a south side project where demonstrations against Negro tenancy have resulted in the arrest of 118 persons.

Police Capt. Raymond Crane, chief of the uniformed force, had said he expected a larger crowd at the project than last night's estimated 3,000 but, early, only a few persons had gathered at the project.

Taverns in a two-square mile area around the community tonight were ordered closed until Sunday noon.

During last night's disturbance stones were thrown at street lights, automobiles and streetcars, and several windows were broken. Several street car passengers were cut by flying glass but no serious injuries were reported.

The demonstrations began Tuesday night after seven Negro families had moved into the new Fernwood project with 40 white families.

Mayor Martin H. Kennelly was visited by 30 Negro and 10 white residents of the area at the city hall today. Several in the group urged that "the militia be called" but Kennelly told them, "I believe we have the situation well under control."

Rent Regulations

There seems to be some confusion concerning provisions of the new federal rent law, confusion which could prove costly both to landlords and tenants alike. The landlords, of course, are more closely regulated, just as were merchants and others handling rationed commodities during the life of OPA.

According to the local office there are many infractions of the new act occurring weekly, many through misunderstanding of the law but other violations apparently being direct evasion of the federal statutes.

The local office has pointed out that a landlord may not increase rents unless voluntarily agreed upon by the tenant. Furthermore, under the new act a lease must be signed when rents are increased, and these leases must be filed with the rental office. Evidence that the law is not being fully complied with is the fact that only 112 leases have been submitted to the local office although 15,954 rental registrations are on file. And of these 112 lease agreements, 100 were presented by two landlords.

The tenant may sue for treble damages and costs in cases where he has been overcharged or for other violations of the act, and the government can bring injunction suits to keep rents within the ceilings established. Thus it behooves everyone concerned to familiarize himself with the law because even an unintentional violation of the regulations could result in litigation which would prove costly.

There have been a number of instances of unreasonably high rent charges here, just as there are at present a number of instances of property being rented below its normal value. Neither condition should exist; a tenant should not be forced to pay inflationary rental charges, and a landlord should be permitted a fair return on his property. That is the purpose of the housing regulations.

Thorough understanding of the new act and a fair-minded approach to the problem will result in a better relationship between landlord and tenant, to the eventual satisfaction of all concerned.

STILL STALLED

The UN atomic energy commission has abandoned all hope of progress toward agreement in 1947. And, as things now stand, there is no prospect of agreement on atomic energy control until another calendar year arrives. The Soviet delegation remains adamant, and nothing in the way of discussion or suggested compromise by the commission's majority will budge it.

Only the other day Andrei Gromyko gave a restatement of the Soviet position in answer to an article by Frederick H. Osborn, deputy American representative on the commission. The explanation was full of weasel words, but it was evident that Mr. Gromyko still thinks everybody is out of step except Russia.

The amazing thing about this article was that, after all the thousands of words that must have been spoken in the commission meetings, Mr. Gromyko's thoughts seem to be precisely where they always were.

He calls the Soviet proposal "the only correct approach" to the problem's solution, although all the nations on the commission except Russia's shadow, Poland, take the opposite view.

He still insists that the majority-adopted United States plan would give this country "a position of monopoly in the field of atomic energy," although anyone who can maintain an open mind while reading must see that it wouldn't.

He still insists that any atomic energy control system must operate within the security council, complete with veto. He takes the position that the UN charter is incapable of amendment, and that elimination of the veto would "undermine the foundation on which the entire edifice of the United Nations rests."

Yet Mr. Gromyko must surely know why the American control plan eliminates the veto. He says again that unanimity of the five permanent security council members must be operative in "all questions of substance having relation to the maintenance of that peace."

All this is old stuff. That very fact is what makes the situation so discouraging. Perhaps Mr. Gromyko, as a dutiful Communist, does not dare or wish to deviate an inch from the line of conduct set for him.

This leads the United States, as the strongest power opposite Russia, to adopt a line of action which it might not prefer under happier circumstances. Surely the American people want no atomic armament race or any monopoly if an adequate system of control can be set up. However, neither they nor any other realistic nation would want to trust themselves to the Russian system, which leaves the matter of atomic energy uses and controls to the good faith of individual nations.

It is not necessary to go over the abundant examples to suggest that good faith is not the most notable feature of Russian foreign policy. Therefore it becomes doubly necessary for the American government to try to maintain its supremacy in the atomic field with all possible vigor, and to guard with extra care whatever "secrets" it may still possess.

Sometimes it seems as if architects, like milliners, don't give a darn what it looks like as long as it's different.

It would be interesting to see a termite's face when he chews his way up to a modern piece of furniture and discovers it's glass.

Russian farmers have been ordered to quit taking two hours for lunch. When are they to have time to count the joys of communism?

Jimmie Fidler IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 16.—The real highlight of actress Ruth Terry's current trip to Canada will be an altar-trek with John Gilmore, wealthy Canadian lumberman . . . I hear that Frank Sinatra's teen-age fans, locally at least, are flooding his mail with indignant protests against the new rule banning kids under 18 from his broadcasts . . . Now it's Groucho Marx who's trying his hand at a political column, a la Will Rogers; if it clicks, a Chicago syndicate will take over. . . . Looks like M-G-M bosses, long anxious to find a family interest series to replace the discontinued Andy Hardy pictures, have found the answer in "Cynthia," the current Elizabeth Taylor hit.

Hollywood rumor insists that General "Hap" Arnold, retired chief of the army air forces, may accept a berth as aviation and transportation head for a major studio . . . Joe E. Brown's tireless work in entertaining American troops during the war will bring him still another distinction next week, when he's scheduled for a medal of honor from the American Legion . . . Lynn Bari may ask LA courts to serve a restraining order on her estranged spouse, Sid Luft; she says his persistent effort to effect a reconciliation are making her so nervous that both her work and health are being damaged . . . Ha! When Henry Fonda complained that Joan Crawford was "too heavy," after carrying her in eight successive takes for a "Daisy Kenyon" scene, Joan calmly picked HIM up and carried him the same distance! . . . Now that the divorce trial is over, Hedy Lamarr has dismissed her psychoanalyst and is getting mental relief by buying a new $10,000 fall wardrobe.

PREVIEW NIGHTS: Pic of a lackluster week: Universal-International's "Singapore" (Fred MacMurray-Ava Gardner-Roland Culver.) Top-notch action melodrama, distinguished by fine performances, brilliant direction and a piquant oriental flavoring . . . FAIR: Paramount's "Wild Harvest" (Alan Ladd-Dorothy Lamour-Robert Preston). A story about wheat—with a plot so far-fetched that it will provoke much chaff . . . Columbia's "The Son of Rusty" (Ted Donaldson-Stephen Dunne). A dog story that will win cheers from juvenile audiences. . . . LOW BRIDGE: Monogram's "Louisiana" (Governor Jimmie Davis-Margaret Lindsay). Short on entertainment; long on political plugs for Governor Davis . . . Film Classics' "The Patient Vanishes" (James Mason-Mary Clare). A creaking reissue of an ancient British-made "whodunit" revived only to capitalize on Mason's new popularity . . . BEST PERFORMANCE: Fred MacMurray in "Singapore."

There's no dodging the fact that the shocking new 75 per cent tax levied by Great Britain on all American pictures exhibited there is one of the worst blows dealt to Hollywood in many a year—a particularly painful blow because the entire American movie industry has gone all out in the past year to help the British through a bad financial crisis. But I'm wondering if the Hollywood movie-makers aren't screaming a bit louder than their situation actually warrants. According to statistics released by MPA, only 19 out of 123 pictures recently released have paid back their negative cost from American receipts; the other 104 would have lost money without a foreign market. I don't question those figures—but I do question the inflated production costs which make such facts possible. If the new British tax forces Hollywood to cut its cost—and it can easily do so—I think that the entire American industry may conceivably find itself in a sounder position. One that will let it make American pictures, for American audiences, without deferring to any foreign country.

Orson Welles statement to a columnist that he is not only a great admirer of bullfighters, but that he, himself, had actually dispatched some 20 bulls, promptly brought him a challenge from character actor Fortunio Bonanova. Bonanova has invited Hollywood's No. 1 genius to do his stuff in the bull ring at Tijuana, Mexico—all gate receipts to go to a worthy charity. If the great event comes off—and I'll give you 10 to 1 odds that it never will—Hollywood will move en masse that day to Tijuana. I'm going, for sure—and I think I'll take with me one of those electric meters that measures audience reaction. I want to see which contestant gets the loudest cheers—Orson or the bull.

Somehow, I found the announcement that a movie is being planned of the life of "Prince" Mike Romanoff a bit distasteful. Before becoming a successful Hollywood restaurateur, the "Prince" was a notorious phony whose impersonations and misrepresentations landed him in jail. No doubt he's colorful—but can't the studios find stories more inspiring than his to offer young America?

OUR CHILDREN

FORCING GOOD BEHAVIOR

Force is an emergency measure, a last resort in time of stress. It is rarely needed in the rearing of children. Frequent use of it is a mistake because it never opens communication between parents and children, teachers and pupils. It shuts off communication and, therefore, does not persuade the child to want to do the right thing.

We train, discipline and teach in order to help a child live successfully and happily with other people. If our treatment of him is the sort that makes it impossible for him to live happily with us, we certainly are not preparing him to live happily with strangers. We are the people he knows best, and on the experiences he has with us he makes his judgments of other people and their ways.

Force will not teach a child good manners. It will not teach him sound ethics. It will only teach him that when he is in opposition to one stronger than he, it is he who gets the worst of the argument. A child makes a mistake, maybe a purposeful mistake, and his mother says: "Tell him you are sorry." The child refuses to say he is sorry, and his parents beats him until he mutters, "Sorry." What good did that do?

Manners are adult gestures that we hope rise out of good-will and kindness, thoughtfulness for others' feelings. Children know little of that, being self-bound for the early years of their growth. The best we can do is to say, "O, you're sorry you hurt the little boy. You are sorry you broke the dolly," and let it go at that.

If the child promptly says "I'm sorry," that is fine but if he doesn't, let it pass. Keep putting the right words into his ears, the right gestures into his mind, and in time he will get the words. Later, he will have acquired the feeling. Force will not teach him gentle ways, kindly feeling, friendliness to all kinds of folks.

Some mothers and fathers think that it is their duty to make a child say what they tell them to do, without delay. If the child refuses, balks at the order, they believe that they must beat him into submission because he is stubborn. They are wrong and the mistake they make is serious in its effects on the child.

Obedience must be won on the basis of intelligent cooperation. It cannot be forced. Once a child reaches the age of reflection memory, force is worse than useless; it becomes an affront not to be forgiven.

Train the baby to trust his parents, to know—by experiences with them—that they love him, that what they do is for his health and pleasure and ends in his comfort and happiness. When he is old enough to understand and feel what goes on about him, he seldom will have to be asked more than once to do what he should. Obedience training begins when the baby comes.

The obedient child is the child who makes fewer mistakes. That greatly desired quality, obedience, is discussed by Angelo Patri in his booklet No. 301, entitled, "Obedience," and is obtainable by sending 10 cents (coin preferred) and a 3-cent stamp to him, c/o News-Star—World, P. SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Sunday School Lesson for Aug. 24
Scripture: Proverbs 3:3; 11:1, 3; 12:17-22; 14:5; 23:10-11
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

There are certain things, according to the Book of Proverbs, that are "abomination to the Lord." Among these are "a false balance" (11:1), and "lying lips" (12:22).

Whatever the Lord abominates is bad for man. The dishonest or lying person sins against his fellowman, as well as against his Maker. Society depends for its very existence, as well as for its welfare and security, upon honesty in daily life and its relationships. The fact that so many people are honest enables society to go on, and it is because so many people are dishonest that we have so many menacing problems and so little world security.

Honesty begins with the individual in more ways than one. It has its rise and beginning in honesty with one's self. Many people are not honest with themselves. They live in a world of illusion, or of self-delusion. The dishonest man would despise himself if he faced up honestly to what he actually is. He avoids that by the alibi that "other people do it." "you can't do business and be honest," and similar by-words of the weak.

A man has to settle with his own mind and will what sort of man he is going to be—a man of integrity, or a cheater and grafter. According to that decision he will be an asset to society, or a parasite, living upon and robbing others, no matter by what polite legal fiction his action may be covered.

When Zacchaeus, the Jewish tax-gatherer, who climbed into a tree to see Jesus and climbed down to receive the Master as his self-invited guest, heard the Master's declaration, "This day is salvation come to this house," he stood and said, "If I have taken anything from any man by false accusation, I restore him fourfold." That was the portion that a convicted thief was by Jewish law under obligation to restore, so that Zacchaeus was saying, in effect, "If I have grafted in my office (as its very nature made it easy and tempting to do) I've been a thief."

That plain sort of honesty with himself was the sure evidence of the reality of Zacchaeus' conversion. In a somewhat different way the Prodigal Son's salvation began when he "came to himself," and was honest with himself.

So, honesty, like charity, begins at home; but like charity it does not stay there. It reaches out into every sphere and relationship of life. And it is the only basis upon which life can be sound and wholesome, and even safe. Only today I have been reading a list of the names and offenses of firms prosecuted under the food and drug law. Appallingly, it contains the names of some of the best known firms in the country, emphasizing how much the very food that we eat and the drugs we use depend upon the simple integrity of those who produce them. Honesty is our deepest need.

150 MEMBERS WILL BE ADDED BY LEGION

The L. B. Faulk Post No. 13 of the American Legion will indust a class of 150 or more into membership Monday at 8 p. m. in the memorial home in Forsythe park.

This will make the membership of the post 1,000 or more and it will rank with the larger posts of the state.

However several cities have posts that have larger membership.

A big party is to be held at this Monday initiation as it marks the largest number ever admitted at a single time.

DOWN SOUTH

By Thurman Sensing
Director of Research, Southern States Industrial Council

The South And Great Britain

Comparison of the South and Great Britain is striking—in its contrast.

Some eighty years ago the South lost a war, the only part of this nation ever to know military defeat. With a great part of two generations of its manpower killed, with most all of its capital wiped out, and with much of its land ravaged and its property destroyed, the South faced stark poverty and dark days ahead. However, without sacrificing any of its ideals or principles, the South set about winning the peace, and this it has been steadily accomplishing during all of the years since.

Two years ago, Great Britain participated in the winning of a war. But in winning the war, Great Britain did not differ much from the South that lost a war. Great Britain's land and property had also been ravaged and destroyed, her capital used up, her manpower killed. The only difference was that Great Britain immediately set about losing the peace.

The people of Great Britain seemed to get the idea that the war was fought to gain some new type of government and new philosophy of living rather than a war fought to preserve the rights of free men—the rights for which their fathers had been struggling for a thousand years. They accordingly sacrificed these ideals and embarked on an era (at least we can hope it is an era and not permanent) of state socialism, renouncing all the courage and independence symbolized by Churchill and the Royal Air Force during Britain's dark days and pinning their hope for a better life on the nationalization of industry and the subjugation of individual freedom.

During the war, Great Britain had lend-lease pouring materials and men and aid of all sorts into her efforts to win the war. After the war, Great Britain had United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation to aid her in binding her wounds. To cap it all, the United States loaned Great Britain three and one-half billion dollars to guarantee her economic stability and recovery—so it was stated.

The South had no lend-lease during her war. The South had no United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation to help bind her wounds. The South had no "rich uncle" to come forward with a loan to guarantee her economic recovery. The South had to start from scratch, literally and figuratively. The South worked hard. There was no question of a forty hour week or an eight hour day. There was no socialist government to beg the miners to work thirty minutes more each day, or beg the unions to accept measures that would bring about the increased production so desperately needed. The people of the South worked out their own salvation, and they looked to no government to take care of them while they did it. The South worked from daybreak to sundown, and the South came back.

The people of Great Britain naturally looked forward to the return of peace with great anticipation, and they planned for a higher standard of living than they had ever known—but the people of Great Britain were not willing to do the work necessary to bring this about. Instead of working longer hours to bring about recovery, they demanded shorter hours. Instead of producing more at competitive wages, they produced less at guaranteed wages. Instead of working out their own recovery, they left all the planning in the hands of paternalistic government—a system that never has and never will produce a higher standard of living.

As a result, the economy of Great Britain has steadily gotten worse. The American loan, supposed to carry her through 1950, will have been dissipated by October of this year. Now, two years after the war's end, Great Britain is facing economic collapse and privations more severe than during the war years. It is true that the leaders in Great Britain's labor government are now telling the people not to depend on outside aid, that recovery must come from within. This is noble sentiment. This is exactly what happened in the South. But these leaders are not telling the people of Great Britain that this recovery is impossible under the system of state socialism which they have now adopted. Until they realize this, there can be no hope for Great Britain.

DEATH CUTS DOWN DOWNSVILLE PAIR

Harvey Pardue Fatally Injured In Accident; Ben Pardue Heart Victim

DOWNSVILLE, Aug. 16.—(Special)—Sudden death cut through a Downsville family yesterday snapping the lives of two of its members within a matter of hours.

Harvey Pardue, 50, was fatally injured in a traffic accident in Shreveport Friday morning, and his cousin, Ben Pardue, 55, succumbed to a heart attack that night.

Funeral services for the accident victim were held at the Mt. Nebo Church, near Downsville, at 3:30 p. m. today. Interment, under the direction of the Kilpatrick Funeral of Farmerville, took place in the church cemetery.

Dr. W. P. Butler, coroner of Caddo parish, stated that death was caused by a crushed left lung and other body injuries. John C. Briggs, 27, of Marshall, Texas, driver of a truck that figured in the crash with Pardue's automobile, was released for further questioning and the investigation will be continued on Monday or Tuesday in Shreveport.

The accident occurred when Briggs, driving a truck with a long platform bed, started a left turn from St. Vincent avenue into 63rd street. Pardue, driving his car in the opposite direction, struck the left front of the truck, striking with such a force that it moved the truck over five feet.

Briggs, in a statement to Dr. Butler, said that he was driving 10 miles per hour or less going south on St. Vincent. He signalled to stop at the intersection and after stopping gave a signal for a left turn. The car, going about 40 miles an hour, struck while it was standing still, Briggs stated.

Briggs assisted in pulling Pardue from the wreckage, laying him against a telephone pole to await an ambulance. Pardue was still conscious at the time and asked what had happened, according to Briggs.

An ambulance conveyed the injured man to a Shreveport hospital where he died 40 minutes later.

Harvey Pardue is survived by his wife, and one brother, Howard Pardue of Shreveport.

Services for Ben Pardue will be at 10:30 a. m. Sunday at the Rugg Bluff Church. The Mormon Elders will be in charge of the services. Interment will follow in the Rugg Bluff Cemetery under the direction of the Kilpatrick Funeral of Farmerville.

Ben Pardue is survived by four brothers; F. R. Pardue, Farmerville; L. W., W. L. and J. S. Pardue, all of Downsville, and two sisters, Mrs. Oscar Ward, Farmerville and Mrs. W. H. Ward, Farmerville.

BRITISH PROPOSAL OPPOSED BY U. S.

America Not To Permit Revamping Of World Monetary Fund To Aid England

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Government officials said today the United States has decided to oppose an attempt by Britain to revamp the 43-nation world monetary fund to permit her to tap this vast treasury.

These officials, who asked not to be quoted by name, talked to a reporter on the eve of conferences which will determine whether the United States will help Britain weather her dollar crisis by easing terms of the $3,750,000,000 British loan agreement.

The reported American decision, in effect, would close the door to an important source of dollar help for the British.

The officials said they believe it unlikely that the other 41 member governments in the $8,800,000,000 fund would approve the British request in the face of the opposing American stand.

Hugh Dalton, British chancellor of the exchequer, recently announced the labor government's intention of seeking modification of the fund's charter to make Britain eligible for financial assistance.

The fund's articles of agreement now permit short-term "loans" to member countries temporarily lacking funds required for trading purposes.

Members can draw up to 25 per cent of their subscriptions annually. This means that Britain, which has contributed $1,300,000,000 thus could get up to $325,000,000 annually if the fund's board of directors approves.

American government officials opposed to Dalton's suggestion said they believe any move by the fund to permit long term loans—which apparently is what Britain wants—will make it impossible for this international agency to carry out the purpose for which it was established, to stabilize world currency.

There were signs that this American attitude may indicate an equally adverse reaction to Britain's request for two changes in the $3,750,000,000 loan agreement.

Top-ranking American government officials headed by Secretary of the Treasury Snyder will sit down Monday with a visiting delegation from Britain headed by Sir Wilfred Eday to hear why the British feel the provision of this agreement should be eased.

Snyder is known to share the desire of other American officials to get full information from the British on where the loan funds have gone before deciding what to do about changes.

Government officials said this attitude does not mean the United States is not sympathetic toward Britain in her current financial predicament. A "realistic approach" is necessary in those discussions, they said, because Congress laid down the obligations Britain must meet when it passed the loan agreement.

Only $850,000,000 of the American credit remains. The British drew another installment of $150,000,000 this week, making it almost certain that the entire loan will be gone by October 1 if the current spending rate continues.

The two clauses the British-American negotiators will examine have to do with non-discrimination and convertibility. Dalton called both of these "disagreeable features" which British officials had to agree to when the loan was negotiated.

The convertibility provision makes it mandatory for Britain to exchange dollars for pounds whenever a country demands them as the result of current trading deals.

The non-discrimination clause prevents Britain from reducing purchases in the U. S. and shifting them to her colonies and dominions in order to save her scarce supply of dollars.

New York Day By Day

By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL
Title Reg. U. S. Patent Office

NEW YORK—Zucchini is a delicious vegetable, now in the New York markets, apparently little known in other American cities. I have eaten it in England under the name of vegetable marrow, and I believe it is much appreciated there. The Italian name is used here, and it is at its best in good Italian restaurants. New Yorkers have acquired a taste for it.

I was introduced to zucchini by Cherio, an old friend who runs a small restaurant in the East Fifties. Zucchini is a small summer squash, sweet, easily digested, tasty when properly cooked. I am told that there are many ways of preparing it, but this job sounds all right to me. You slice your zucchini crosswise in thin slices, not bothering to peel it if it is tender. Then you heat up some olive oil (other oil or grease if you prefer) in a pot. Just enough oil to fry a clove of garlic. You fry the garlic a short time, take it out, and toss it in your sliced zucchini. Then add a cupful of red wine and a small onion, halved. Let it simmer slowly on a slow flame until it's done. Delicious.

There may be other handsome ways of cooking zucchini.

The zucchini has something in common with the avocado in flavor, and I consider the avocado the most delicious thing grown in America. As a matter of fact, my dictionary says both the zucchini and the avocado are sometimes called vegetable marrow in this country.

Two of the best customers of the telephone company are Howard Hughes and Alice Roosevelt Longworth. Hughes, always engaged in some sort of spectacular business venture, thinks nothing of holding a line from California to New York all afternoon, from lunch through dinner, discussing details of a new scheme with associates and outside experts in New York.

Mrs. Longworth loves to talk on the phone. In her homes in Washington and Cincinnati she has both listed and unlisted phones, and thinks nothing of making transcontinental calls for mere conversation.

New York gets its water supply from nine counties of New York state, Nassau, Westchester, Putnam, Ulster, Greene, Delaware, Schoharie, Sullivan and Orange. Under state law, any city or water district within these counties has a right to tap the New York supply lines or reservoirs for its water, at a price, of course. Yonkers, for instance, pumps a supply of the worst water on earth from the Sawmill river, but when it runs short or its drinking water smells too bad, it buys pure water from the New York supply system. New York water is so good that it is surprising that any customers remain for whiskey.

Watch the Americans go overboard for the royal wedding. The amount of newsprint and slick paper given to the event in this country, and the customer response, will be a fair index of the rise or decline of royal influence in America. I think the country, particularly the female sector, is just as romantically royal as it was in the days of Queen Victoria.

When I was a little boy, learning my newspapering out of the New York World, Anna Gould (or am I wrong?) was married to Count Boni de Castellaine of France, in New York. The World devoted virtually one whole issue to the courtly show, and most American newspapers followed suit.

Most of us were reared in the old revolutionary tradition of sniffing and snooting at royalty. We all see through the magic shadow-show. We know they're selling us the Empire, but not delivering the deed, and that these "royal romances" are all part of the game. But we love it.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The government reported today that new home construction during July bettered 20-year records, while realtors declared fears that dropping of federal building controls would curtail home building "are not materializing."

"Instead," said the National Association of Real Estate Boards, in a statement, "the rate of home production is going up."

The association reported that "the general tendency of sales volume and prices (during July) was to hold steady at a high level. It said prices were firm in Cincinnati, Los Angeles, Denver, Phoenix and Tulsa.

It said prices and sales were both up in Detroit, whereas the trend was to hold to June levels in Dallas, Savannah, Piitsburgh and Kansas City.

"The Seattle market, which may be oversupplied with new houses within a year, reflects buyer resistance," the association reported.

The federal Bureau of Labor Statistics reported private contractors started 80,000 new homes in July, an increase of 28,000 over June and 17,400 over July, 1946.

Mercy and truth are met together; righteousness and peace have kissed each other.—Psalms 85:10.

You may assuredly find perfect peace, if you are resolved to do that which your Lord has plainly required—and content that He should indeed require no more of you—than to do justice, to love mercy, and to walk humbly with Him.—John Ruskin.

Rent Regulations

There seems to be some confusion concerning provisions of the new federal rent law, confusion which could prove costly both to landlords and tenants alike. The landlords, of course, are more closely regulated, just as were merchants and others handling rationed commodities during the life of OPA.

According to the local office there are many infractions of the new act occurring weekly, many through misunderstanding of the law but other violations apparently being direct evasion of the federal statutes.

The local office has pointed out that a landlord may not increase rents unless voluntarily agreed upon by the tenant. Furthermore, under the new act a lease must be signed when rents are increased, and these leases must be filed with the rental office. Evidence that the law is not being fully complied with is the fact that only 112 leases have been submitted to the local office although 15,954 rental registrations are on file. And of these 112 lease agreements, 100 were presented by two landlords.

The tenant may sue for treble damages and costs in cases where he has been overcharged or for other violations of the act, and the government can bring injunction suits to keep rents within the ceilings established. Thus it behooves everyone concerned to familiarize himself with the law because even an unintentional violation of the regulations could result in litigation which would prove costly.

There have been a number of instances of unreasonably high rent charges here, just as there are at present a number of instances of property being rented below its normal value. Neither condition should exist; a tenant should not be forced to pay inflationary rental charges, and a landlord should be permitted a fair return on his property. That is the purpose of the housing regulations.

Thorough understanding of the new act and a fair-minded approach to the problem will result in a better relationship between landlord and tenant, to the eventual satisfaction of all concerned.

STILL STALLED

The UN atomic energy commission has abandoned all hope of progress toward agreement in 1947. And, as things now stand, there is no prospect of agreement on atomic energy control until another calendar year arrives. The Soviet delegation remains adamant, and nothing in the way of discussion or suggested compromise by the commission's majority will budge it.

Only the other day Andrei Gromyko gave a restatement of the Soviet position in answer to an article by Frederick H. Osborn, deputy American representative on the commission. The explanation was full of weasel words, but it was evident that Mr. Gromyko still thinks everybody is out of step except Russia.

The amazing thing about this article was that, after all the thousands of words that must have been spoken in the commission meetings, Mr. Gromyko's thoughts seem to be precisely where they always were.

He calls the Soviet proposal "the only correct approach" to the problem's solution, although all the nations on the commission except Russia's shadow, Poland, take the opposite view.

He still insists that the majority-adopted United States plan would give this country "a position of monopoly in the field of atomic energy," although anyone who can maintain an open mind while reading must see that it wouldn't.

He still insists that any atomic energy control system must operate within the security council, complete with veto. He takes the position that the UN charter is incapable of amendment, and that elimination of the veto would "undermine the foundation on which the entire edifice of the United Nations rests."

Yet Mr. Gromyko must surely know why the American control plan eliminates the veto. He says again that unanimity of the five permanent security council members must be operative in "all questions of substance having relation to the maintenance of that peace."

All this is old stuff. That very fact is what makes the situation so discouraging. Perhaps Mr. Gromyko, as a dutiful Communist, does not dare or wish to deviate an inch from the line of conduct set for him.

This leads the United States, as the strongest power opposite Russia, to adopt a line of action which it might not prefer under happier circumstances. Surely the American people want no atomic armament race or any monopoly if an adequate system of control can be set up. However, neither they nor any other realistic nation would want to trust themselves to the Russian system, which leaves the matter of atomic energy uses and controls to the good faith of individual nations.

It is not necessary to go over the abundant examples to suggest that good faith is not the most notable feature of Russian foreign policy. Therefore it becomes doubly necessary for the American government to try to maintain its supremacy in the atomic field with all possible vigor, and to guard with extra care whatever "secrets" it may still possess.

Sometimes it seems as if architects, like milliners, don't give a darn what it looks like as long as it's different.

It would be interesting to see a termite's face when he chews his way up to a modern piece of furniture and discovers it's glass.

Russian farmers have been ordered to quit taking two hours for lunch. When are they to have time to count the joys of communism?

IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 16.—The real highlight of actress Ruth Terry's current trip to Canada will be an altar-trek with John Gilmore, wealthy Canadian lumberman . . . I hear that Frank Sinatra's teen-age fans, locally at least, are flooding his mail with indignant protests against the new rule banning kids under 18 from his broadcasts . . . Now it's Groucho Marx who's trying his hand at a political column, a la Will Rogers; if it clicks, a Chicago syndicate will take over. . . . Looks like M-G-M bosses, long anxious to find a family interest series to replace the discontinued Andy Hardy pictures, have found the answer in "Cynthia," the current Elizabeth Taylor hit.

Hollywood rumor insists that General "Hap" Arnold, retired chief of the army air forces, may accept a berth as aviation and transportation head for a major studio . . . Joe E. Brown's tireless work in entertaining American troops during the war will bring him still another distinction next week, when he's scheduled for a medal of honor from the American Legion . . . Lynn Bari may ask LA courts to serve a restraining order on her estranged spouse, Sid Luft; she says his persistent effort to effect a reconciliation are making her so nervous that both her work and health are being damaged . . . Ha! When Henry Fonda complained that Joan Crawford was "too heavy," after carrying her in eight successive takes for a "Daisy Kenyon" scene, Joan calmly picked HIM up and carried him the same distance! . . . Now that the divorce trial is over, Hedy Lamarr has dismissed her psychoanalyst and is getting mental relief by buying a new $10,000 fall wardrobe.

PREVIEW NIGHTS: Pic of a lackluster week: Universal-International's "Singapore" (Fred MacMurray-Ava Gardner-Roland Culver.) Top-notch action melodrama, distinguished by fine performances, brilliant direction and a piquant oriental flavoring . . . FAIR: Paramount's "Wild Harvest" (Alan Ladd-Dorothy Lamour-Robert Preston). A story about wheat—with a plot so far-fetched that it will provoke much chaff . . . Columbia's "The Son of Rusty" (Ted Donaldson-Stephen Dunne). A dog story that will win cheers from juvenile audiences. . . . LOW BRIDGE: Monogram's "Louisiana" (Governor Jimmie Davis-Margaret Lindsay). Short on entertainment; long on politcial plugs for Governor Davis . . . Film Classics' "The Patient Vanishes" (James Mason-Mary Clare). A creaking reissue of an ancient British-made "whodunit" revived only to capitalize on Mason's new popularity . . . BEST PERFORMANCE: Fred MacMurray in "Singapore."

There's no dodging the fact that the shocking new 75 per cent tax levied by Great Britain on all American pictures exhibited there is one of the worst blows dealt to Hollywood in many a year—a particularly painful blow because the entire American movie industry has gone all out in the past year to help the British through a bad financial crisis. But I'm wondering if the Hollywood movie-makers aren't screaming a bit louder than their situation actually warrants. According to statistics released by MPA, only 19 out of 123 pictures recently released have paid back their negative cost from American receipts; the other 104 would have lost money without a foreign market. I don't question those figures—but I do question the inflated production costs which make such facts possible. If the new British tax forces Hollywood to cut its cost—and it can easily do so—I think that the entire American industry may conceivably find itself in a sounder position. One that will let it make American pictures, for American audiences, without deferring to any foreign country.

Orson Welles statement to a columnist that he is not only a great admirer of bullfighters, but that he, himself, had actually dispatched some 20 bulls, promptly brought him a challenge from character actor Fortunio Bonanova. Bonanova has invited Hollywood's No. 1 genius to do his stuff in the bull ring at Tijuana, Mexico—all gate receipts to go to a worthy charity. If the treat event comes off—and I'll give you 10 to 1 odds that it never will—Hollywood will move en masse that day to Tijuana. I'm going, for sure—and I think I'll take with me one of those electric meters that measures audience reaction. I want to see which contestant gets the loudest cheers—Orson or the bull.

Somehow, I found the announcement that a movie is being planned of the life of "Prince" Mike Romanoff a bit distasteful. Before becoming a successful Hollywood restaurateur, the "Prince" was a notorious phony whose impersonations and misrepresentations landed him in jail. No doubt he's colorful—but can't the studios find stories more inspiring than his to offer young America?

OUR CHILDREN

Force is an emergency measure, a last resort in time of stress. It is rarely needed in the rearing of children. Frequent use of it is a mistake because it never opens communication between parents and children, teachers and pupils. It shuts off communication and, therefore, does not persuade the child to want to do the right thing.

We train, discipline and teach in order to help a child live successfully and happily with other people. If our treatment of him is the sort that makes it impossible for him to live happily with us, we certainly are not preparing him to live happily with strangers. We are the people he knows best, and on the experiences he has with us he makes his judgments of other people and their ways.

Force will not teach a child good manners. It will not teach him sound ethics. It will only teach him that when he is in opposition to one stronger than he, it is he who gets the worst of the argument. A child makes a mistake, maybe a purposeful mistake, and his mother says: "Tell him you are sorry." The child refuses to say he is sorry, and his parents beats him until he mutters, "Sorry." What good did that do?

Manners are adult gestures that we hope rise out of good-will and kindness, thoughtfulness for others' feelings. Children know little of that, being self-bound for the early years of their growth. The best we can do is to say, "O, you're sorry you hurt the little boy. You are sorry you broke the dolly," and let it go at that.

If the child promptly says "I'm sorry," that is fine but if he doesn't, let it pass. Keep putting the right words into his ears, the right gestures into his mind, and in time he will get the words. Later, he will have acquired the feeling. Force will not teach him gentle ways, kindly feeling, friendliness to all kinds of folks.

Some mothers and fathers think that it is their duty to make a child say what they tell them to do, without delay. If the child refuses, balks at the order, they believe that they must beat him into submission because he is stubborn. They are wrong and the mistake they make is serious in its effects on the child.

Obedience must be won on the basis of intelligent cooperation. It cannot be forced. Once a child reaches the age of reflection memory, force is worse than useless; it becomes an affront not to be forgiven.

Train the baby to trust his parents, to know—by experiences with them—that they love him, that what they do is for his health and pleasure and ends in his comfort and happiness. When he is old enough to understand and feel what goes on about him, he seldom will have to be asked more than once to do what he should. Obedience training begins when the baby comes.

The obedient child is the child who makes fewer mistakes. That greatly desired quality, obedience, is discussed by Angelo Patri in his booklet No. 301, entitled, "Obedience," and is obtainable by sending 10 cents (coin preferred) and a 3-cent stamp to him, c/o News-Star—World, P. SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Sunday School Lesson for Aug. 24 Scripture: Proverbs 3:3; 11:1, 3; 12:17-22; 14:5; 23:10-11

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

There are certain things, according to the Book of Proverbs, that are "abomination to the Lord." Among these are "a false balance" (11:1), and "lying lips" (12:22).

Whatever the Lord abominates is bad for man. The dishonest or lying person sins against his fellowman, as well as against his Maker. Society depends for its very existence, as well as for its welfare and security, upon honesty in daily life and its relationships. The fact that so many people are honest enables society to go on, and it is because so many people are dishonest that we have so many menacing problems and so little world security.

Honesty begins with the individual in more ways than one. It has its rise and beginning in honesty with one's self. Many people are not honest with themselves. They live in a world of illusion, or of self-delusion. The dishonest man would despise himself if he faced up honestly to what he actually is. He avoids that by the alibi that "other people do it," "you can't do business and be honest," and similar by-words of the weak.

A man has to settle with his own mind and will what sort of man he is going to be—a man of integrity, or a cheater and grafter. According to that decision he will be an asset to society, or a parasite, living upon and robbing others, no matter by what polite legal fiction his action may be covered.

When Zacchaeus, the Jewish tax-gatherer, who climbed into a tree to see Jesus and climbed down to receive the Master as his self-invited guest, heard the Master's declaration, "This day is salvation come to this house," he stood and said, "If I have taken anything from any man by false accusation, I restore him fourfold." That was the portion that a convicted thief was by Jewish law under obligation to restore, so that Zacchaeus was saying, in effect, "If I have grafted in my office (as its very nature made it easy and tempting to do) I've been a thief."

That plain sort of honesty with himself was the sure evidence of the reality of Zacchaeus' conversion. In a somewhat different way the Prodigal Son's salvation began when he "came to himself," and was honest with himself.

So, honesty, like charity, begins at home; but like charity it does not stay there. It reaches out into every sphere and relationship of life. And it is the only basis upon which life can be sound and wholesome, and even safe. Only today I have been reading a list of the names and offenses of firms prosecuted under the food and drug law. Appallingly, it contains the names of some of the best known firms in the country, emphasizing how much the very food that we eat and the drugs we use depend upon the simple integrity of those who produce them. Honesty is our deepest need.

150 MEMBERS WILL BE ADDED BY LEGION

The L. B. Faulk Post No. 13 of the American Legion will indust a class of 150 or more into membership Monday at 8 p. m. in the memorial home in Forsythe park.

This will make the membership of the post 1,000 or more and it will rank with the larger posts of the state.

However several cities have posts that have larger membership.

A big party is to be held at this Monday initiation as it marks the largest number ever admitted at a single time.

DOWN SOUTH

By Thurman Sensing
Director of Research, Southern States Industrial Council

The South And Great Britain

Comparison of the South and Great Britain is striking—in its contrast.

Some eighty years ago the South lost a war, the only part of this nation ever to know military defeat. With a great part of two generations of its manpower killed, with most all of its capital wiped out, and with much of its land ravaged and its property destroyed, the South faced stark poverty and dark days ahead. However, without sacrificing any of its ideals or principles, the South set about winning the peace, and this it has been steadily accomplishing during all of the years since.

Two years ago, Great Britain participated in the winning of a war. But in winning the war, Great Britain did not differ much from the South that lost a war. Great Britain's land and property had also been ravaged and destroyed, her capital used up, her manpower killed. The only difference was that Great Britain immediately set about losing the peace.

The people of Great Britain seemed to get the idea that the war was fought to gain some new type of government and new philosophy of living rather than a war fought to preserve the rights of free men—the rights for which their fathers had been struggling for a thousand years. They accordingly sacrificed these ideals and embarked on an era (at least we can hope it is an era and not permanent) of state socialism, renouncing all the courage and independence symbolized by Churchill and the Royal Air Force during Britain's dark days and pinning their hope for a better life on the nationalization of industry and the subjugation of individual freedom.

During the war, Great Britain had lend-lease pouring materials and men and aid of all sorts into her efforts to win the war. After the war, Great Britain had United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation to aid her in binding her wounds. To cap it all, the United States loaned Great Britain three and one-half billion dollars to guarantee her economic stability and recovery—so it was stated.

The South had no lend-lease during her war. The South had no United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation to help bind her wounds. The South had no "rich uncle" to come forward with a loan to guarantee her economic recovery. The South had to start from scratch, literally and figuratively. The South worked hard. There was no question of a forty hour week or an eight hour day. There was no socialist government to beg the miners to work thirty minutes more each day, or beg the unions to accept measures that would bring about the increased production so desperately needed. The people of the South worked out their own salvation, and they looked to no government to take care of them while they did it. The South worked from daybreak to sundown, and the South came back.

The people of Great Britain naturally looked forward to the return of peace with great anticipation, and they planned for a higher standard of living than they had ever known—but the people of Great Britain were not willing to do the work necessary to bring this about. Instead of working longer hours to bring about recovery, they demanded shorter hours. Instead of producing more at competitive wages, they produced less at guaranteed wages. Instead of working out their own recovery, they left all the planning in the hands of paternalistic government—a system that never has and never will produce a higher standard of living.

As a result, the economy of Great Britain has steadily gotten worse. The American loan, supposed to carry her through 1950, will have been dissipated by October of this year. Now, two years after the war's end, Great Britain is facing economic collapse and privations more severe than during the war years. It is true that the leaders in Great Britain's labor government are now telling the people not to depend on outside aid, that recovery must come from within. This is noble sentiment. This is exactly what happened in the South. But these leaders are not telling the people of Great Britain that this recovery is impossible under the system of state socialism which they have now adopted. Until they realize this, there can be no hope for Great Britain.

DEATH CUTS DOWN DOWNSVILLE PAIR

Harvey Pardue Fatally Injured In Accident; Ben Pardue Heart Victim

DOWNSVILLE, Aug. 16.—(Special)—Sudden death cut through a Downsville family yesterday snapping the lives of two of its members within a matter of hours.

Harvey Pardue, 50, was fatally injured in a traffic accident in Shreveport Friday morning, and his cousin, Ben Pardue, 55, succumbed to a heart attack that night.

Funeral services for the accident victim were held at the Mt. Nebo Church, near Downsville, at 3:30 p. m. today. Interment, under the direction of the Kilpatrick Funeral of Farmerville, took place in the church cemetery.

Dr. W. P. Butler, coroner of Caddo parish, stated that death was caused by a crushed left lung and other body injuries. John C. Briggs, 27, of Marshall, Texas, driver of a truck that figured in the crash with Pardue's automobile, was released for further questioning and the investigation will be continued on Monday or Tuesday in Shreveport.

The accident occurred when Briggs, driving a truck with a long platform bed, started a left turn from St. Vincent avenue into 63rd street. Pardue, driving his car in the opposite direction, struck the left front of the truck, striking with such a force that it moved the truck over five feet.

Briggs, in a statement to Dr. Butler, said that he was driving 10 miles per hour or less going south on St. Vincent. He signalled to stop at the intersection and after stopping gave a signal for a left turn. The car, going about 40 miles an hour, struck while it was standing still, Briggs stated.

Briggs assisted in pulling Pardue from the wreckage, laying him against a telephone pole to await an ambulance. Pardue was still conscious at the time and asked what had happened, according to Briggs.

An ambulance conveyed the injured man to a Shreveport hospital where he died 40 minutes later.

Harvey Pardue is survived by his wife, and one brother, Howard Pardue of Shreveport.

Services for Ben Pardue will be at 10:30 a. m. Sunday at the Rugg Bluff Church. The Mormon Elders will be in charge of the services. Interment will follow in the Rugg Bluff Cemetery under the direction of the Kilpatrick Funeral of Farmerville.

Ben Pardue is survived by four brothers; F. R. Pardue, Farmerville; L. W., W. L. and J. S. Pardue, all of Downsville, and two sisters, Mrs. Oscar Ward, Farmerville and Mrs. W. H. Ward, Farmerville.

BRITISH PROPOSAL OPPOSED BY U. S.

America Not To Permit Revamping Of World Monetary Fund To Aid England

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Government officials said today the United States has decided to oppose an attempt by Britain to revamp the 43-nation world monetary fund to permit her to tap this vast treasury.

These officials, who asked not to be quoted by name, talked to a reporter on the eve of conferences which will determine whether the United States will help Britain weather her dollar crisis by easing terms of the $3,750,000,000 British loan agreement.

The reported American decision, in effect, would close the door to an important source of dollar help for the British.

The officials said they believe it unlikely that the other 41 member governments in the $8,800,000,000 fund would approve the British request in the face of the opposing American stand.

Hugh Dalton, British chancellor of the exchequer, recently announced the labor government's intention of seeking modification of the fund's charter to make Britain eligible for financial assistance.

The fund's articles of agreement now permit short-term "loans" to member countries temporarily lacking funds required for trading purposes.

Members can draw up to 25 per cent of their subscriptions annually. This means that Britain, which has contributed $1,300,000,000 thus could get up to $325,000,000 annually if the fund's board of directors approves.

American government officials opposed to Dalton's suggestion said they believe any move by the fund to permit long term loans—which apparently is what Britain wants—will make it impossible for this international agency to carry out the purpose for which it was established, to stabilize world currency.

There were signs that this American attitude may indicate an equally adverse reaction to Britain's request for two changes in the $3,750,000,000 loan agreement.

Top-ranking American government officials headed by Secretary of the Treasury Snyder will sit down Monday with a visiting delegation from Britain headed by Sir Wilfred Eday to hear why the British feel the provision of this agreement should be eased.

Snyder is known to share the desire of other American officials to get full information from the British on where the loan funds have gone before deciding what to do about changes.

Government officials said this attitude does not mean the United States is not sympathetic toward Britain in her current financial predicament. A "realistic approach" is necessary in those discussions, they said, because Congress laid down the obligations Britain must meet when it passed the loan agreement.

Only $850,000,000 of the American credit remains. The British drew another installment of $150,000,000 this week, making it almost certain that the entire loan will be gone by October 1 if the current spending rate continues.

The two clauses the British-American negotiators will examine have to do with non-discrimination and convertibility. Dalton called both of these "disagreeable features" which British officials had to agree to when the loan was negotiated.

The convertibility provision makes it mandatory for Britain to exchange dollars for pounds whenever a country demands them as the result of current trading deals.

The non-discrimination clause prevents Britain from reducing purchases in the U. S. and shifting them to her colonies and dominions in order to save her scarce supply of dollars.

New York Day By Day

Title Reg. U. S. Patent Office

NEW YORK—Zucchini is a delicious vegetable, now in the New York markets, apparently little known in other American cities. I have eaten it in England under the name of vegetable marrow, and I believe it is much appreciated there. The Italian name is used here, and it is at its best in good Italian restaurants. New Yorkers have acquired a taste for it.

I was introduced to zucchini by Cherio, an old friend who runs a small restaurant in the East Fifties. Zucchini is a small summer squash, sweet, easily digested, tasty when properly cooked. I am told that there are many ways of preparing it, but this job sounds all right to me. You slice your zucchini crosswise in thin slices, not bothering to peel it if it is tender. Then you heat up some olive oil (other oil or grease if you prefer) in a pot. Just enough oil to fry a clove of garlic. You fry the garlic a short time, take it out, and toss it in your sliced zucchini. Then add a cupful of red wine and a small onion, halved. Let it simmer slowly on a slow flame until it's done. Delicious.

There may be other handsome ways of cooking zucchini.

The zucchini has something in common with the avocado in flavor, and I consider the avocado the most delicious thing grown in America. As a matter of fact, my dictionary says both the zucchini and the avocado are sometimes called vegetable marrow in this country.

Two of the best customers of the telephone company are Howard Hughes and Alice Roosevelt Longworth. Hughes, always engaged in some sort of spectacular business venture, thinks nothing of holding a line from California to New York all afternoon, from lunch through dinner, discussing details of a new scheme with associates and outside experts in New York.

Mrs. Longworth loves to talk on the phone. In her homes in Washington and Cincinnati she has both listed and unlisted phones, and thinks nothing of making transcontinental calls for mere conversation.

New York gets its water supply from nine countries of New York state, Nassau, Westchester, Putnam, Ulster, Greene, Delaware, Schoharie, Sullivan and Orange. Under state law, any city or water district within these counties has a right to tap the New York supply lines or reservoirs for its water, at a price, of course. Yonkers, for instance, pumps a supply of the worst water on earth from the Sawmill river, but when it runs short or its drinking water smells too bad, it buys pure water from the New York supply system. New York water is so good that it is surprising that any customers remain for whiskey.

Watch the Americans go overboard for the royal wedding. The amount of newsprint and slick paper given to the event in this country, and the customer response, will be a fair index of the rise or decline of royal influence in America. I think the country, particularly the female sector, is just as romantically royal as it was in the days of Queen Victoria.

When I was a little boy, learning my newspapering out of the New York World, Anna Gould (or am I wrong?) was married to Count Boni de Castellaine of France, in New York. The World devoted virtually one whole issue to the courtly show, and most American newspapers followed suit.

Most of us were reared in the old revolutionary tradition of sniffing and snooting at royalty. We all see through the magic shadow-show. We know they're selling us the Empire, but not delivering the deed, and that these "royal romances" are all part of the game. But we love it.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The government reported today that new home construction during July bettered 20-year records, while realtors declared fears that dropping of federal building controls would curtail home building "are not materializing."

"Instead," said the National Association of Real Estate Boards, in a statement, "the rate of home production is going up."

The association reported that "the general tendency of sales volume and prices (during July) was to hold steady at a high level. It said prices were firm in Cincinnati, Los Angeles, Denver, Phoenix and Tulsa.

It said prices and sales were both up in Detroit, whereas the trend was to hold to June levels in Dallas, Savannah, Pittsburgh and Kansas City.

"The Seattle market, which may be oversupplied with new houses within a year, reflects buyer resistance," the association reported.

The federal Bureau of Labor Statistics reported private contractors started 80,000 new homes in July, an increase of 28,000 over June and 17,400 over July, 1946.

BIBLE THOUGHTS

Mercy and truth are met together; righteousness and peace have kissed each other.—Psalms 85:10.

You may assuredly find perfect peace, if you are resolved to do that which your Lord has plainly required—and content that He should indeed require no more of you—than to do justice, to love mercy, and to walk humbly with Him.—John Ruskin.

RAYVILLE

for the purpose of extirpating the slots.

When the mayor's three special officers attempted to carry out their orders, the sheriff said, the marshal claimed their action was illegal and forced them off the premises.

Later in the afternoon Smith and the mayor met in front of the court house and became embroiled in a heated altercation, after which Mayor Mulhearn filed the affidavit with a justice of the peace.

Following his release on bond, Smith and the mayor encountered each other again in the main part of town and again clashed verbally.

Then, on an invitation from the mayor, the marshal laid aside his gun and the two men started swinging.

According to witnesses, the 50-year-old officer was "taking a beating" from the mayor when he picked up his gun and slugged his smaller adversary on the head.

They were separated by the assistant town marshal, and both walked away—the mayor returning to his office.

The clash between the two officials was the culmination of a long-standing disagreement over the slot machine issue. Up to several months ago the slots were winked at by law enforcement officers, but in March, acting on petitions from numerous churchmen and civic leaders, Mayor Mulhearn ordered them banned.

Smith aided in their removal at that time, but within the past six weeks they have reappeared in more than a dozen cafes and have operated unmolested.

The crusade against the slots was balked temporarily in February when the Richland grand jury failed to return true bills against persons charged in 38 indictments with operating slot machines.

After the failure of the grand jury to act, Mayor Mulhearn ordered the machines kept out of Rayville.

The mayor said Smith had been instructed to remove the machines when they began reappearing, but had refused to do so.

Seeking additional aid, the mayor said, he recruited three men as special officers—two of them, who were not identified, from Monroe, and the third, W. O. Bowden, a former deputy sheriff and one of the leaders in the original battle against the slots.

The turbulent Richland parish dispute has had an additional repercussion in the threat of Delhi, where slot machines have been legalized by popular vote, to secede from Richland parish and establish a separate parish with itself as the seat of government.

The Delhi controversy has also been responsible for the rift between Mayor Wilbur H. Farmer and members of the Delhi council, resulting in several attempts to oust the mayor from office because he has carried out the election mandate to permit slots to operate in that town.

PARAGUAYAN

he had heard expressions from the other delegates.

Senator Tom Connally, Democrat, Texas, member of the United States delegation, said tonight that Marshall would make "major address next Wednesday in which he is most likely to touch on hemisphere economic issues."

Connally said the United States delegates were studying Bramuglia's speech carefully.

Bramuglia told the delegates today that the American nations, "in mobilizing our defensive energies," are preoccupied with the annulment of capitalist extremes and totalitarianism."

He called on the western hemisphere "to find the only road to social, political and economic liberation which may generate living conditions for the existence of civil dignity, social solidarity and an economy of abundance which liberates men instead of placing them under submission."

He referred to Argentine President Juan D. Peron's speech last month laying down a foreign policy midway between what he described as Communist and Capitalist extremes and declared that Peron had affirmed "brilliantly in several circumstances that man is above systems and ideologies."

Chilean Foreign Minister German Vergara Donoso spoke after Bramuglia, stressing what he said was the urgency for the "economic solidarity" of the Americas.

Vergara, who previously said he opposed the economic conference proposed by Argentina, said that "we must turn our preoccupations toward that which is the unavoidable complement" of continental security.

"This complement," he continued, "has to do with the consolidation of economic order in the life of America. Until yesterday we could speak and work for the political solidarity of the American peoples without any fundamental preoccupation over the economic side. Today this solidarity for which we are working with so much faith may become platonic and meaningless in spite of the best we can do if we do not perfect it together with economic solidarity."

Uruguayan Foreign Minister Mateo Marques Castro proposed a "plan of peace" capable of avoiding "the infiltration of ideologies which are strange to our mentality and conception of freedom."

Marques made a strong plea for the existence of governments "which legitimately represent their peoples and assure the protection and guardianship of human beings."

"It is necessary at the same time we are consolidating the peace to make rational the economic problems of production, industry, and finances to put an end to the pains and miseries of peoples," he said.

Julian Caceres, Honduran delegate, said the defense treaty would be the "most transcendent event ever occurring in the history of the American republics."

Brazilian Foreign Minister Raul Fernandes, unanimously elected president of the conference yesterday, warned the delegates that if they failed to preserve continental peace, "others less interested than we and less fitted to accomplish it will take our place."

Fernandes conferred privately for 40 minutes before today's session with Paraguayan Foreign Minister Federico Chavez. Well-informed sources said the two discussed a possible conference to mediate the Paraguayan conflict.

Panamanian Foreign Minister Ricardo Alfaro said in an interview that "Panama will never recognize any Nicaraguan government except the legitimate regime of President Leonardo Arguello, which was deposed by anti-Democratic forces last May." He said he was certain that Mexico, Venezuela, Guatemala and Bolivia would join Panama in opposing the admission to the conference of any representative of the present Nicaraguan government.

Nicaragua is the only one of the 21 American republics not participating in the conference as a full member.

American delegates reported generally favorable Latin American reaction to the new United States position on treaty voting procedure announced by Secretary Marshall last night.

Marshall said his new proposal amounted to a ban on neutrality in the hemisphere to maintain peace, except in the use of force. The plan calls for adoption of enforcement measures against aggressors by two-thirds vote of the defense pact signatories with the decision binding on all except when military forces are to be employed.

sorry picture of partisanship, of subservience to special interests, ignoring the needs of the mass of the people."

He said it "shows a cruel philosophy of political selectiivity which has carefully held up all legistative action affecting human welfare programs to provide ammunition for next year's political campaigns."

Barkley shot a parting blast in a fat and final edition of the official record for the session just ended.

The same issue carried a vastly different evaluation of congressional accomplishments by Senator Taft, Republican, Ohio, chairman of the Senate Republican policy committee, and House Majority Leader Halleck, Republican, Indiana.

Taft was statistical. He noted that Congress considered 7,289 measures and enacted 519 into law.

Halleck put in the record what he had said before, crediting his party with reversing what he termed the "ruinous New Deal trend" and demonstrating that Republicans have a "united party with a sound forward-looking program in contrast with the divided Democrat party dominated by quarrelsome, radical masters."

Barkley stacked the legislative record against recommendations sent to Congress by President Truman. He found that the session was "fraught with inter-party strife, yet at the same time with overriding tones of international crises, of world shattering events and decisions."

Barkley said the Republicans failed to do anything about "restriction of monopoly and aid to small business," a long-range housing program, permanent farm legislation, adequate medical care, universal military training, an increase in minimum hourly wages, or revision of the social security programs.

President Truman, the senator said, attempted to promote harmony between labor and management while the Republican Congress "gave him the punitive Taft-Hartley labor act which fails to meet the tests of a good labor bill."

Finally, Barkley scoffed at Republican claims that the president's budget had been sharply reduced. He said actual reduction "is probably $1,000,000,000 and will probably be less when final reports are made.

Various Republicans have claimed savings ranging up to $9,000,000,000.

Reece's statement on the voting guide called it a "piece of impudence" on the part of the CIO.

MARSHALL HEAD

ployed in the welding shop by his father-in-law.

Head had been a resident of Ouachita parish for the past 15 months. He served in the armed forces 39 months overseas, seeing service in Tunisia, Sicily, Naples, Foggia, Rome, Arno, North Apennines and Po valley.

There will be a short service held in the home of Lonnie Frost before starting to the cemetery Monday at 8:45 a. m. The interment will be in the cemetery at Sikes, La., Monday at 11 a. m. with the Kilpatrick Funeral Home of Farmerville in charge. Rev. E. L. Tanner, pastor of the Assembly of God Church of West Monroe, will officiate.

Pallbearers will be Lavelle Howard, Buddy Frost, Elmert Frost, Charles McDonald, Johnny Grant and Archie Postum.

Mr. Head is survived by his wife: Mrs. Myrtice Frost Head; two children, Mary Jane, four years, and Velda Ann, one year old; his father, W. F. Head, Sikes, La., and mother, Mrs. Bertha Head ,also of Sikes.; four sisters, Mrs. Lillie Mae Tucker; Misses Rosa and Coleen Head, all of Sikes; and Mrs. Violet Utt, of Hillsville, Va.; and three brothers, Onis and Isaac Head, both of Sikes, and Jack Head of West Monroe.

In Louisiana it is reported that more persons are employed in the growing, harvesting, and manufacture of timber and wood products than in any other industry, except agriculture.

54 BODIES

flickering hopes for those still missing after more than 24 hours of slow digging through the wreckage. Deadly mine gas slowed down rescue operations.

One coal board official called it a "miracle survival" but emphasized that hopes of finding any more alive were "very slight."

After the explosion we started to move away from the explosion and saw another group of men," John Birkett, one of the three survivors, told reporters. "We tried to get them out of the explosive area but the air was getting foul then and these men would not come back."

Fate of the men who refused to flee toward the abandoned extreme seaward end of the mine was disclosed by a national coal board official who said "the bodies of the second group have been found."

Cheers from a worried, grim crowd of several thousand gathered at the mine entrance greeted the appearance of Birkett, Daniel Hinde and James Weighman as they were carried to a hospital to be treated for shock and fatigue.

A mine official said the three men had waited for hours in a section closed off several years ago and then had wandered by a little used "back road" that skirted the blast area until they encountered rescue workers.

With the discovery of the three survivors, mine officials sent two more rescue teams to join the four squads at work. Then began a thorough exploration of the workings, which include many abandoned tunnels.

"We have stopped the removal of bodies until we completely explore the pit," a national coal board spokesman said.

No cause has yet been determined for the explosion, he added.

Ten of the 117 men at work when the explosion shattered the shaft yesterday were rescued within a few minutes because they were some distance away on the entrance side of the blast area.

The 107 others were trapped by tons of rock and coal and spreading deadly gas that slowed down the work of mask-equipped rescue squads digging their way through the debris.

The William pit was opened in 1812 and at one time stretched seven miles out under the bottom of the Firth of Solway near its entrance to the Irish sea. The old mine was closed for several years after World War One and was re-opened in 1939.

The extreme seaward ends of the mine were sealed off after an explosion killed 10 men six years ago.

The death toll was the highest in a British coal mining disaster since 265 men were killed in an explosion near Wrexham in 1934. The nation's greatest mining tragedy came in 1913 when 439 men were killed at Senghenydd, South Wales.

BANDIT

bania, where Gen. Enver Hoxha presides as premier of the Albanian government.

Police grabbed copies of the communist-dominated EAM organ, Elleftheri Ellada as soon as it appeared with the proclamation, and the public prosecutor said penal action would be taken against the staff who prepared the bulletin.

A government official said he was not surprised at the proclamation as "Markos headquarters has been directing communist bands in the mountains for months and previously has announced a provisional government would be formed.'

Some government quarters said establishment of a "communist government" would be advantageous to the Greek armed forces who have been unable to draw the guerrillas into frontal battle. A fixed point would offer an objective for Greek forces, they said.

The guerrilla broadcast, heard last night, said Gen. Vifiades in a proclamation dated Aug. 10 had declared his headquarters assumed all authority to form a "democratic government."

"Central authority will be exercised by central headquarters of the Democratic army," the proclamation declared. "General headquarters by acts shall take all necessary, legislative and executive measures. All acts of headquarters will be submitted for approval to the popular National Assembly as soon as it is called."

The Greek government has been predicting for some time that the guerrrillas would take steps to establish a "free communist" state in northern Greece.

The preamble to the proclamation said that "general headquarters is taking into consideration the fact there have been created in free areas of Greece conditions for organization of popular authority based on popular democratic principles."

It advocated the deposition of King Paul I and his dynasty. Claiming the plebescite last September in which the late King George II was returned to the throne was "invalid and faked."

Declaring that the "primary aim for the execution of all authorities * * * is the liberation of all our country from foreigners and their native agents * * *," the proclamation said:

"The popular authority is accepting and encouraging every work and assistance from foreign capital or from international organizations which will contribute to the promotion of the Greek economy and which will be based on the principle of equality. It will not recognize and will suppress every privilege or concession which has been allocated to foreigners, individuals, companies or states not compatible with the meaning of national independence or popular sovereignty. State contracts or privileges which have been allocated to foreigners and which are not compatible with popular sovereignty will not be recognized."

"The democratic army," it continued, "is the armed section of the nation which is fighting for the freedom, independence and integrity of Greece."

The government's third army communique said that more than 150 houses had been burned during the past two days in the pillaging of villages in western Thrace, near the Bulgarian border. Peasants in the area are evacuating their villages and moving to larger centers, the official announcement said:

Press dispatches said 21 houses had been burned in Perithori, 60 miles north of Salonika, when the village was looted by guerrillas and some of the residents abducted.

Another band burned 22 houses in three communities — Amohori, Ano Kline and Kato Kline—within a three-mile radius, just north of Phlorina on the Yugoslavia border.

Three persons were reported slain and 10 houses burned when Korisos, a mile southeast of Kastoria, was attacked.

Three persons were killed and 20 houses burned when a band of 300 raided the village of Oine, a few miles southwest of Kastoria.

An announcement said units of the Greek army's eighth division inflicted heavy losses when they made contact with a strong guerilla force somewhere north of Ioannina.

Unsuccessful attempts by large guerrilla detachments to capture Kerasivo and Personyianni, west of Konitsa and near the Albanian border, were officially reported.

A guerrilla band of 300 from Mount Parnassos attacked Ostia, less than 60 miles from Athens, but were driven back and are engaged by the army and gendarmerie, while their route back to Parnassos is held by government troops, an announcement said.

HOLY LAND

orange grove near the Natikvah quarter of Tel Aviv in mid-afternoon, and Jewish sources said they believed a band of Jewish youths had fired it as a suspected meeting place of alleged "Arab brigands."

Hagana Jews mounted heavy guards at farm settlements in the coastal area, particularly near Ramat Gan where Hagana announced it had blasted the home of another Arab yesterday, killing seven in the explosion and "executing" four others by gunfire. Hagana said the house was the headquarters of "Arab brigands" who had set off the racial disorders by an attack on a night club last Sunday night.

Nejada, an Arab "scout" group which wears American army surplus uniforms, went into defensive action along the Jaffa border for the first time after Arab leadership had called for a stoppage to the violence.

Jaffa sources said Nejada and Futuwah, a minority group within the Arab youth movement, had bitterly debated whether to demand a cessation of violence or maintain a "hands off" attitude and let events take their course. These Arab informants said Nejada won the argument after receiving authority from Arab higher executive headquarters in Cairo to instruct young Arabs to restrain themselves.

Tension began running high in Jerusalem's old city tonight, and police mounted a double guard at all points where Arabs and Jews might come in conflict in passing to their respective holy places.

The Arabs trooped by thousands into the old city for the beginning of the three-day feast of Ramadan in the mosque of Omar and other mosques.

A feature of the celebration will be the reading of a message from the exiled Mufti of Jerusalem, Haj Amin Al Huuseini in Cairo, who is expected to plead for peace and calm.

It was authoritatively reported that some 300 wives of British businessmen in Haifa will be returning within three weeks in the first relaxation of the evacuation order of several months ago which sent thousands of British wives and children out of the Holy Land when Jewish terrorist attacks on the British were at their height.

(A statement authorized by the Mufti in Cairo replied to a Hagana broadcast that the Mufti was planning a "D-Day" in Palestine. The statement declared this report was "Zionist nonsense", and that Zionists, not Arabs, had started the current troubles.)

EMBALMER

improperly embalmed and "very hastily laid out."

"The deceased," Liddell asserted in the affidavit, "was clad only in a thin cotton dress and was lacking underclothes and stockings. All over the body were splotches of blood, attesting to the fact that she had not been bathed, and a slow purge from her mouth indicated that putrefaction had already set in."

E. L. Edmonds, of Jonesboro, a state examiner and member of the embalmers' board, summoned by Liddell, confirmed the latter's findings.

Liddell said he requested Reeder, who was in Monroe at the time, to return to Bastrop and release custody of the body. The funeral director, he charged, came back with "extreme reluctance."

Liddell said he was informed by T. C. McMann, of New Orleans, secretary of the board, that "definite action" would be forthcoming Monday.

He reported McMann told him that the board attorney would be consulted and a hearing set "as soon as possible" to decide on revoking Reeder's license.

Liddell, now manager of the Bastrop Retail Merchants' Credit Association, said he worked for Reeder as funeral director from May, 1943, until February, 1946, and since that time had frequently aided Reeder although no longer employed by him.

Reeder, he charged, had entrusted embalming work to several unlicensed helpers, who were incapable of performing it correctly, and was often not present during the preparation of a body.

In addition to owning the funeral home, Reeder is also president of the American Service Insurance Company, Inc., a local hospitalization plan now under investigation for violation of insurance laws, Liddell said. Court records show that the former secretary of the organization was sentenced to six years in the penitentiary in 1911 for "a crime against nature."

Reeder's two assistants, arrested here in 1942, were wanted by Oklahoma police for passing a bad check in purchasing an automobile. When sheriff's officers appeared at the funeral home to apprehend them, they fled to the cemetery and were captured at the side of a grave freshly dug for the person whose funeral they were about to conduct.

traitors, and I am ready to share their fate."

He told the court the Agrarian party had as its principal aims "peace, order and the people's rule."

He was a member of the first fatherland front government after the liberation from the Germans, but he quit in September, 1945, declaring it was under the complete domination of the Communists.

He had termed his arrest as "nothing but a prolongation of what already had happened in Hungary." He referred to the Communist ouster of Premier Ferenc Nagy, who was accused also by Hungarian Communists of plotting against the government.

The prosecution charged Petkov plotted actively to overthrow the regime and during the trial one witness, a former leader in the Agrarian party, testified that Petkov instructed him to prepare cadres for an armed struggle against the government, to provoke armed foreign intervention and to incite sabotage.

Petkov was a signer of the 1944 armistice with the Allies. When he quit the fatherland front government he charged that the Communist-controlled ministry of interior was waging a terror campaign against all its political opponents, beating and even killing them.

In an election two months after he quit the government the fatherland front presented only one list of candidates—its own—and Petkov urged the Agrarians to boycott the voting.

Another election was held in Oct. 27, 1946, and the fatherland front won 366 of the national assembly's seats. The opposition, Petkov's Agrarians and the smaller Lulchev Socialists, got only 99.

The premier of the present Bulgarian government is Georgi Dimitrov, international Communist leader who once won acquittal in the Nazi Reichstag fire trial.

The Communist party's newspaper Rabotnichesko Delo indicated yesterday that the end of the Petkov trial would not mean any cessation in the drive against the Agrarians. "The opposition Agrarian Union must be dissolved because it is a nest of fascist conspiracies," the newspaper declared.

cerning Lee's administration and the morale of American troops and that "about all I know is what I saw in the papers."

A series af articles in the past week by Robert C. Ruark, an American correspondent, alleged low morale among troops in Italy.

The chief of staff said that when he was in Italy in October of last year he found the 88th Division in "surprisingly high morale." However, he said he did not go down into the southern part of Italy where General Lee has his headquarters.

The investigation in Italy, Eisenhower said, will be "almost like a grand jury hearing." After the investigation the inspector general will return to Washington to make a report to the war department.

"As far as the 88th Division is concerned," Eisenhower continued, "as long ago as ten months ago, I found no conditions such as have been reported. What has happened since, I wouldn't know, but I wouldn't imagine there has been much change."

Eisenhower said Gen. Omar Bradley, veterans administration chief, probably will visit Italy during his tour of American bases in Europe, but that Bradley has not been asked to investigate the reports involving General Lee.

Sun tanned and appearing in excellent spirits, Eisenhower and his party arrived here in his DC-4, the Sunflower II. He flew non-stop from Denver where he had spent last night.

Asked when he plans to retire as chief of staff to begin his duties as the president of Columbia university in New York, Eisenhower replied that the date still is "indefinite—it depends on when the President says I can go."

He said he found the troops in Alaska have high morale and are "doing the best they can with what they have to work with." He added that many facilities are in "poor" condition and "we've got to get some construction in that region."

RUSSIA

voted with the Netherlands. Russia and China headed the majority list.

Although the session reflected the growing economic split between the east and west, it was generally agreed that the council weathered the Marshall plan "crisis" much better than had been expected.

At the opening of the meeting July 19, many delegates had been extremely pessimistic over the possible effects the Marshall plan split might have on the future work of the council.

One of the major clashes was on a Soviet proposal to prohibit international loans for military purposes. The Soviet proposal was defeated.

One of the most important achievements of the session was approval of a draft for a world conference on freedom of information and the press which will open in Geneva March 23, 1948. Russia was defeated in a bitter fight to bar discussion of censorship, freedom of correspondents to enter any country, arbitrary expulsion of correspondents and other vital questions.

In view of Russia's attitude during the discussion, some delegates privately expressed doubts that the Soviet Union would participate in the conference.

Other major developments:

1. Voted to hold an international conference on trade and employment in Havana November 21, 1947.

2. Dropped a proposal by the international cooperative alliance to establish international control of oil resources in the Middle East.

3. Gave final approval to plans for the economic commission for Asia and the Far East.

4. Referred to a special committee for further study a Chilean proposal to establish an economic commission for Latin America.

FRED C. BERNARD

Fred C. Bernard, 75, a bridge foreman for the Missouri Pacific Railroad, died in a local hospital last night.

Funeral arrangements had not been definitely set last night, but services will be held tomorrow afternoon at Hall Funeral Home and interment will follow in Riverview Burial Park.

JAMES L. O'NEAL RITES

CHOUDRANT, La., Aug. 16—(Special)—The funeral of James L. O'Neal, 58, brother of Judge Robert J. O'Neal, of the Caddo district court, who died after a lingering illness Thursday, was held at the Presbyterian Church of which he was a member, Friday afternoon. Interment took place in the Alabama cemetery near Choudrant.

Mr. O'Neal, a well-known planter and gin operator, was born and reared in the Choudrant community and had resided there all his life.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Eunice O'Neal, and two children, James and Janie, all of Choudrant; six sisters, Mrs. J. C. Calhoun and Mrs. E. M. Davis of Choudrant, Mrs. W. N. Baremore of Hilly, Mrs. R. C. Alexander of Dubach, Mrs. R. H. Alexander of Arcadia and Mrs. J. H. Williamson of Vienna; two brothers, Judge O'Neal of Shreveport and W. A. O'Neal of Choudrant and a number of nieces and nephews.

LOOKS LIKE A CAT; BUT IT'S A 'CABBIT'

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Stewart Morgan has a cat—at least it's a cat when viewed from the front, but take a look from the rear, and it's a rabbit!

Morgan says the animal, promptly named "Cabbit," is jet black, has the head, shoulders and forelegs of a cat, but just below the shoulder joint the spinal column does a squads left and presto—the cat becomes a rabbit. The hind legs are like those of a rabbit and operate kangaroo-fashion.

Even the fur, said Morgan, is only cat fur about halfway, and the rest of the body covered with fur like that of a rabbit.

The tail is nothing but a boneless turf of black fur.

Neighbors suggested that the creature was nothing but a Manx cat, but encyclopedias while acknowledging the similarity don't say a word about the hind quarters hopping around like a rabbit.

The "Cabbit" has a normal feline appetite. He eats meat and drinks milk, but ignores such rabbit delicacies as lettuce and carrots.

The fact, he might pass off as a cat, if he'd stop the kangaroo-jumping with his back feet.

As for its ancestral origin—Morgan said he didn't know. It was just a stray, he explained.

FIRE ALARMS

Company 3 put out a grass blaze at 1706 Riverfront at noon Saturday.

Firemen extinguished an automobile blaze on the 1200 block of South First street at 1:22 p.m. yesterday. The automobile was described as being a four door Plymouth sedan. Firemen said the fire was caused from a short in the wiring.

Firemen of company No. 1 extinguished a grass fire at 3303 DeSota street at 4:09 p.m. yesterday. The fire was reported caused by burning trash.

ADMIRAL KING RESTING AFTER 'MILD STROKE'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King, boss of America's toughest naval war, rested in Naval Hospital today after developing what the navy described as "slight evidence of a mild stroke without paralysis."

The 69-year-old former chief of naval operations was taken to the hospital in nearby Bethesda, Md., yesterday. A bulletin today said his condition is "definitely not critical," although he spent a restless night. He has aterio-sclerosis, an abnormal thickening and hardening of the artery walls.

MORRISON

Times-Picayune that his record on roll calls was among the worst in Congress, Morrison dismissed the attacks as "unfounded and deliberately misleading."

"Congressional roll calls," he said, "are a notoriously poor index of the merit of one's work. While I am conferring with industrialists and government officials to obtain something of benefit to the state, I may miss a half dozen unimportant roll calls."

Morrison further asserted that "only the novices and lazy men sit through session after session of inconsequential haggling when they might better be doing something constructive for their constituents."

Morrison, now serving his third term from the sixth district, said he feels "my record of accomplishments needs no apology or defense.

Reviewing his voting during the past congress, Morrison said he approved tax reductions, but decried the Taft-Hartley labor bill as a "conglomerate hodge-podge of legislative mumbo-jumbo."

Declaring that labor-managing strife is "a natural consequence of post-war adjustment," Morrison said the new law, far from providing any cure-all, "confuses issues even more."

Morrison gave his unqualified endorsement to others running on his ticket: A. P. Tugwell, for treasurer; John Coxe, for state superintendent of education, John R. Jeter, for secretary of state; D. M. Riddle for commissioner of agriculture; L. B. Baynard, for auditor, and Lucille May Grace, for state registrar.

He said he hoped to be able to announce the candidates for lieutenant-governor and attorney general "within a short time."

Smilingly confident of victory, Morrison said "the way things look now there won't even have to be a run-off (primary)."

for the purpose of extirpating the slots.

When the mayor's three special officers attempted to carry out their orders, the sheriff said, the marshal claimed their action was illegal and forced them off the premises.

Later in the afternoon Smith and the mayor met in front of the court house and became embroiled in a heated altercation, after which Mayor Mulhearn filed the affidavit with a justice of the peace.

Following his release on bond, Smith and the mayor encountered each other again in the main part of town and again clashed verbally.

Then, on an invitation from the mayor, the marshal laid aside his gun and the two men started swinging.

According to witnesses, the 50-year-old officer was "taking a beating" from the mayor when he picked up his gun and slugged his smaller adversary on the head.

They were separated by the assistant town marshal, and both walked away—the mayor returning to his office.

The clash between the two officials was the culmination of a long-standing disagreement over the slot machine issue. Up to several months ago the slots were winked at by law enforcement officers, but in March, acting on petitions from numerous churchmen and civic leaders, Mayor Mulhearn ordered them banned.

Smith aided in their removal at that time, but within the past six weeks they have reappeared in more than a dozen cafes and have operated unmolested.

The crusade against the slots was balked temporarily in February when the Richland grand jury failed to return true bills against persons charged in 38 indictments with operating slot machines.

After the failure of the grand jury to act, Mayor Mulhearn ordered the machines kept out of Rayville.

The mayor said Smith had been instructed to remove the machines when they began reappearing, but had refused to do so.

Seeking additional aid, the mayor said, he recruited three men as special officers—two of them, who were not identified, from Monroe, and the third, W. O. Bowden, a former deputy sheriff and one of the leaders in the original battle against the slots.

The turbulent Richland parish dispute has had an additional repercussion in the threat of Delhi, where slot machines have been legalized by popular vote, to secede from Richland parish and establish a separate parish with itself as the seat of government.

The Delhi controversy has also been responsible for the rift between Mayor Wilbur H. Farmer and members of the Delhi council, resulting in several attempts to oust the mayor from office because he has carried out the election mandate to permit slots to operate in that town.

he had heard expressions from the other delegates.

Senator Tom Connally, Democrat, Texas, member of the United States delegation, said tonight that Marshall would make "major address next Wednesday in which he is most likely to touch on hemisphere economic issues."

Connally said the United States delegates were studying Bramuglia's speech carefully.

Bramuglia told the delegates today that the American nations, "in mobilizing our defensive energies," are preoccupied with the annulment of capitalist extremes and totalitarianism."

He called on the western hemisphere "to find the only road to social, political and economic liberation which may generate living conditions for the existence of civil dignity, social solidarity and an economy of abundance which liberates men instead of placing them under submission."

He referred to Argentine President Juan D. Peron's speech last month laying down a foreign policy midway between what he described as Communist and Capitalist extremes and declared that Peron had affirmed "brilliantly in several circumstances that man is above systems and ideologies."

Chilean Foreign Minister German Vergara Donoso spoke after Bramuglia, stressing what he said was the urgency for the "economic solidarity" of the Americas.

Vergara, who previously said he opposed the economic conference proposed by Argentina, said that "we must turn our preoccupations toward that which is the unavoidable complement" of continental security.

"This complement," he continued, "has to do with the consolidation of economic order in the life of America. Until yesterday we could speak and work for the political solidarity of the American peoples without any fundamental preoccupation over the economic side. Today this solidarity for which we are working with so much faith may become platonic and meaningless in spite of the best we can do if we do not perfect it together with economic solidarity."

Uruguayan Foreign Minister Mateo Marques Castro proposed a "plan of peace" capable of avoiding "the infiltration of ideologies which are strange to our mentality and conception of freedom."

Marques made a strong plea for the existence of governments "which legitimately represent their peoples and assure the protection and guardianship of human beings."

"It is necessary at the same time we are consolidating the peace to make rational the economic problems of production, industry, and finances to put an end to the pains and miseries of peoples," he said.

Julian Caceres, Honduran delegate, said the defense treaty would be the "most transcendent event ever occurring in the history of the American republics."

Brazilian Foreign Minister Raul Fernandes, unanimously elected president of the conference yesterday, warned the delegates that if they failed to preserve continental peace, "others less interested than we and less fitted to accomplish it will take our place."

Fernandes conferred privately for 40 minutes before today's session with Paraguayan Foreign Minister Federico Chavez. Well-informed sources said the two discussed a possible conference to mediate the Paraguayan conflict.

Panamanian Foreign Minister Ricardo Alfaro said in an interview that "Panama will never recognize any Nicaraguan government except the legitimate regime of President Leonardo Arguello, which was deposed by anti-Democratic forces last May." He said he was certain that Mexico, Venezuela, Guatemala and Bolivia would join Panama in opposing the admission to the conference of any representative of the present Nicaraguan government.

Nicaragua is the only one of the 21 American republics not participating in the conference as a full member.

American delegates reported generally favorable Latin American reaction to the new United States position on treaty voting procedure announced by Secretary Marshall last night.

Marshall said his new proposal amounted to a ban on neutrality in the hemisphere to maintain peace, except in the use of force. The plan calls for adoption of enforcement measures against aggressors by two-thirds vote of the defense pact signatories with the decision binding on all except when military forces are to be employed.

The same issue carried a vastly different evaluation of congressional accomplishments by Senator Taft, Republican, Ohio, chairman of the Senate Republican policy committee, and House Majority Leader Halleck, Republican, Indiana.

Taft was statistical. He noted that Congress considered 7,289 measures and enacted 519 into law.

Halleck put in the record what he had said before, crediting his party with reversing what he termed the "ruinous New Deal trend" and demonstrating that Republicans have a "united party with a sound forward-looking program in contrast with the divided Democrat party dominated by quarrelsome, radical masters."

Barkley stacked the legislative record against recommendations sent to Congress by President Truman. He found that the session was "fraught with inter-party strife, yet at the same time with overriding tones of international crises, of world shattering events and decisions."

Barkley said the Republicans failed to do anything about "restriction of monopoly and aid to small business," a long-range housing program, permanent farm legislation, adequate medical care, universal military training, an increase in minimum hourly wages, or revision of the social security programs.

President Truman, the senator said, attempted to promote harmony between labor and management while the Republican Congress "gave him the punitive Taft-Hartley labor act which fails to meet the tests of a good labor bill."

Finally, Barkley scoffed at Republican claims that the president's budget had been sharply reduced. He said actual reduction "is probably $1,000,000,000 and will probably be less when final reports are made.

Various Republicans have claimed savings ranging up to $9,000,000,000.

Reece's statement on the voting guide called it a "piece of impudence" on the part of the CIO.

ployed in the welding shop by his father-in-law.

Head had been a resident of Ouachita parish for the past 15 months. He served in the armed forces 39 months overseas, seeing service in Tunisia, Sicily, Naples, Foggia, Rome, Arno, North Apennines and Po valley.

There will be a short service held in the home of Lonnie Frost before starting to the cemetery Monday at 8:45 a. m. The interment will be in the cemetery at Sikes, La., Monday at 11 a. m. with the Kilpatrick Funeral Home of Farmerville in charge. Rev. E. L. Tanner, pastor of the Assembly of God Church of West Monroe, will officiate.

Pallbearers will be Lavelle Howard, Buddy Frost, Elmert Frost, Charles McDonald, Johnny Grant and Archie Postum.

Mr. Head is survived by his wife: Mrs. Myrtice Frost Head; two children, Mary Jane, four years, and Velda Ann, one year old; his father, W. F. Head, Sikes, La., and mother, Mrs. Bertha Head ,also of Sikes.; four sisters, Mrs. Lillie Mae Tucker; Misses Rosa and Coleen Head, all of Sikes; and Mrs. Violet Utt, of Hillsville, Va.; and three brothers, Onis and Isaac Head, both of Sikes, and Jack Head of West Monroe.

In Louisiana it is reported that more persons are employed in the growing, harvesting, and manufacture of timber and wood products than in any other industry, except agriculture.

flickering hopes for those still missing after more than 24 hours of slow digging through the wreckage. Deadly mine gas slowed down rescue operations.

One coal board official called it a "miracle survival" but emphasized that hopes of finding any more alive were "very slight."

After the explosion we started to move away from the explosion and saw another group of men," John Birkett, one of the three survivors, told reporters. "We tried to get them out of the explosive area but the air was getting foul then and these men would not come back."

Fate of the men who refused to flee toward the abandoned extreme seaward end of the mine was disclosed by a national coal board official who said "the bodies of the second group have been found."

Cheers from a worried, grim crowd of several thousand gathered at the mine entrance greeted the appearance of Birkett, Daniel Hinde and James Weighman as they were carried to a hospital to be treated for shock and fatigue.

A mine official said the three men had waited for hours in a section closed off several years ago and then had wandered by a little used "back road" that skirted the blast area until they encountered rescue workers.

With the discovery of the three survivors, mine officials sent two more rescue teams to join the four squads at work. Then began a thorough exploration of the workings, which include many abandoned tunnels.

"We have stopped the removal of bodies until we completely explore the pit," a national coal board spokesman said.

No cause has yet been determined for the explosion, he added.

Ten of the 117 men at work when the explosion shattered the shaft yesterday were rescued within a few minutes because they were some distance away on the entrance side of the blast area.

The 107 others were trapped by tons of rock and coal and spreading deadly gas that slowed down the work of mask-equipped rescue squads digging their way through the debris.

The William pit was opened in 1812 and at one time stretched seven miles out under the bottom of the Firth of Solway near its entrance to the Irish sea. The old mine was closed for several years after World War One and was re-opened in 1939.

The extreme seaward ends of the mine were sealed off after an explosion killed 10 men six years ago.

The death toll was the highest in a British coal mining disaster since 265 men were killed in an explosion near Wrexham in 1934. The nation's greatest mining tragedy came in 1913 when 439 men were killed at Senghenydd, South Wales.

BANDIT

bania, where Gen. Enver Hoxha presides as premier of the Albanian government.

Police grabbed copies of the communist-dominated EAM organ, Elleftheri Ellada as soon as it appeared with the proclamation, and the public prosecutor said penal action would be taken against the staff who prepared the bulletin.

A government official said he was not surprised at the proclamation as "Markos headquarters has been directing communist bands in the mountains for months and previously has announced a provisional government would be formed.'

Some government quarters said establishment of a "communist government" would be advantageous to the Greek armed forces who have been unable to draw the guerrillas into frontal battle. A fixed point would offer an objective for Greek forces, they said.

The guerrilla broadcast, heard last night, said Gen. Vifiades in a proclamation dated Aug. 10 had declared his headquarters assumed all authority to form a "democratic government."

"Central authority will be exercised by central headquarters of the Democratic army," the proclamation declared. "General headquarters by acts shall take all necessary, legislative and executive measures. All acts of headquarters will be submitted for approval to the popular National Assembly as soon as it is called."

The Greek government has been predicting for some time that the guerrrillas would take steps to establish a "free communist" state in northern Greece.

The preamble to the proclamation said that "general headquarters is taking into consideration the fact there have been created in free areas of Greece conditions for organization of popular authority based on popular democratic principles."

It advocated the deposition of King Paul I and his dynasty. Claiming the plebescite last September in which the late King George II was returned to the throne was "invalid and faked."

Declaring that the "primary aim for the execution of all authorities * * * is the liberation of all our country from foreigners and their native agents * * *," the proclamation said:

"The popular authority is accepting and encouraging every work and assistance from foreign capital or from international organizations which will contribute to the promotion of the Greek economy and which will be based on the principle of equality. It will not recognize and will suppress every privilege or concession which has been allocated to foreigners, individuals, companies or states not compatible with the meaning of national independence or popular sovereignty. State contracts or privileges which have been allocated to foreigners and which are not compatible with popular sovereignty will not be recognized."

"The democratic army," it continued, "is the armed section of the nation which is fighting for the freedom, independence and integrity of Greece."

The government's third army communique said that more than 150 houses had been burned during the past two days in the pillaging of villages in western Thrace, near the Bulgarian border. Peasants in the area are evacuating their villages and moving to larger centers, the official announcement said:

Press dispatches said 21 houses had been burned in Perithori, 60 miles north of Salonika, when the village was looted by guerrillas and some of the residents abducted.

Another band burned 22 houses in three communities — Amohori, Ano Kline and Kato Kline—within a three-mile radius, just north of Phlorina on the Yugoslavia border.

Three persons were reported slain and 10 houses burned when Korisos, a mile southeast of Kastoria, was attacked.

Three persons were killed and 20 houses burned when a band of 300 raided the village of Oine, a few miles southwest of Kastoria.

An announcement said units of the Greek army's eighth division inflicted heavy losses when they made contact with a strong guerilla force somewhere north of Ioannina.

Unsuccessful attempts by large guerrilla detachments to capture Kerasivo and Personyianni, west of Konitsa and near the Albanian border, were officially reported.

A guerrilla band of 300 from Mount Parnassos attacked Ostia, less than 60 miles from Athens, but were driven back and are engaged by the army and gendarmerie, while their route back to Parnassos is held by government troops, an announcement said.

HOLY LAND

orange grove near the Natikvah quarter of Tel Aviv in mid-afternoon, and Jewish sources said they believed a band of Jewish youths had fired it as a suspected meeting place of alleged "Arab brigands."

Hagana Jews mounted heavy guards at farm settlements in the coastal area, particularly near Ramat Gan where Hagana announced it had blasted the home of another Arab yesterday, killing seven in the explosion and "executing" four others by gunfire. Hagana said the house was the headquarters of "Arab brigands" who had set off the racial disorders by an attack on a night club last Sunday night.

Nejada, an Arab "scout" group which wears American army surplus uniforms, went into defensive action along the Jaffa border for the first time after Arab leadership had called for a stoppage to the violence.

Jaffa sources said Nejada and Futuwah, a minority group within the Arab youth movement, had bitterly debated whether to demand a cessation of violence or maintain a "hands off" attitude and let events take their course. These Arab informants said Nejada won the argument after receiving authority from Arab higher executive headquarters in Cairo to instruct young Arabs to restrain themselves.

Tension began running high in Jerusalem's old city tonight, and police mounted a double guard at all points where Arabs and Jews might come in conflict in passing to their respective holy places.

The Arabs trooped by thousands into the old city for the beginning of the three-day feast of Ramadan in the mosque of Omar and other mosques.

A feature of the celebration will be the reading of a message from the exiled Mufti of Jerusalem, Haj Amin Al Huuseini in Cairo, who is expected to plead for peace and calm.

It was authoritatively reported that some 300 wives of British businessmen in Haifa will be returning within three weeks in the first relaxation of the evacuation order of several months ago which sent thousands of British wives and children out of the Holy Land when Jewish terrorist attacks on the British were at their height.

(A statement authorized by the Mufti in Cairo replied to a Hagana broadcast that the Mufti was planning a "D-Day" in Palestine. The statement declared this report was "Zionist nonsense", and that Zionists, not Arabs, had started the current troubles.)

improperly embalmed and "very hastily laid out."

"The deceased," Liddell asserted in the affidavit, "was clad only in a thin cotton dress and was lacking underclothes and stockings. All over the body were splotches of blood, attesting to the fact that she had not been bathed, and a slow purge from her mouth indicated that putrefaction had already set in."

E. L. Edmonds, of Jonesboro, a state examiner and member of the embalmers' board, summoned by Liddell, confirmed the latter's findings.

Liddell said he requested Reeder, who was in Monroe at the time, to return to Bastrop and release custody of the body. The funeral director, he charged, came back with "extreme reluctance."

Liddell said he was informed by T. C. McMann, of New Orleans, secretary of the board, that "definite action" would be forthcoming Monday.

He reported McMann told him that the board attorney would be consulted and a hearing set "as soon as possible" to decide on revoking Reeder's license.

Liddell, now manager of the Bastrop Retail Merchants' Credit Association, said he worked for Reeder as funeral director from May, 1943, until February, 1946, and since that time had frequently aided Reeder although no longer employed by him.

Reeder, he charged, had entrusted embalming work to several unlicensed helpers, who were incapable of performing it correctly, and was often not present during the preparation of a body.

In addition to owning the funeral home, Reeder is also president of the American Service Insurance Company, Inc., a local hospitalization plan now under investigation for violation of insurance laws, Liddell said. Court records show that the former secretary of the organization was sentenced to six years in the penitentiary in 1941 for "a crime against nature."

Reeder's two assistants, arrested here in 1942, were wanted by Oklahoma police for passing a bad check in purchasing an automobile. When sheriff's officers appeared at the funeral home to apprehend them, they fled to the cemetery and were captured at the side of a grave freshly dug for the person whose funeral they were about to conduct.

traitors, and I am ready to share their fate."

He told the court the Agrarian party had as its principal aims "peace, order and the people's rule."

He was a member of the first fatherland front government after the liberation from the Germans, but he quit in September, 1945, declaring it was under the complete domination of the Communists.

He had termed his arrest as "nothing but a prolongation of what already had happened in Hungary." He referred to the Communist ouster of Premier Ferenc Nagy, who was accused also by Hungarian Communists of plotting against the government.

The prosecution charged Petkov plotted actively to overthrow the regime and during the trial one witness, a former leader in the Agrarian party, testified that Petkov instructed him to prepare cadres for an armed struggle against the government, to provoke armed foreign intervention and to incite sabotage.

Petkov was a signer of the 1944 armistice with the Allies. When he quit the fatherland front government he charged that the Communist-controlled ministry of interior was waging a terror campaign against all its political opponents, beating and even killing them.

In an election two months after he quit the government the fatherland front presented only one list of candidates—its own—and Petkov urged the Agrarians to boycott the voting.

Another election was held in Oct. 27, 1946, and the fatherland front won 366 of the national assembly's seats. The opposition, Petkov's Agrarians and the smaller Lulchev Socialists, got only 99.

The premier of the present Bulgarian government is Georgi Dimitrov, international Communist leader who once won acquittal in the Nazi Reichstag fire trial.

The Communist party's newspaper Rabotnichesko Delo indicated yesterday that the end of the Petkov trial would not mean any cessation in the drive against the Agrarians. "The opposition Agrarian Union must be dissolved because it is a nest of fascist conspiracies," the newspaper declared.

ARMY

cerning Lee's administration and the morale of American troops and that "about all I know is what I saw in the papers."

A series af articles in the past week by Robert C. Ruark, an American correspondent, alleged low morale among troops in Italy.

The chief of staff said that when he was in Italy in October of last year he found the 88th Division in "surprisingly high morale." However, he said he did not go down into the southern part of Italy where General Lee has his headquarters.

The investigation in Italy, Eisenhower said, will be "almost like a grand jury hearing." After the investigation the inspector general will return to Washington to make a report to the war department.

"As far as the 88th Division is concerned," Eisenhower continued, "as long ago as ten months ago, I found no conditions such as have been reported. What has happened since, I wouldn't know, but I wouldn't imagine there has been much change."

Eisenhower said Gen. Omar Bradley, veterans administration chief, probably will visit Italy during his tour of American bases in Europe, but that Bradley has not been asked to investigate the reports involving General Lee.

Sun tanned and appearing in excellent spirits, Eisenhower and his party arrived here in his DC-4, the Sunflower II. He flew non-stop from Denver where he had spent last night.

Asked when he plans to retire as chief of staff to begin his duties as the president of Columbia university in New York, Eisenhower replied that the date still is "indefinite—it depends on when the President says I can go."

He said he found the troops in Alaska have high morale and are "doing the best they can with what they have to work with." He added that many facilities are in "poor" condition and "we've got to get some construction in that region."

RUSSIA

voted with the Netherlands. Russia and China headed the majority list.

Although the session reflected the growing economic split between the east and west, it was generally agreed that the council weathered the Marshall plan "crisis" much better than had been expected.

At the opening of the meeting July 19, many delegates had been extremely pessimistic over the possible effects the Marshall plan split might have on the future work of the council.

One of the major clashes was on a Soviet proposal to prohibit international loans for military purposes. The Soviet proposal was defeated.

One of the most important achievements of the session was approval of a draft for a world conference on freedom of information and the press which will open in Geneva March 23, 1948. Russia was defeated in a bitter fight to bar discussion of censorship, freedom of correspondents to enter any country, arbitrary expulsion of correspondents and other vital questions.

In view of Russia's attitude during the discussion, some delegates privately expressed doubts that the Soviet Union would participate in the conference.

Other major developments:

1. Voted to hold an international conference on trade and employment in Havana November 21, 1947.

2. Dropped a proposal by the international cooperative alliance to establish international control of oil resources in the Middle East.

3. Gave final approval to plans for the economic commission for Asia and the Far East.

4. Referred to a special committee for further study a Chilean proposal to establish an economic commission for Latin America.

FRED C. BERNARD

Fred C. Bernard, 75, a bridge foreman for the Missouri Pacific Railroad, died in a local hospital last night.

Funeral arrangements had not been definitely set last night, but services will be held tomorrow afternoon at Hall Funeral Home and interment will follow in Riverview Burial Park.

JAMES L. O'NEAL RITES

CHOUDRANT, La., Aug. 16.—(Special)—The funeral of James L. O'Neal, 58, brother of Judge Robert J. O'Neal, of the Caddo district court, who died after a lingering illness Thursday, was held at the Presbyterian Church of which he was a member, Friday afternoon. Interment took place in the Alabama cemetery near Choudrant.

Mr. O'Neal, a well-known planter and gin operator, was born and reared in the Choudrant community and had resided there all his life.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Eunice O'Neal, and two children, James and Janie, all of Choudrant; six sisters. Mrs. J. C. Calhoun and Mrs. E. M. Davis of Choudrant, Mrs. W. N. Baremore of Hilly, Mrs. R. C. Alexander of Dubach, Mrs. R. H. Alexander of Arcadia and Mrs. J. H. Williamson of Vienna; two brothers, Judge O'Neal of Shreveport and W. A. O'Neal of Choudrant and a number of nieces and nephews.

LOOKS LIKE A CAT; BUT IT'S A 'CABBIT'

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Stewart Morgan has a cat—at least it's a cat when viewed from the front, but take a look from the rear, and it's a rabbit!

Morgan says the animal, promptly named "Cabbit," is jet black, has the head, shoulders and forelegs of a cat, but just below the shoulder joint the spinal column does a squads left and presto—the cat becomes a rabbit. The hind legs are like those of a rabbit and operate kangaroo-fashion.

Even the fur, said Morgan, is only cat fur about halfway, and the rest of the body covered with fur like that of a rabbit.

The tail is nothing but a boneless turf of black fur.

Neighbors suggested that the creature was nothing but a Manx cat, but encyclopedias while acknowledging the similarity don't say a word about the hind quarters hopping around like a rabbit.

The "Cabbit" has a normal feline appetite. He eats meat and drinks milk, but ignores such rabbit delicacies as lettuce and carrots.

The fact, he might pass off as a cat, if he'd stop the kangaroo-jumping with his back feet.

As for its ancestral origin—Morgan said he didn't know. It was just a stray, he explained.

FIRE ALARMS

Company 3 put out a grass blaze at 1706 Riverfront at noon Saturday.

Firemen extinguished an automobile blaze on the 1200 block of South First street at 1:22 p.m. yesterday. The automobile was described as being a four door Plymouth sedan. Firemen said the fire was caused from a short in the wiring.

Firemen of company No. 1 extinguished a grass fire at 3303 DeSota street at 4:09 p.m. yesterday. The fire was reported caused by burning trash.

MORRISON

Times-Picayune that his record on roll calls was among the worst in Congress, Morrison dismissed the attacks as "unfounded and deliberately misleading."

"Congressional roll calls," he said, "are a notoriously poor index of the merit of one's work. While I am conferring with industrialists and government officials to obtain something of benefit to the state, I may miss a half dozen unimportant roll calls."

Morrison further asserted that "only the novices and lazy men sit through session after session of inconsequential haggling when they might better be doing something constructive for their constituents."

Morrison, now serving his third term from the sixth district, said he feels "my record of accompiishments needs no apology or defense.

Reviewing his voting during the past congress, Morrison said he approved tax reductions, but decried the Taft-Hartley labor bill as a "conglomerate hodge-podge of legislative mumbo-jumbo."

Declaring that labor-managing strife is "a natural consequence of post-war adjustment," Morrison said the new law, far from providing any cure-all, "confuses issues even more."

Morrison gave his unqualified endorsement to others running on his ticket: A. P. Tugwell, for treasurer; John Coxe, for state superintendent of education, John R. Jeter, for secretary of state; D. M. Riddle for commissioner of agriculture; L. B. Baynard, for auditor, and Lucille May Grace, for state registrar.

He said he hoped to be able to announce the candidates for lieutenant-governor and attorney general "within a short time."

Smilingly confident of victory, Morrison said "the way things look now there won't even have to be a run-off (primary)."

ADMIRAL KING RESTING AFTER 'MILD STROKE'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King, boss of America's toughest naval war, rested in Naval Hospital today after developing what the navy described as "slight evidence of a mild stroke without paralysis."

The 69-year-old former chief of naval operations was taken to the hospital in nearby Bethesda, Md., yesterday. A bulletin today said his condition is "definitely not critical," although he spent a restless night. He has aterio-sclerosis, an abnormal thickening and hardening of the artery walls.

DODGERS BOOST NATIONAL LEAD AS CARDS LOSE

Brooks Come From Behind Three Times To Nip Phils, 5 To 4

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The League-leading Brooklyn Dodgers three times came from behind today to tie the score and scored a run in the ninth inning to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies 5-4 for their fourth straight victory. The win coupled with Pittsburgh's triumph over St. Louis increased the Dodgers' margin over the runner-up Cardinals to five and a half games.

TICKET SALES GOOD FOR FIRST TWO WAVE TILTS

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 16.—(Special)—Indications are that the Tulane-Alabama game will draw 60,000 fans from throughout the mid-south on September 27 and that the Tulane-Georgia Tech game the following week will draw almost that number, Percy Generes, business manager of athletics at Tulane, said Saturday.

Generes said that the season ticket sale, which was largest in Tulane's history, plus the flow of individual game tickets, indicated an extra-heavy attendance for these first two Tulane games.

However, even such crowds will not tax the capacity of Tulane Stadium, which seats 72,000. Tickets for all Tulane home games are available at the Tulane ticket office, 6401 Willow street, New Orleans.

CROWVILLE IN LEGION SOFTBALL PLAYOFFS

The Crowville American Legion softball team, Fifth District champions, are one game down in the north Louisiana championship playoff with Arcadia but can sew up the north state title by beating Arcadia in a double header at Winnsboro Thursday. Arcadia won the opener at Arcadia Friday night. Members of the Crowville club, pictured above as they stopped over in Monroe on their way to Arcadia, are, left to right: Front row, M. H. Riser, G. L. McDuffie, Clyde Gates, Pete Southern, A. J. Riser, Clinton Booker, and Walter Chachere; second row, Thomas H. Franklin, bus driver, and Ralph Bradley, Ernest Donnell, Jr., J. L. The club is sponsored by Gulledge Richardson Post No. 200 of which Walter Chachere is commander and A. J. Riser, vice-commander.

SERIES PROGRESS IN THREE LEAGUES

Senior, Junior, And Midget Softball Circuits In Midst Of Playoffs

Three Monroe softball leagues will be in the midst of championship playoffs this week with games scheduled for every night, Monday through Friday. The Junior League finals begin tomorrow night, the Senior League plays the second games of its semi-final series Tuesday night, and the Midget League opens its semi-finals Wednesday evening.

Hinton's Barber Shop of West Monroe and the Red Shield Club will battle it out in the Junior finals, opening their series tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock on the Neville diamond. Their second contest is slated for Thursday at 7 o'clock, and a third game, if necessary, will be played the following week.

In the Senior circuit, Exchange Club and Red Shield hold one-game leads over the First Methodists of West Monroe and Lee's Jewelry as they move into action again Tuesday night at Sherrouse with the Exchange Greenies tackling the Methodists at 7 o'clock, and Red Shield squaring off with Lee's Jewelers at 8:30. If third games are necessary they will be played Wednesday night, and the league's finals start Friday evening.

Midget League semi-final openers Wednesday have Red Shield paired with Louisiana Training Institute at 6 o'clock, and Memorial Methodists opposing Unique Cleaners at 7:30, both games to be played on the Neville diamond. Second games will be in the same order at the same starting times Friday night at Neville.

Neville Bengals Get Football Work At Camp Hardtner; Slate Announced

Tigers Leave Today For Two-Week Session; Ten Games On Schedule

The Neville High School Tigers for the first time in the history of the school will depart from their own campus to do their football training this season when they leave this afternoon for Camp Hardtner in Grant parish for two weeks of intensive work under the supervision of Coach Bill Ruple.

Coach Ruple, who also announced a ten-game schedule for his charges last night, said a squad of 32 boys would be taken to Camp Hardtner by leaving Neville Stadium this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Equipment was issued to the team candidates yesterday, and workouts will begin early tomorrow morning. The camp is 15 miles from Pollock.

Listed as making the encampment were:

Right guards—Ronald Gunter and Jack Parker.

Fullbacks—Robert Nelson and Jerry Brooks.

The Tigers expect to be home by the first of September to make final preparations for their season opener on September 12 at Bogalusa. Their home opener will be with Minden on September 19. The ten-game slate includes only four home contests with Minden, Winnfield, Bastrop, and a pending Oak Grove struggle.

The schedule:

Sept. 12—Bogaslusa, there.
Sept. 19—Minden, here.
Sept. 26—Homer, there.
Oct. 3—Rayville, there.
Oct. 10—Jonesboro, there.
Oct. 17—Open.
Oct. 24—Ruston, there.
Oct. 31—Winnfield, here.
Nov. 7—Oak Grove, here, pending.
Nov. 14—Lafayette, there.
Nov. 21—Bastrop, here.

YANKS LENGTHEN MARGIN OVER SOX WITH 1-0 VICTORY

Rookie Leads New York In Triumph Over Crimson Hose; A's Nip Nats

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Al Clark, new outfielder recently brought up from Newark, made four hits in four times at bat today and scored the only run of the game in the ninth inning to give the New York Yankees a 1-0 triumph over the Boston Red Sox. The victory, their second straight over the runner-up Red Sox, increased the American League leaders' margin to 13 1/2 games.

DODGERS, CARDS POINT FOR IMPORTANT SERIES

Brooklyn, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Brooklyn and St. Louis charge toward Monday's showdown series at Ebbets Field, separated by 5 1/2 games, with the Dodgers still holding the advantage.

Out front by a fairly safe margin with a long home stand stretching ahead, Manager Burt Shotton of the Brooks is giving his pitchers their last workouts for the "series of the year."

Vic Lombardi, sure to face the Cards Monday, sparred nine rounds with the Phillies Thursday and Lefty Joe Hatten, another certain starter against St. Louis, worked out on the Phillies Friday night. Harry Taylor, who worked Wednesday against Boston, is being held back for the Monday night replay of the protested game.

Hatten scattered nine Phil hits in his final outing, an 8-1 victory over Schoolboy Rowe.

Manager Eddie Dyer of the Cards had to relieve Red Munger in Friday night's 7-4 decision over Pittsburgh just as he had to replace Murry Dickson the day before. Harry Brecheen, who hasn't worked since Monday and Howie Pollet, used only once on relief since Aug. 9, are expected to be Dyer's other starters in Flatbush.

WILLARD MILLER TAKES SOUTHERN INVITATIONAL

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Willard Miller, Chattanooga, completed a two-year domination of local golf here today, defeating Ed Herron, Jr., Houston, Tex., 4 and 3, to win the Country Club's 50th anniversary Southern Invitational Tournament, over 36 match-play holes.

Known as "Taterhead" since his caddy days, the 24-year-old, 130-pounder overcame a four hole deficit at the sixth tee to finish the first round 3-up. Herron evened the score on the 25th hole, but Miller was a shoo-in the rest of the way, closing the match on the 15th green.

GRAYSON'S SCOREBOARD

By Harry Grayson

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—(NEA)—Those closest to Joseph Vincent McCarthy say a satisfactory offer would bring him back as a major-league manager quicker than he left Larry MacPhail last season.

Joe McCarthy

And ten or more clubs could make fine use of this most skillful handler of ballplayers—young and old.

By World Series time last fall, Joe McCarthy, whose clubs accounted for nine pennants in 17 years, was the healthiest-looking manager ever to retire because of ill health.

Marse Joe is 60, but Connie Mack at 84 has kept a surprise collection of Athletics in the first division all the way along the route. And Burt Shotton at 62 hardly has been a dud with the Dodgers.

McCarthy rejected the Brooklyn bid last spring because he didn't want to be a filler-inner for Leo Durocher.

To be acceptable, any proposition made McCarthy would have to provide for a future and a free hand.

One of the most unusual stories in baseball is its seeming inability to develop managers for jobs calling for $40,000 and more.

Stranger yet is a manager like Joe McCarthy, still in fine physical shape, hiding away in a sylvan retreat during a baseball season.

Don't look now, but Jack Kramer and Ted Schroeder will defend the Davis Cup they won from the Australians last winter—as though you didn't know.

The idea that the high command awaited further tournament results before making a decision regarding Labor Day week-end at Forest Hills is cause to laugh right out loud.

The retired non-playing captain Walter L. Pate says Kramer, with a game comparable to that once unfolded by Don Budge, would blast professional champion Bobby Riggs from the court.

In full stride, which he is at present, the name of Schroeder can be mentioned in the same breath with those of all the champions of the past with no apologies.

Ted Schroeder passing up the national singles to return to his frozen foods business in Los Angeles is refreshing.

The Stanford alumnus is the first player in a long while to furnish the slightest evidence that tennis still has a 100 per cent amateur or two.

It is unlikely that Mike Jacobs will ever return as an active promoter, but the Madison Square Garden Corporation appears quite willing to go along with his lawyer-stand in, Sol Strauss, as head of its beak-busting subsidiary, the 20th Century Sporting Club.

Strauss has done extremely well financially indoors this summer with nothing much in the way of attractions. It was no fault of his that the Graziano-Zale match was lost to Chicago and that there was no satisfactory opponent for Joe Louis.

There are attractive matches in the middleweight division, but apparently they can't be made. Otherwise there is a paucity of talent.

There will be no major change in New York boxing promotion until a new promoter comes along with a bankroll, ideas, an imagination—and several good fighters under his control.

VIDALIA LOSES 12-INNING SCRAP TO NATCHEZ, 13-8

FERRIDAY, La., Aug. 16.—(Special)—The Vidalia semi-professional baseball club was barely beaten after twelve fast innings by the Natchez Indians semi-pro club Friday afternoon at Vidalia. Natchez won by a score of 13 to 8 in the last inning of the contest, one of the fastest ever seen in this section.

Vidalia was in the lead from the first with three hits each by Billy Dale, Jake and Joe Shiele and augmented by Francis Martin's defensive work at shortstop.

The Vidalia club has additional games scheduled with Natchez and with the strong Meadville and Woodville teams, all from across the Mississippi river.

Today's Games

Downsville at White's Ferry
Nip and Tuck at Natchitoches Road
Lapine at Point.

The Point Red Sox, leaders of the Little Six League, will tangle with the Lapine Wildcats today at Point in their "game of supremacy," each club having already beaten the other once and this their final scheduled game. Point won the first encounter, 10-9, and Manager Ralph Sims boys took the next, 4-3.

Manager Hinton will try to keep his boys in the top spot by starting either E. Simpson or G. F. Bayles on the mound today. Simpson has lost only one game in which he gave up only five hits, and Bayles is yet to be defeated. Manager Hinton has S. Antley and "Lefty" Gates to choose from if needed. Antley has been beaten only once, and Gates, a new addition to the team, hasn't displayed his talent for the Red Sox but is a promising chunker and pitched good ball for the Bastrop American Legion Junior team this summer.

Nip and Tuck, league leaders until displaced last Sunday by Point, will be taking on Natchitoches Road today while White's Ferry entertains up-and-coming Downsville.

DOWNSVILLE WINS OVER STERLINGTON ENGINEERS

DOWNSVILLE, La., Aug. 16.—(Special)—Downsville, beaten a few days ago by Sterlington, 2-0, avenged the defeat here today as the Little Six League club trounced the Engineers, 7 to 4.

DeLong led the Downsville attack with three hits in four times at bat. Downsville goes to White's Ferry Sunday for a league game, and Sterlington's Engineers will be meeting Lorain at Sterlington at 4 o'clock.

Last year personnel of the Louisiana Forestry Commission fought 3,499 forest fires.

SPARTAN BOXERS, TERRAPINS MEET IN BOWL CLASSIC

Maryland, Michigan State College Signed For Sugar Bowl Bouts

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 16.—(Special)—The University of Maryland and Michigan State College have accepted invitation to participate in the boxing tournament at the New Orleans mid-winter sports carnival, President Sam Corenswet announced today.

The Terrapins will engage the Spartans on Monday, December 29, in eight contests under intercollegiate regulations.

Representatives of Maryland and Michigan State will be making their first appearance in the mid-winter carnival.

Head Boxing Coach Harvey Miller, nationally known figure in boxing will bring to the Crescent City the nucleus of the team that won the Southern Conference championship in 1947 and dual meets with Army, Bucknell, Kings Point, North Carolina, U. S. Coast Guard Academy, Catholic University and South Carolina.

Ed Reider, conference 155-pound champion; Tom Maloney, Al Salkowski, Ken Malone and Bob Hofer are among the Marylanders who will be candidates for the carnival contests.

Michigan State's team will have one national collegiate champion in Charles Davey, 135-pounder; and experienced performers in Daniel Hickey, stellar 145-pound national runner-up, and 175-pound Billy Richey.

In dual competition last season Michigan State defeated Wisconsin, Georgetown and Minnesota.

Tennis, track, basketball, yachting, rowing are other events on the mid-winter calendar which is highlighted by the Sugar Bowl football classic on New Year's day.

DODGERS BOOST NATIONAL LEAD AS CARDS LOSE

Brooks Come From Behind Three Times To Nip Phils, 5 To 4

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The League-leading Brooklyn Dodgers three times came from behind today to tie the score and scored a run in the ninth inning to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies 5-4 for their fourth straight victory. The win coupled with Pittsburgh's triumph over St. Louis increased the Dodgers' margin over the runner-up Cardinals to five and a half games.

TICKET SALES GOOD FOR FIRST TWO WAVE TILTS

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 16.—(Special)—Indications are that the Tulane-Alabama game will draw 60,000 fans from throughout the mid-south on September 27 and that the Tulane-Georgia Tech game the following week will draw almost that number, Percy Generes, business manager of athletics at Tulane, said Saturday.

Generes said that the season ticket sale, which was largest in Tulane's history, plus the flow of individual game tickets, indicated an extra-heavy attendance for these first two Tulane games.

However, even such crowds will not tax the capacity of Tulane Stadium, which seats 72,000. Tickets for all Tulane home games are available at the Tulane ticket office, 6401 Willow street, New Orleans.

CROWVILLE IN LEGION SOFTBALL PLAYOFFS

The Crowville American Legion softball team, Fifth District champions, are one game down in the north Louisiana championship playoff with Arcadia but can sew up the north state title by beating Arcadia in a double header at Winnsboro Thursday. Arcadia won the opener at Arcadia Friday night. Members of the Crowville club, pictured above as they stopped over in Monroe on their way to Arcadia, are, left to right: Front row, M. H. Riser, G. L. McDuffie, Clyde Gates, Pete Southern, A. J. Riser, Clinton Booker, and Walter Chachere; second row, Thomas H. Franklin, bus driver, and Ralph Bradley, Ernest Donnell, Jr., J. L. Eldridge, William Bailey, James Dotson, H. Parker, William C. Allen, Loraine Dodson, and Alton Riser. The club is sponsored by Gulledge Richardson Post No. 200 of which Walter Chachere is commander and A. J. Riser, vice-commander.

SERIES PROGRESS IN THREE LEAGUES

Senior, Junior, And Midget Softball Circuits In Midst Of Playoffs

Three Monroe softball leagues will be in the midst of championship playoffs this week with games scheduled for every night, Monday through Friday. The Junior League finals begin tomorrow night, the Senior League plays the second games of its semi-final series Tuesday night, and the Midget League opens its semi-finals Wednesday evening.

Hinton's Barber Shop of West Monroe and the Red Shield Club will battle it out in the Junior finals, opening their series tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock on the Neville diamond. Their second contest is slated for Thursday at 7 o'clock, and a third game, if necessary, will be played the following week.

In the Senior circuit, Exchange Club and Red Shield hold one-game leads over the First Methodists of West Monroe and Lee's Jewelry as they move into action again Tuesday night at Sherrouse with the Exchange Greenies tackling the Methodists at 7 o'clock, and Red Shield squaring off with Lee's Jewelers at 8:30. If third games are necessary they will be played Wednesday night, and the league's finals start Friday evening.

Midget League semi-final openers Wednesday have Red Shield paired with Louisiana Training Institute at 6 o'clock, and Memorial Methodists opposing Unique Cleaners at 7:30, both games to be played on the Neville diamond. Second games will be in the same order at the same starting times Friday night at Neville.

Neville Bengals Get Football Work At Camp Hardtner; Slate Announced

Tigers Leave Today For Two-Week Session; Ten Games On Schedule

The Neville High School Tigers for the first time in the history of the school will depart from their own campus to do their football training this season when they leave this afternoon for Camp Hardtner in Grant parish for two weeks of intensive work under the supervision of Coach Bill Ruple.

Coach Ruple, who also announced a ten-game schedule for his charges last night, said a squad of 32 boys would be taken to Camp Hardtner by leaving Neville Stadium this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Equipment was issued to the team candidates yesterday, and workouts will begin early tomorrow morning. The camp is 15 miles from Pollock.

Listed as making the encampment were:

Centers—Hudson Tomlinson and Johnny Johnson.

Right guards—Ronald Gunter and Jack Parker.

Fullbacks—Robert Nelson and Jerry Brooks.

The Tigers expect to be home by the first of September to make final preparations for their season opener on September 12 at Bogalusa. Their home opener will be with Minden on September 19. The ten-game slate includes only four home contests with Minden, Winnfield, Bastrop, and a pending Oak Grove struggle.

APPRECIATION DAY WILL BE GIVEN MERIDIAN PEPS

MERIDIAN, Miss., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Meridian Star Sports Editor Dick Smith and Meridian fans are planning a player appreciation day at Buckwalter Stadium on Sunday afternoon week.

Vicksburg meets the Peps on that date. Varied gifts will be given to the players.

DODGERS, CARDS POINT FOR IMPORTANT SERIES

Brooklyn, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Brooklyn and St. Louis charge toward Monday's showdown series at Ebbets Field, separated by 5 1/2 games, with the Dodgers still holding the advantage.

Out front by a fairly safe margin with a long home stand stretching ahead, Manager Burt Shotton of the Brooks is giving his pitchers their last workouts for the "series of the year."

Vic Lombardi, sure to face the Cards Monday, sparred nine rounds with the Phillies Thursday and Lefty Joe Hatten, another certain starter against St. Louis, worked out on the Phillies Friday night. Harry Taylor, who worked Wednesday against Boston, is being held back for the Monday night replay of the protested game.

Hatten scattered nine Phil hits in his final outing, an 8-1 victory over Schoolboy Rowe.

Manager Eddie Dyer of the Cards had to relieve Red Munger in Friday night's 7-4 decision over Pittsburgh just as he had to replace Murry Dickson the day before. Harry Brecheen, who hasn't worked since Monday and Howie Pollet, used only once on relief since Aug. 9, are expected to be Dyer's other starters in Flatbush.

WILLARD MILLER TAKES SOUTHERN INVITATIONAL

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Willard Miller, Chattanooga, completed a two-year domination of local golf here today, defeating Ed Herron, Jr., Houston, Tex., 4 and 3, to win the Country Club's 50th anniversary Southern Invitational Tournament, over 36 match-play holes.

Known as "Taterhead" since his caddy days, the 24-year-old, 130-pounder overcame a four hole deficit at the sixth tee to finish the first round 3-up. Herron evened the score on the 25th hole, but Miller was a shoo-in the rest of the way, closing the match on the 15th green.

YANKS LENGTHEN MARGIN OVER SOX WITH 1-0 VICTORY

Rookie Leads New York In Triumph Over Crimson Hose; A's Nip Nats

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Al Clark, new outfielder recently brought up from Newark, made four hits in four times at bat today and scored the only run of the game in the ninth inning to give the New York Yankees a 1-0 triumph over the Boston Red Sox. The victory, their second straight over the runner-up Red Sox, increased the American League leaders' margin to 13 1/2 games.

WEATHER DELAYS LEGION BALL SERIES UNTIL TODAY

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Aug. 16.—(AP)—The game between the Little Rock Doughboys and the Adamson Leopards of Dallas in the finals of the regional American Legion baseball tournament here this aftrenoon was called at the end of the fourth inning because of rain.

The game was re-scheduled for tomorrow at 1 p. m.

The Doughboys, unbeaten in the regional double-elimination play, were leading 2 to 1 when the game was called.

Little Rock needs only one victory to gain the regional title and a berth in the sectional tournament. Dallas, beaten once before by the Doughboys, must win a double header to gain the championship.

GRAYSON'S SCOREBOARD

By Harry Grayson

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—(NEA)—Those closest to Joseph Vincent McCarthy say a satisfactory offer would bring him back as a major-league manager quicker than he left Larry MacPhail last season.

Joe McCarthy

And ten or more clubs could make fine use of this most skillful handler of ballplayers—young and old.

By World Series time last fall, Joe McCarthy, whose clubs accounted for nine pennants in 17 years, was the healthiest-looking manager ever to retire because of ill health.

Marse Joe is 60, but Connie Mack at 84 has kept a surprise collection of Athletics in the first division all the way along the route. And Burt Shotton at 62 hardly has been a dud with the Dodgers.

McCarthy rejected the Brooklyn bid last spring because he didn't want to be a filler-inner for Leo Durocher.

To be acceptable, any proposition made McCarthy would have to provide for a future and a free hand.

One of the most unusual stories in baseball is its seeming inability to develop managers for jobs calling for $40,000 and more.

Stranger yet is a manager like Joe McCarthy, still in fine physical shape, hiding away in a sylvan retreat during a baseball season.

Don't look now, but Jack Kramer and Ted Schroeder will defend the Davis Cup they won from the Australians last winter—as though you didn't know.

The idea that the high command awaited further tournament results before making a decision regarding Labor Day week-end at Forest Hills is cause to laugh right out loud.

The retired non-playing captain Walter L. Pate says Kramer, with a game comparable to that once unfolded by Don Budge, would blast professional champion Bobby Riggs from the court.

In full stride, which he is at present, the name of Schroeder can be mentioned in the same breath with those of all the champions of the past with no apologies.

Ted Schroeder passing up the national singles to return to his frozen foods business in Los Angeles is refreshing.

The Stanford alumnus is the first player in a long while to furnish the slightest evidence that tennis still has a 100 per cent amateur or two.

It is unlikely that Mike Jacobs will ever return as an active promoter, but the Madison Square Garden Corporation appears quite willing to go along with his lawyer-stand in, Sol Strauss, as head of its beak-busting subsidiary, the 20th Century Sporting Club.

Strauss has done extremely well financially indoors this summer with nothing much in the way of attractions. It was no fault of his that the Graziano-Zale match was lost to Chicago and that there was no satisfactory opponent for Joe Louis.

There are attractive matches in the middleweight division, but apparently they can't be made. Otherwise there is a paucity of talent.

There will be no major change in New York boxing promotion until a new promoter comes along with a bankroll, ideas, an imagination—and several good fighters under his control.

VIDALIA LOSES 12-INNING SCRAP TO NATCHEZ, 13-8

FERRIDAY, La., Aug. 16.—(Special)—The Vidalia semi-professional baseball club was barely beaten after twelve fast innings by the Natchez Indians semi-pro club Friday afternoon at Vidalia. Natchez won by a score of 13 to 8 in the last inning of the contest, one of the fastest ever seen in this section.

Vidalia was in the lead from the first with three hits each by Billy Dale, Jake and Joe Shiele and augmented by Francis Martin's defensive work at shortstop.

The Vidalia club has additional games scheduled with Natchez and with the strong Meadville and Woodville teams, all from across the Mississippi river.

Downsville at White's Ferry
Nip and Tuck at Natchitoches Road
Lapine at Point.

The Point Red Sox, leaders of the Little Six League, will tangle with the Lapine Wildcats today at Point in their "game of supremacy," each club having already beaten the other once and this their final scheduled game. Point won the first encounter, 10-9, and Manager Ralph Sims boys took the next, 4-3.

Manager Hinton will try to keep his boys in the top spot by starting either E. Simpson or G. F. Bayles on the mound today. Simpson has lost only one game in which he gave up only five hits, and Bayles is yet to be defeated. Manager Hinton has S. Antley and "Lefty" Gates to choose from if needed. Antley has been beaten only once, and Gates, a new addition to the team, hasn't displayed his talent for the Red Sox but is a promising chunker and pitched good ball for the Bastrop American Legion Junior team this summer.

Nip and Tuck, league leaders until displaced last Sunday by Point, will be taking on Natchitoches Road today while White's Ferry entertains up-and-coming Downsville.

DOWNSVILLE WINS OVER STERLINGTON ENGINEERS

DOWNSVILLE, La., Aug. 16.—(Special)—Downsville, beaten a few days ago by Sterlington, 2-0, avenged the defeat here today as the Little Six League club trounced the Engineers, 7 to 4.

DeLong led the Downsville attack with three hits in four times at bat. Downsville goes to White's Ferry Sunday for a league game, and Sterlington's Engineers will be meeting Lorain at Sterlington at 4 o'clock.

Last year personnel of the Louisiana Forestry Commission fought 3,499 forest fires.

SPARTAN BOXERS, TERRAPINS MEET IN BOWL CLASSIC

Maryland, Michigan State College Signed For Sugar Bowl Bouts

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 16.—(Special)—The University of Maryland and Michigan State College have accepted invitation to participate in the boxing tournament at the New Orleans mid-winter sports carnival, President Sam Corenswet announced today.

The Terrapins will engage the Spartans on Monday, December 29, in eight contests under intercollegiate regulations.

Representatives of Maryland and Michigan State will be making their first appearance in the mid-winter carnival.

Head Boxing Coach Harvey Miller, nationally known figure in boxing will bring to the Crescent City the nucleus of the team that won the Southern Conference championship in 1947 and dual meets with Army, Bucknell, Kings Point, North Carolina, U. S. Coast Guard Academy, Catholic University and South Carolina.

Ed Reider, conference 155-pound champion; Tom Maloney, Al Salkowski, Ken Malone and Bob Hofer are among the Marylanders who will be candidates for the carnival contests.

Michigan State's team will have one national collegiate champion in Charles Davey, 135-pounder; and experienced performers in Daniel Hickey, stellar 145-pound national runner-up, and 175-pound Billy Richey.

In dual competition last season Michigan State defeated Wisconsin, Georgetown and Minnesota.

FRNKA PLANNING COURSE OF WAVE FOR GRID SEASON

Tulane Coach Awaits 'Go Ahead' Signal For S. E. C. Fall Training

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 16.—(Special)—Henry Frnka had his plans all laid Saturday for his shakedown cruise for the 1947 Tulane Green Wave.

Frnka, like all Southeastern Conference coaches, has been waiting expectantly for a report from the conference executive committee signalling the opening of fall football training.

The committee is due to report soon on whether or not practice for 1947 conference teams may began prior to September 1. But practice for freshmen in summer school may begin at any time, and Frnka plans to call these prospects out in the next few days.

Meanwhile, there is no rule against planning and Frnka's scheme is already well developed. First he must find squad replacements for 14 lettermen, five of whom were tackles. This tackle problem is his biggest, since Frnka abides by the maxim that a team is only as strong as its tackles.

Among the lettermen lost were Bill Hornick, Howard McAfee, Arthur Porter, Jay Rowland and Leroy Schneider, tackles; Ends Sherwood Cuyler and Sammy Edwards; Guards Gaston Bourgeois and Elliott Inglehart; Center and Captain Larry Rice; Quarterbacks Richard Nutt and Julian Brignac; Tailback O. J. Key and Fullback Johnny Sims.

As a nucleus for this year's club, the Wave will have 22 lettermen and 24 squadmen back from last year. Some 30 freshmen are also expected to join the squad.

The Wave opens its schedule on September 27 against Alabama. After that comes Georgia Tech on October 4; Rice on October 11; Ole Miss on October 18; Auburn on October 25; Mississippi State on November 1; Florida on November 15; Notre Dame on November 22 and Louisiana State University on December 6. All games are in New Orleans except Rice which will be played in Houston and Notre Dame, which will be at South Bend, Indiana.

RED SHIELD WINS BASEBALL CROWN

The Red Shield Club's baseball team made it two in a row over Sid's Dodgers of West Monroe yesterday to win the final game of the Recreation Baseball League's championship series, 15 to 5, and claim the league crown.

While Cecil Johnson was bearing down with a seven-hit pitching performance in which he fanned 13 batters and walked only three, the Shielders combed two Dodger chunkers, Jerry Richards and Dale Hendricks, for 13 safe knocks.

Ben Sittason paced the Red Shield attack with a single, double, and triple in four times at bat. Pettit, Johnson, Brown, and Smith each got two hits with one of Bown's blows going for four bases. Carter was Sid's top slugger with two safe knocks.

The champion Red Shielders immediately said they were open for dates with any other boys' teams of players 18 years old and under in this section, and games may be arranged by contacting James McKay, 307 Orange street, Monroe.

Baseball Movement Gains Momentum As Pledges Double In Week's Report

Subscriptions For Park Building Program Mount To $20,050

The movement for the return of professional baseball for Monroe and and West Monroe gained momentum the past week as pledges since last Sunday almost doubled the total for the two previous weeks, and the promise of organized ball by next spring in the Twin Cities is beginning to look brighter.

A total of $20,050 has been pledged in three weeks, representing more than one fourth of the estimated $75,000 needed to build a new baseball plant and put the club in operation.

PLEDGES

Central Auto Sales Co. "Sticky" Steele, Pete Godwin)	500
Saul Adler	1,000
W. "Bill" McCain	1,000
Clifford Strauss	1,000
Total	$20,050

The response from business houses and business men highlighted the week's incoming pledges with Wilmot "Bill" McCain, Sam Adler, and Clifford Strauss leading the way with donations of $1,000 each. The $2,500 pledge by F. "Pap" Strauss is still tops as an individual pledgeor with $2,500.

The big subscription by Clifford Strauss is in addition to the land which he and S. K. Henninger jointly contributed on Forsythe avenue for the building of the proposed park.

Until this week, with few exceptions, most of the pledging for the baseball cause has been on a voluntary basis and will continue as such, but beginning this week baseball-minded businessmen will begin making personal calls on their friends and fans in the interest of shoving the total toward the desired goal as soon as possible.

The speed with which a plant can be put in readiness for baseball will depend on how quickly the needed $75,000 can be assured.

Shares of stock in the proposed baseball corporation are selling for $100 each and each share is worth a vote in the affairs of the organization.

LOUISE SUGGS MAKES WESTERN GRAND SLAM

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Completing the first double-slam in the half century history of Western competition, Louise Suggs of Atlanta, Georgia, saved her best shots for the final round today to trounce Newcomer Carol Diringer of Tiffin, Ohio, 9 and 8, and win the Women's Western Amateur golf championship.

The triumph earned Miss Suggs a niche in the W. W. G. A. hall of fame as the first golfer to win both the Western Amateur and Western Open in successive years.

The petite, 112-pound Georgia lassie shot some of the finest golf in the last eight years of Women's Western Golf Association tournaments to beat her 21-year-old chic foe by knocking two strokes off par figures for the 28 holes required.

The victory was nearly as overwhelming as the record-breaking lopsided, 11 and 10, win, Miss Suggs accomplished over Mary McMillin of Green Bay, Wisconsin, in grabbing the 1946 Western Amateur. The 5-foot-3-inch Miss Suggs won the Western Open last year with a 2-up margin over Patty Berg, and added the 1947 Open last June in her home town by beating Dot Kirby of Atlanta 4 and 2.

ANYWAY, YOCHIM GETS NOD AS BEST CHUNKER

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 16.—(AP)—An irony of the Evangeline League pitching situation is that—statistically speaking—a man who has pitched only two games, has a better average than a man who has won 19.

Here's the setup, according to official figures released by the league today:

Johnny White of Abbeville has won two and lost none, to top the percentage column with 1.000. Immediately behind him is Lenny Yochim of New Iberia with 19 wins against but three defeats. Number three in the race is Warren Kanagy of Thibodaux with 18 and 3.

The others among the leading half dozen pitchers in the loop, and their records:

Paul Bruno, Hammond, 22 and 5; Barney DeForge, Natchez, 12 and 4; and Hugh Sooter of Alexandria, 18 and 7.

The batting leaders:

Al Aucoin, Abbeville—.358; Yochim, New Iberia—.349; C. Smith, Alexandria—.347; Harry Strohm, Alexandria—.345; Bill Cox, Abbeville—.344; Bruno, Hammond—.339.

An odd sidenote is the fact that Bruno and Yochim managed to rate among the top hitters as well as to hold their own among the men who give the best batsmen a bad time from the mound.

SMILE, OLE GAL!

UNIVERSITY, Miss.—If Dame Fortune's turn means anything, it's the Rebels' turn to win this year's Ole Miss-Kentucky game. The Wildcats, who won last year at 20-6, copped the 1944 series opener, 27-7, but lost the '45 game, 21-7.

BIG EIGHT OPENS PLAYOFFS TODAY

Hodge Goes To Dubach, Marion Tackles Volunteers At Ruston

RUSTON, La., Aug. 16.—(Special)—The Big Eight Baseball League moves into its championship playoffs Sunday with the opening games of the semi-final scramble slated for Dubach and Ruston.

Manager Berry Hinton's Ruston Volunteers, who finished the schedule today with an 8-1 win over Simsboro and lead the circuit with 21 wins and seven losses, will be host to Marion, who finished in a third place tie with Hodge.

The Hodge Red Sox will invade Dubach for the other contest.

Winners of the semi-final series meet in the title playoffs.

In final regularly scheduled games this week, Bernice tagged Farmerville, 15-13; Marion bested the Ruston Rebels, 11-2; Simsboro slipped up on Dubach, 7-3, and the Vols stopped Hodge, 13-6.

In concluding the regular schedule yesterday at Simsboro in a make-up game, the Volunteers made their big innings the first and last in which they scored four and three runs respectively. The Vols, playing errorless ball, executed four double plays and collected eleven hits. Hinton led the hitting with a triple and two singles.

Score by innings:

Ruston Vols	400	010	003—	8	11	0
Simsboro	000	001	000—	1	6	2

Head and Willett; Cole and Shelby.

Final league standings were:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
Ruston Vols	21	7	.750
Dubach	18	10	.643
Hodge	16	12	.571
Marion	16	12	.571
Bernice	14	14	.500

WILDCATS BEGIN DRILLS MONDAY

Coach Nicosia Starts Work With Winnsboro Gridders At 9 A. M. Tomorrow

WINNSBORO, La., Aug. 16.—(Special)—The Winnsboro High School Wildcats, strong Class A football club of northeast Louisiana, will open training here Monday, and Coach John Nicosia is predicting one of the finest teams in Winnsboro's grid history and declares "backfield prospects are superb."

The team will appear on the field at 9 o'clock Monday morning in bright new uniforms consisting of gold trousers, black jerseys with gold letters and shoulders, and gold plastic helmets.

Co-captains for the coming season will be Billy Wiggins and Donald Gene Bennett.

George Ferrington, Leo Hart, Billy Wiggins, Fay Duchesne, Ollie Ray Carter, Charles King, Kirk Kirkland, Ray Cline and "Bobo" Graville will be the stalwarts in the backfield, while the line will be sparked by Donald Gene Bennett, James Cupit, George Poola, Kenneth Lewis, Billy Joe Taylor, Bobby Stopp, Charles Rundall, Bobby Polk, Chester Goin, George France, Kirby Lee, Lawrence Anders, and Claud Ezell.

The schedule is all complete with one exception. Coach Nicosia said he has an open date for September 19 that he would like to book away from home with any Class A or strong Class B team in Louisiana.

ROTARY CLUB WORKS FOR SICILY ISLAND FOOTBALL

SICILY ISLAND, La., Aug. 16.—(Special)—Determined to exert every effort to get a football team for Sicily Island High School for the 1947 season, the Sicily Island Rotary Club this week appointed a committee to organize a fund-raising drive for equipment.

Alvin Seals, who first broached the subject to the Rotary, was named chairman of the committee and his associates are Louis Knight, C. B. Coney and Glen Gremillion.

The Rotary hopes to raise $1,799 within the next two weeks and have equipment on hand when school opens September 1. At a meeting Wednesday night, the committee was to make tentative assessments which would be sought from townsmen. Each Rotary member will be given a list of persons to be contacted for funds.

Keith Moore, president of the Rotary, said no games would be played before October if the football squad is assured. September would be spent in getting experienced material in shape.

Principal C. B. Coney of Sicily Island High school said the school probably could field a team averaging 140 pounds.

Already talk is progressing of a Thanksgiving encounter between Sicily Island and Block High of Jonesville, the latter embarking upon its first grid season in over a decade.

VANDERBILT GRID WORK WILL START AUGUST 25

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Football practice for Vanderbilt University hopefuls will begin on August 25, Coach Henry R. (Red) Sanders, said today.

A varsity squad of 67—including 11 freshmen—is scheduled to report for the opening workout.

"We had planned to put the boys to work on September 1 as usual, but I can't see any reason why we should wait an extra week while the other teams in the conference are drilling," said Sanders.

CHINESE MATMAN BIDS FOR CRAIG'S TITLE THIS WEEK

Walter Achiu Faces State Light Heavyweight Champion Tuesday

The tough Chinese matman, Walter Achiu of Honolulu, Hawaii, comes back to Gus Kallio's Arena Tuesday night to make his second bid for the Louisiana state light heavyweight wrestling championship against George Craig, Tulsa, Okla., who last week won the state crown for the third time.

Claiming he didn't get a "square deal" two weeks ago when he made his debut here in the title tournament when Achiu was disqualified by Referee Bill Barney in his match with Craig who went on to win the belt.

Promoter Kallio offered Achiu a "build up" match with Chris Belkas, and Craig desired to wait a week or two to see that Achiu could do in the meantime.

But the China boy declared he didn't consider Belkas much of a build up opponent since Belkas was beaten in the same tournament by Rex Mobley who lost to Craig in the finals.

"I want to wrestle with the best, and I can beat them too, so why should I take a match with the men that have already been beaten far down the line," Achiu declared. "It doesn't mean anything if I wrestle Belkas, but, if you get me the match with Craig, I'll show you I can really beat him if the referee will let me do some real wrestling.

"I'm a drawing card anywhere I go, and all the real fans are for me. I'm in the business to make money, and I understand the belt holder gets extra money. So that's what I want—the title and more money."

Craig couldn't do more than accept the challenge and declared he would be willing to meet Achiu without a referee.

"I'll show him how things are done without a referee. He thinks he's tough, but his big talking won't help him in the ring. In fact he had better keep his big mouth closed or I'm liable to lose my temper," Craig declared.

But the no-referee business is out, and Promoter Kallio said last night that Bill Barney would be back in the ring this week to handle the brawl. Barney, however, has declared he is willing to give the job to anybody who figures they can do a better job, declaring, "Achiu is hard to watch and hard on referees. I'll do my best, but the job is open to anyone who would like to take it."

Craig and Achiu will battle over an hour and a half time limit with two falls to win.

Allen "Sailor" Parker, the master showman and a former Louisiana state champ from Nashville, Tenn., will appear in the semi-final event against Carlos Rodriquez, a Mexican tussler only recently appearing over the southern circuit and coming to Monroe for the first time.

Kallio last night said the winner of the match was being put in line for a title scrap with the winner of the Craig-Achiu scramble. The curtain-raiser will have an hour time limit with two falls to win.

EYRE TIES RUSSELL FOR MEDAL HONORS

Billy Eyre yesterday climbed into a tie for medal honors in the first annual Twin City Junior Golf Tournament when he fired an 82 over the Municipal Golf Club's course here to go into a deadlock with Billy Russell.

Qualifying for the event ends today, and Pro Jean Shirah last night said a good turn out of the 18-year-olds and under was expected over the Muny links today.

In addition to Eyre and Russell, other qualifiers are John Wooten, 83; Edell Blanks, 89; Jack Doss, 91; and Fred Joiner, 99.

The first round of play in the tournament is scheduled to be completed by Tuesday night, and the second round will be over by Thursday night. The finals are scheduled for next Sunday.

GEORGIA TECH GRIDIRON PROSPECT 'INELIGIBLE'

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 16.—(AP)—James (Red) Patton, who last season was described as a "great prospect" for Army's football team, has been ruled eligible to play for Georgia Tech, over protests of the University of Alabama, the Atlanta Journal said tonight.

In a signed dispatch from Sports Editor Ed Harris of the Knoxville Journal, the paper reported that Dean N. W. Daugherty of Tennessee, acting commissioner of the Southeastern Conference, had sent his ruling to Head Coach Robert Dodd of Tech and Athletic Director Frank Thomas of Alabama.

Thomas is confined to Duke Hospital at Durham, N. C., and Dodd is at a coaching clinic at Fayetteville, Ark.

Patton's eligibility was challenged by Alabama, which claimed the former schoolboy star signed a grant-in-aid before entering the army. Tech countered that he never had reported to Alabama and had entered Tech after release from the army last spring.

LONGSHORE, WATERS IN GAIN IN ALABAMA MEET

MOBILE, Ala., Aug. 16.—(AP)—The rains let up long enough today for Leslie Longshore of Anniston and Harcourt Waters of New Orleans to move into the semi-finals of the Alabama State Tennis Tournament.

Waters, smooth-stroking young netter from the Crescent City, sprang a mild upset by eliminating the veteran Mike McLaney, also of New Orleans, 6-4, 6-4.

Waters, ranked fifth, was required to win only two games today to complete his win over the third-seeded McLaney. Rain interrupted their match yesterday after Waters had taken the first set, 6-4, and the score had been tied at four-all in the second.

In another quarter-finals match played between showers, Longshore eliminated Vince Distefano of New Orleans, 9-7, 6-1.

Mrs. Lila Porter of Mobile gained a hard-earned victory over Doris Middleton of New Orleans to move into the finals of the women's singles. The scores were 9-7, 3-6, 6-4.

Rain interrupted their match yesterday after Mrs. Porter, seeded No. 2, had won the first set, 9-7. The New Orleans player took the second set, and Mrs. Porter held a 5-4 lead in the third when a heavy shower forced them to the sidelines. After the courts had been swept clear, Mrs. Porter came back to win the final game and the match.

In tomorrow afternoon's finals, Mrs. Porter will meet top-seeded Gerry Waterhouse of New Orleans.

CAPACITY CROWD

TIGERS INVADING JENA FOR THIRD OF SERIES TODAY

Clarks Game At Winnsboro In North Louisiana Playoff Reset For Monday

The Olla Tigers and the LaSalle Oilers of Jena, all square with a victory each in their semi-final playoff for the North Louisiana League championship, square off in their third encounter this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Oilers' Good Pine park.

The Winnsboro-Clarks series, will be resumed Monday night at Winnsboro with the charges of Co-Managers John Nicosia and Lantz Womack moving into the title finals if they are successful in beating the Lumberjacks again tomorrow.

Meanwhile, the Red Sox won't be idle as they are appearing in an exhibition contest this afternoon at 3 o'clock against the Esso Oilers of Baton Rouge at Winnsboro's Memorial Park.

Since the Olla-Jena series is all even, a fourth game is certain for the Olla home fans.

Manager E. C. Hinton's Bengals took the opener last Sunday, 9 to 3, but they succumbed to the charges of Manager Mel Didier at Clarks Thursday night after a rousing 12-inning battle that was finally turned into a rout as the Oilers rallied for eight runs in the twelfth and a 14-6 victory.

The score was knotted at 6-6 after nine innings of regulation play, but the uphill fighting Oilers steamed in at the finish with one of their most impressive rallies of the season.

If the semi-final winners are determined this week, the championship finals will begin next Sunday over a four-out-of-seven distance.

STAGG, AT 85, MAPPING NEW GRID STRATEGY FOR TESTS AT SUSQUEHANNA

STOCKTON, Calif., Aug. 16.—(AP)—At 85, the "Grand Old Man" of football still is bent on out-thinking the foe.

Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg celebrated his 85th birthday today working on a new system of offense on which he began to tinker at College of Pacific last season.

He plans to give the system a workout at his new berth this fall at Susquehanna University in Selingsgrove, Pa., where he will be associated with his son, Amos Alonzo, Jr. It will be the senior Stagg's 58th football season.

The longtime University of Chicago coach became coach emeritus at College of Pacific last fall, after 14 years here.

This will be the greatest year in the history of football, Stagg told interviewers. Coaches have the best of last year's banner crop of players reinforced by eager, young athletes just entering varsity competition.

He sees no evidence of new styles of play, he said, aside from a tendency toward the T formation that has been growing in popularity of late years.

With white-haired Mrs. Stagg, who is as much of a gridiron enthusiast as her husband, the venerable coach will leave his home here for Selingsgrove in about two weeks.

MAKE PLANS FOR BOWLING SEASON

Snappy Lanes Inviting Keglers To Register For League Competition

With the bowling season rapidly closing in, Snappy Bowling Lanes here will begin reconditioning for the surge of organized activity beginning next month, and it was announced last night by Lou Harris, manager of the alleys, that Snappy Lanes would be closed this week while resurfacing of the alleys is in progress.

However, the "front office" will be open as usual and men, women, and high school students planning to take part in the activity of various leagues this season are being invited to come in and register.

"We want to know how many individuals and teams are interested in bowling league activity for the next few months," Harris said, "and it is necessary that we have a clear picture of what to expect so that we will be better able to give the bowlers what they want to make their leagues successful."

The alleys, after the resurfacing work, will be opened for play again next Saturday, according to present plans.

League play is scheduled to open September 8, and several teams are already lined up, and others are seeking sponsors.

FRNKA PLANNING COURSE OF WAVE FOR GRID SEASON

Tulane Coach Awaits 'Go Ahead' Signal For S. E. C. Fall Training

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 16.—(Special)—Henry Frnka had his plans all laid Saturday for his shakedown cruise for the 1947 Tulane Green Wave.

Frnka, like all Southeastern Conference coaches, has been waiting expectantly for a report from the conference executive committee signalling the opening of fall football training.

The committee is due to report soon on whether or not practice for 1947 conference teams may began prior to September 1. But practice for freshmen in summer school may begin at any time, and Frnka plans to call these prospects out in the next few days.

Meanwhile, there is no rule against planning and Frnka's scheme is already well developed. First he must find squad replacements for 14 lettermen, five of whom were tackles. This tackle problem is his biggest, since Frnka abides by the maxim that a team is only as strong as its tackles.

Among the lettermen lost were Bill Hornick, Howard McAfee, Arthur Porter, Jay Rowland and Leroy Schneider, tackles; Ends Sherwood Cuyler and Sammy Edwards; Guards Gaston Bourgeois and Elliott Inglehart; Center and Captain Larry Rice; Quarterbacks Richard Nutt and Julian Brignac; Tailback O. J. Key and Fullback Johnny Sims.

As a nucleus for this year's club, the Wave will have 22 lettermen and 24 squadmen back from last year. Some 30 freshmen are also expected to join the squad.

The Wave opens its schedule on September 27 against Alabama. After that comes Georgia Tech on October 4; Rice on October 11; Ole Miss on October 18; Auburn on October 25; Mississippi State on November 1; Florida on November 15; Notre Dame on November 22 and Louisiana State University on December 6. All games are in New Orleans except Rice which will be played in Houston and Notre Dame, which will be at South Bend, Indiana.

RED SHIELD WINS BASEBALL CROWN

The Red Shield Club's baseball team made it two in a row over Sid's Dodgers of West Monroe yesterday to win the final game of the Recreation Baseball League's championship series, 15 to 5, and claim the league crown.

While Cecil Johnson was bearing down with a seven-hit pitching performance in which he fanned 13 batters and walked only three, the Shielders combed two Dodger chunkers, Jerry Richards and Dale Hendricks, for 13 safe knocks.

Ben Sittason paced the Red Shield attack with a single, double, and triple in four times at bat. Pettit, Johnson, Brown, and Smith each got two hits with one of Bown's blows going for four bases. Carter was Sid's top slugger with two safe knocks.

The champion Red Shielders immediately said they were open for dates with any other boys' teams of players 18 years old and under in this section, and games may be arranged by contacting James McKay, 307 Orange street, Monroe.

Score by innings:

Sid's Dodgers	112 001 0—	5	7
Red Shield	420 162 x—15	13	3

Richards, Hendricks and Hendricks, Carter, Willensky; Johnson and McKay.

NEGRO SEMI-PROS CLASH TODAY AT CASINO PARK

The two leading semi-pro Negro baseball teams of Louisiana and Arkansas, the Cinderella Sports of Monroe and the Pine Bluff Tigers, will clash at Casino Park this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Tigers, coming to Monroe for the first time with 14 consecutive victories, will face the Sports who have won all of their last 18 skirmishes.

The Casino Park management has designated today as "appreciation day," and fans of the Cinderella Sports are invited to bestow upon the home team showers of gifts of appreciation. Special seats have been reserved for white spectators.

Baseball Movement Gains Momentum As Pledges Double In Week's Report

Subscriptions For Park Building Program Mount To $20,050

The movement for the return of professional baseball for Monroe and and West Monroe gained momentum the past week as pledges since last Sunday almost doubled the total for the two previous weeks, and the promise of organized ball by next spring in the Twin Cities is beginning to look brighter.

A total of $20,050 has been pledged in three weeks, representing more than one fourth of the estimated $75,000 needed to build a new baseball plant and put the club in operation.

PLEDGES

Previously acknowledged	$13,450
Sunshine Dry Cleaners and Laundry	100
Hugh W. Davis	100
C. C. Bell, Jr.	100
A. C. Ransom	100
Ouachita Cigar and Tobacco Company	100

Central Auto Sales Co. "Sticky" Steele, Pete Godwin)	500
Saul Adler	1,000
W. "Bill" McCain	1,000
Clifford Strauss	1,000
Total	$20,050

The response from business houses and business men highlighted the week's incoming pledges with Wilmot "Bill" McCain, Sam Adler, and Clifford Strauss leading the way with donations of $1,000 each. The $2,500 pledge by F. "Pap" Strauss is still tops as an individual pledgeor with $2,500.

The big subscription by Clifford Strauss is in addition to the land which he and S. K. Henninger jointly contributed on Forsythe avenue for the building of the proposed park.

Until this week, with few exceptions, most of the pledging for the baseball cause has been on a voluntary basis and will continue as such, but beginning this week baseball-minded businessmen will begin making personal calls on their friends and fans in the interest of shoving the total toward the desired goal as soon as possible.

The speed with which a plant can be put in readiness for baseball will depend on how quickly the needed $75,000 can be assured.

Shares of stock in the proposed baseball corporation are selling for $100 each and each share is worth a vote in the affairs of the organization.

LOUISE SUGGS MAKES WESTERN GRAND SLAM

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Completing the first double-slam in the half century history of Western competition, Louise Suggs of Atlanta, Georgia, saved her best shots for the final round today to trounce Newcomer Carol Diringer of Tiffin, Ohio, 9 and 8, and win the Women's Western Amateur golf championship.

The triumph earned Miss Suggs a niche in the W. W. G. A. hall of fame as the first golfer to win both the Western Amateur and Western Open in successive years.

The petite, 112-pound Georgia lassie shot some of the finest golf in the last eight years of Women's Western Golf Association tournaments to beat her 21-year-old chic foe by knocking two strokes off par figures for the 28 holes required.

The victory was nearly as overwhelming as the record-breaking lopsided, 11 and 10, win, Miss Suggs accomplished over Mary McMillin of Green Bay, Wisconsin, in grabbing the 1946 Western Amateur. The 5-foot-3-inch Miss Suggs won the Western Open last year with a 2-up margin over Patty Berg, and added the 1947 Open last June in her home town by beating Dot Kirby of Atlanta 4 and 2.

ANYWAY, YOCHIM GETS NOD AS BEST CHUNKER

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 16.—(AP)—An irony of the Evangeline League pitching situation is that—statistically speaking—a man who has pitched only two games, has a better average than a man who has won 19.

Here's the setup, according to official figures released by the league today:

Johnny White of Abbeville has won two and lost none, to top the percentage column with 1.000. Immediately behind him is Lenny Yochim of New Iberia with 19 wins against but three defeats. Number three in the race is Warren Kanagy of Thibodaux with 18 and 3.

The others among the leading half dozen pitchers in the loop, and their records:

Paul Bruno, Hammond, 22 and 5; Barney DeForge, Natchez, 12 and 4; and Hugh Sooter of Alexandria, 18 and 7.

The batting leaders:

Al Aucoin, Abbeville—.358; Yochim, New Iberia—.349; C. Smith, Alexandria—.347; Harry Strohm, Alexandria—.345; Bill Cox, Abbeville—.344; Bruno, Hammond—.339.

An odd sidenote is the fact that Bruno and Yochim managed to rate among the top hitters as well as to hold their own among the men who give the best batsmen a bad time from the mound.

VANDERBILT GRID WORK WILL START AUGUST 25

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Football practice for Vanderbilt University hopefuls will begin on August 25, Coach Henry R. (Red) Sanders, said today.

A varsity squad of 67—including 11 freshmen—is scheduled to report for the opening workout.

"We had planned to put the boys to work on September 1 as usual, but I can't see any reason why we should wait an extra week while the other teams in the conference are drilling," said Sanders.

CHINESE MATMAN BIDS FOR CRAIG'S TITLE THIS WEEK

Walter Achiu Faces State Light Heavyweight Champion Tuesday

The tough Chinese matman, Walter Achiu of Honolulu, Hawaii, comes back to Gus Kallio's Arena Tuesday night to make his second bid for the Louisiana state light heavyweight wrestling championship against George Craig, Tulsa, Okla., who last week won the state crown for the third time.

Claiming he didn't get a "square deal" two weeks ago when he made his debut here in the title tournament when Achiu was disqualified by Referee Bill Barney in his match with Craig who went on to win the belt.

Promoter Kallio offered Achiu a "build up" match with Chris Belkas, and Craig desired to wait a week or two to see that Achiu could do in the meantime.

But the China boy declared he didn't consider Belkas much of a build up opponent since Belkas was beaten in the same tournament by Rex Mobley who lost to Craig in the finals.

"I want to wrestle with the best, and I can beat them too, so why should I take a match with the men that have already been beaten far down the line," Achiu declared. "It doesn't mean anything if I wrestle Belkas, but, if you get me the match with Craig, I'll show you I can really beat him if the referee will let me do some real wrestling.

"I'm a drawing card anywhere I go, and all the real fans are for me. I'm in the business to make money, and I understand the belt holder gets extra money. So that's what I want—the title and more money."

Craig couldn't do more than accept the challenge and declared he would be willing to meet Achiu without a referee.

"I'll show him how things are done without a referee. He thinks he's tough, but his big talking won't help him in the ring. In fact he had better keep his big mouth closed or I'm liable to lose my temper," Craig declared.

But the no-referee business is out, and Promoter Kallio said last night that Bill Barney would be back in the ring this week to handle the brawl. Barney, however, has declared he is willing to give the job to anybody who figures they can do a better job, declaring, "Achiu is hard to watch and hard on referees. I'll do my best, but the job is open to anyone who would like to take it."

Craig and Achiu will battle over an hour and a half time limit with two falls to win.

Allen "Sailor" Parker, the master showman and a former Louisiana state champ from Nashville, Tenn., will appear in the semi-final event against Carlos Rodriquez, a Mexican tussler only recently appearing over the southern circuit and coming to Monroe for the first time.

Kallio last night said the winner of the match was being put in line for a title scrap with the winner of the Craig-Achiu scramble. The curtain-raiser will have an hour time limit with two falls to win.

EYRE TIES RUSSELL FOR MEDAL HONORS

Billy Eyre yesterday climbed into a tie for medal honors in the first annual Twin City Junior Golf Tournament when he fired an 82 over the Municipal Golf Club's course here to go into a deadlock with Billy Russell.

Qualifying for the event ends today, and Pro Jean Shirah last night said a good turn out of the 18-year-olds and under was expected over the Muny links today.

In addition to Eyre and Russell, other qualifiers are John Wooten, 83; Edell Blanks, 89; Jack Doss, 91; and Fred Joiner, 99.

The first round of play in the tournament is scheduled to be completed by Tuesday night, and the second round will be over by Thursday night. The finals are scheduled for next Sunday.

GEORGIA TECH GRIDIRON PROSPECT 'INELIGIBLE'

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 16.—(AP)—James (Red) Patton, who last season was described as a "great prospect" for Army's football team, has been ruled eligible to play for Georgia Tech, over protests of the University of Alabama, the Atlanta Journal said tonight.

In a signed dispatch from Sports Editor Ed Harris of the Knoxville Journal, the paper reported that Dean N. W. Daugherty of Tennessee, acting commissioner of the Southeastern Conference, had sent his ruling to Head Coach Robert Dodd of Tech and Athletic Director Frank Thomas of Alabama.

Thomas is confined to Duke Hospital at Durham, N. C., and Dodd is at a coaching clinic at Fayetteville, Ark.

Patton's eligibility was challenged by Alabama, which claimed the former schoolboy star signed a grant-in-aid before entering the army. Tech countered that he never had reported to Alabama and had entered Tech after release from the army last spring.

LONGSHORE, WATERS IN GAIN IN ALABAMA MEET

MOBILE, Ala., Aug. 16.—(AP)—The rains let up long enough today for Leslie Longshore of Anniston and Harcourt Waters of New Orleans to move into the semi-finals of the Alabama State Tennis Tournament.

Waters, smooth-stroking young netter from the Crescent City, sprang a mild upset by eliminating the veteran Mike McLaney, also of New Orleans, 6-4, 6-4.

Waters, ranked fifth, was required to win only two games today to complete his win over the third-seeded McLaney. Rain interrupted their match yesterday after Waters had taken the first set, 6-4, and the score had been tied at four-all in the second.

In another quarter-finals match played between showers, Longshore eliminated Vince Distefano of New Orleans, 9-7, 6-1.

Mrs. Lila Porter of Mobile gained a hard-earned victory over Doris Middleton of New Orleans to move into the finals of the women's singles. The scores were 9-7, 3-6, 6-4.

Rain interrupted their match yesterday after Mrs. Porter, seeded No. 2, had won the first set, 9-7. The New Orleans player took the second set, and Mrs. Porter held a 5-4 lead in the third when a heavy shower forced them to the sidelines. After the courts had been swept clear, Mrs. Porter came back to win the final game and the match.

In tomorrow afternoon's finals, Mrs. Porter will meet top-seeded Gerry Waterhouse of New Orleans.

Clarks Game At Winnsboro In North Louisiana Playoff Reset For Monday

The Olla Tigers and the LaSalle Oilers of Jena, all square with a victory each in their semi-final playoff for the North Louisiana League championship, square off in their third encounter this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Oilers' Good Pine park.

The Winnsboro-Clarks series, will be resumed Monday night at Winnsboro with the charges of Co-Managers John Nicosia and Lantz Womack moving into the title finals if they are successful in beating the Lumberjacks again tomorrow.

Meanwhile, the Red Sox won't be idle as they are appearing in an exhibition contest this afternoon at 3 o'clock against the Esso Oilers of Baton Rouge at Winnsboro's Memorial Park.

Since the Olla-Jena series is all even, a fourth game is certain for the Olla home fans.

Manager E. C. Hinton's Bengals took the opener last Sunday, 9 to 3, but they succumbed to the charges of Manager Mel Didier at Clarks Thursday night after a rousing 12-inning battle that was finally turned into a rout as the Oilers rallied for eight runs in the twelfth and a 14-6 victory.

The score was knotted at 6-6 after nine innings of regulation play, but the uphill fighting Oilers steamed in at the finish with one of their most impressive rallies of the season.

If the semi-final winners are determined this week, the championship finals will begin next Sunday over a four-out-of-seven distance.

STAGG, AT 85, MAPPING NEW GRID STRATEGY FOR TESTS AT SUSQUEHANNA

STOCKTON, Calif., Aug. 16.—(AP)—At 85, the "Grand Old Man" of football still is bent on out-thinking the foe.

Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg celebrated his 85th birthday today working on a new system of offense on which he began to tinker at College of Pacific last season.

He plans to give the system a workout at his new berth this fall at Susquehanna University in Selingsgrove, Pa., where he will be associated with his son, Amos Alonzo, Jr. It will be the senior Stagg's 58th football season.

The longtime University of Chicago coach became coach emeritus at College of Pacific last fall, after 14 years here.

This will be the greatest year in the history of football, Stagg told interviewers. Coaches have the best of last year's banner crop of players reinforced by eager, young athletes just entering varsity competition.

He sees no evidence of new styles of play, he said, aside from a tendency toward the T formation that has been growing in popularity of late years.

With white-haired Mrs. Stagg, who is as much of a gridiron enthusiast as her husband, the venerable coach will leave his home here for Selingsgrove in about two weeks.

MAKE PLANS FOR BOWLING SEASON

Snappy Lanes Inviting Keglers To Register For League Competition

With the bowling season rapidly closing in, Snappy Bowling Lanes here will begin reconditioning for the surge of organized activity beginning next month, and it was announced last night by Lou Harris, manager of the alleys, that Snappy Lanes would be closed this week while resurfacing of the alleys is in progress.

However, the "front office" will be open as usual and men, women, and high school students planning to take part in the activity of various leagues this season are being invited to come in and register.

"We want to know how many individuals and teams are interested in bowling league activity for the next few months," Harris said, 'and it is necessary that we have a clear picture of what to expect so that we will be better able to give the bowlers what they want to make their leagues successful."

The alleys, after the resurfacing work, will be opened for play again next Saturday, according to present plans.

League play is scheduled to open September 8, and several teams are already lined up, and others are seeking sponsors.

SOUTH ALL-STARS NIP NORTH, 7 TO 6

Southern Prep Aces Start Strong, But North Takes Play In Last Half

SHREVEPORT, La., Aug. 16.—(AP)—The Southern All-Stars eked out a 7-6 victory over the Northern All-Stars last night as the hand-picked teams of last year's high school grid great in Louisiana closed the annual coaching school of the Louisiana High School Coaches Association.

The South outplayed the North consistently during the first half and indicated they would make it a walkaway win but the Northern Louisiana boys came back in the last half to roll up 205 yards net gains compared with 101 for the South.

The South hit pay dirt late in the first half when Al Hanzo, of Holy Cross, went around his left end from the one-foot line to score and then converted on an identical play.

The touchdown was set up after the North punted to the South 42 and a series of running plays and a 12-yard pass brought the ball to the North's 21 yard stripe.

Henry Hahn, of Baston, skirted left end for 10 and a first down on the North 11. Hahn then added another yard as did Charlie Villavoso, of Jesuit, Monroe Caballero, of Jesuit, South quarterback, weaved through the line to the one-foot mark from which Hanzo crossed for the touchdown and converted.

The North scored its tally midway the last quarter after Willie White, of Nichols, intercepted a North pass behind the South goal and carried it out to the one-yard marker. Elbert Van Buren, South halfback from Metairie, kicked out to Joe Tabb, who brought it back to the South 25. The North was penalized five yards for excessive time out but Ray Porta, of Istrouma, the North's captain, drove to the 16. Don Kelly, of Fair Park, Shreveport, tossed a touchdown pass to Jessie Walton, of Istrouma.

A fumble spoiled the North's attempt to convert.

CIVIC CLUB LEAGUE RESUMES ACTIVITY

The Civic Club Softball League moves into its second half of play Tuesday with a new member, the West Monroe Kiwanis, taking over in the place of the Jaycees who recently entered the newly organized Autumn League.

Performing in the Civic Club circuit during the last half will be the Optimist Club, West Monroe Kiwanis, Monroe Kiwanis, and Exchange Club with the top club at the close of the schedule to meet the Monroe Kiwanis, first half winners, in a series for the league championship.

Tuesday's games have the Optimist facing West Monroe Kiwanis at 6:45 and Monroe Kiwanis tackling the Exchange Club at 8:30 o'clock, both games to be played on the Barkdull Faulk diamond.

KNOW THEIR OATS

UNIVERSITY, Miss.—It's more than a coincidence that Johnny Vaught and Johnny Cain were 1932 all-America performers, for Vaught, a T. C. U. guard, was for three seasons an all-Southwest performer and Cain, Alabama fullback, was an all-Southern conference fullback during his three varsity campaigns. To top it off, Vaught, Ole Miss new head football coach, played for two seasons under Francis Schmidt, then wound up his career under Dutch Meyers. Cain, who started out under Wallace Wade, played his senior season as Frank Thomas' backfield ace.

SPATAFORA'S LOSE OUT AT ALEXANDRIA

ALEXANDRIA, La., Aug. 16.—(AP)—The Ethyls of Baton Rouge will meet the Cheneyville nine Sunday afternoon in the semi-finals of the three-day state softball tournament being played here. The winner will then take on Lake Charles in the finals Sunday night.

Lake Charles had previously defeated Ethyl, 2-0, in a morning game of the double elimination tourney and Johnnie Rush, by the same score tonight. Ethyl came back, however, to defeat Winnfield, 10-9, and Johnnie Rush of Alexandria, 3-2.

Spatafora's Pharmacy of Monroe, which lost to the Ethyls in their opener Friday, 10-5, bowed out of the tournament this morning under a 3-2 extra inning defeat at the hands of Norco Athletic Club.

The Spats, who outhit Norco, 7 to 5, jumped into a two run lead in the first inning when Haddad was safe on an error, advanced on Ralph Marionneaux's single, and both runners came home on an error. But Norco tied it up in the same frame when Ayme, Norco second baseman, homered after Scheynayder had reached first on an error. In the eighth inning Davis singled for Norco, advanced on an infield out and scored on an error. Marionneaux led the hitting for the Monroe team with three hits in four times at bat. Ayme got two hits to spark Norco.

SOUTHERN

BEARS SWAMP TRAVS

MOBILE, Ala., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Mobile's Bears made it two straight over the Little Rock Travelers tonight, 14-3. The Bruins sewed up the battle in the first two frames when they plastered Carl Lindquist for four hits and six runs.

Score by innings:

Little Rock	0	1	0	0	0	0	2	3	6	4
Mobile	3	3	0	0	2	4x	—	14	13	0

Lindquist, Johnson (3) and Sears; McBlothin and Dapper.

VOLS BEST BARONS

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Nashville's Vols won their second straight game in the four-game series with the Birmingham Barons tonight 6 to 2.

Score by innings:

Birmingham	2	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	9	3
Nashville	4	1	0	0	0	1	0x	—	6	13	0

Schmidt and Erault; Twardy and Walker.

LOOKOUTS TAME CRACKERS

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Ken Gables handcuffed the Chattanooga Lookouts for seven innings here tonight to snap the Niehoffmens winning streak at four games and defeat the Crackers, 11 to 4.

Score by innings:

Atlanta	0	0	0	1	0	5	0	4	1	9	1
Chattanooga	0	0	0	1	0	2	1	—	4	8	0

Gables and Mathis: Toenes, Zukowski (6), Miller (8) and Garbark.

PELS ROUT CHICKS

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The New Orleans Pelicans slammed two Memphis pitchers hard and often here tonight to take a 13-6 decision from the visitors.

Score by innings:

Memphis	0	1	0	0	2	1	0	2	6	11	5
New Orleans	5	4	0	0	3	1	0	0x	—13	14	0

Sherer, Appleby (2) and Reibe; Sunkel and Walters.

THE TIGER ROARED

UNIVERSITY, Miss.—Ole Miss is the only team in history to whip L. S. U.'s Bengals four times hand-running, on the Tigers' own field. The skein, spun from 1938 through 1941, developed 20-7, 14-7, 19-6 and 13-12 results. The Rebs since have dropped three contests.

There are approximately 189 different species of trees listed as growing in the State according to the Louisiana Forestry Commission.

SAME OLD STORY FOR MISSISSIPPI

It Will Be Another Conerly To Poole Aerial Roundup For Rebs This Year

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Aug. 16.—(Special)—The story on Ole Miss football this autumn will be another "Conerly to Poole" aerial roundup—with few variations.

The principal changeover finds Barney Poole, all-America end at West Point in 1944 and 1946, replacing Brother Ray at left end for the Rebels. Otherwise, the picture's about the same.

The "Conerly-Poole" angle will have to be good if Johnny Vaught's charges are to get by, for from Kentucky on—September 20 through November 29—there's only one soft week end and it'll be served in the form of an open date.

The schedule calls for the Rebs to tackle Kentucky, Florida, South Carolina, Vanderbilt, Tulane, Louisiana State, Tennessee and Chattanooga on successive Saturdays, then spend two weeks preparing for Mississippi State.

Right now Kentucky, The Ole Miss homecoming foe, is claiming most of Vaught's attention. A good many fans and alumni feel the same way, apparently, for ticket sales to date indicate a capacity audience will sit in on the contest.

Conerly, who operates under the name of Charley, is a key figure in pre-season figuring for the tussle. An all-Southeastern halfback last year, he completed 65 of 124 tosses and should be able to pick up where he left off.

He'll be backed by a stronger running game, for one thing, and will have more experienced help up front. Barney Poole should be able to take over for Ray, even though Ray set a new Rebel aerial mark with 29 receptions and topped things off by scoring the same number of points.

As things stand now, the team that will open against Kentucky will have Poole and Hairline Harper at ends, Bill Erickson and Jimmy Clark at tackles, Phillip Poole and Jimmy Clark at guards, Dave Bridgers at center and, in the backfield, Buddy Bowen at quarterback, Conerly at left half, Jerry Tiblir or Farley Salmon at right half and 'Bama Jenkins at full.

The deal on revisions will be developed after September 1, when "fall" drills get underway.

BAG CO. SUPERINTENDENT DIES IN LOCAL HOSPITAL

James B. Forte, 47, superintendent of the Terminal Paper Bag Company of West Monroe and connected with the organization for 28 years, died last night in a Monroe hospital.

Mr. Forte, whose home is at 208 Austin avenue, West Monroe, is survived by his wife; four daughters, Mrs. Jerome Danna, Mrs. Sam Danna, Mrs. Jesse Luther, Jr., and Miss Ann Forte, all of Monroe and West Monroe; three brothers, Ralph Forte, Fred Forte, Nick Forte, all of Brooklyn, New York; three sisters, Mrs. Frank Kraft, Long Island, New York, and Mrs. Joe Materzero and Mrs. Eddie Kennedy, Brooklyn; and three grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements, being handled by Mulhearn Funeral Home, had not been completed late last night, but requiem mass is expected to be held at St. Paschal's Catholic Church, West Monroe, with the Rev. Arsenius Gatzemeier officiating. Interment is to take place in St. Paschal's Cemetery.

GRAND AMERICAN OPENING MONDAY

Record Entry Of Nation's Scattergun Artists Converge On Dayton

By Fritz Howell

DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The nation's scattergun crackshots were converging today on nearby Vandalia for Monday's opening of the week-long 48th annual roaring Grand American Trapshoot.

Last year a record field of 1,478 sprayed leaden pellets along the quarter-mile firing line, and this year's entry is expected to eclipse that. Entries have been received from all the 48 states, most of Canada's provinces, Cuba and the Canal Zone.

Close to a million and a half rounds of 12-gauge ammunition will blown away at clay targets which, if stacked saucer-like atop each other, would reach almost 12 miles into the air. The leaden pellets, at an ounce and an eighth per shell, will total around 56 tons.

Top event of the week's barrage is the Grand American Handicap, the big windup in which the marksmen are given distance handicaps corresponding with their shooting averages and ability, the better ones being placed far back from the traps which send the discs flying into the air.

No shooter has ever won the big prize more than once, and few favorites have ever grabbed the laurels, some "unknown from nowhere" generally emerging with the coveted trophy and the long end of the $10,000 handicap prize.

Among the winners have been a 14-year-old boy, a 70-year-old man, preachers, mechanics, air line pilots, railway conductors, farmers, bookkeepers, highway workers and oil well operators.

Other races are for juniors, women, husbands and wives, fathers and sons, state champions and state teams, all of which will be fired from the 16-yard mark.

About $50,000 in prize money will be distributed to the victors, along with an enormous amount of silver trophies.

SPORTS ROUND UP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

By Joseph B. Kelley
(Pinch-Hitting For Hugh Fullerton, Jr.)

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Racket stuff: National Champion Jack Kramer, who resembles Ellie Vines more than any of the current tennis headliners, intends to follow his idol's steps into pro golf after he tires of court play. . . He is convinced that, as Vines did, he will find place for pay golf much more profitable than pro tennis in the long run.

Although handsome Frankie Shields now confines his tennis to week-ends he's still the idol of the fashionable Newport Casino galleries. Regardless what pair of classy, developing youngsters play on the grandstand court, sub debbies—yes and matrons—rush to the most distant court whenever ex-filmster Shields is performing . . . He still gives more autographs than all of the game's present top 20.

Ambitious youngsters will have their only chance to make the U. S. Davis Cup team during next week's national doubles at Brookline. Non-playing Captain Alrich Man has indicated that the selections committee will string along with Jack Kramer and Ted Schroeder for all four singles assignments and the only available berth will go to the doubles teams which finishes first or second at Longwood.

Still A Blue Uniform

There is a New England League umpire using a "nom de baseball" because he fears his hometown superiors might force him to decide between umpiring and being a policeman—his regular job.

Bulb Baseball Big Business

New Englanders, and summer vacationists hereabouts, have evidenced a fondness for night baseball. In 21 after dark contests so far this season 539,311 have paid to see the National Leaguers perform at Braves Field. Thirteen lighted tilts at Fenway Park, home of the Red Sox, have attracted a total paid attendance of 429,139. This is the second year for lights at the Wigwam and the first at Fenway.

Matrimonial Ice Note

The Church of the Messiah in adjacent Newton will be a gathering place for hockey fans and players next Friday when Woody (Porky) Dumart of the Boston Bruins will be married to Miss Phyllis Johnson. Among the guests will be Woody's mates on the Bruins' famous "kraut line," Bobby Bauer and Milt Schmidt. All are from Kitchener, Ont., and frequently are referred to as the ice sport's "Kitchener Kids."

Double Training Table

Clipper Smith, Boston Yanks' football coach, has introduced an innovation at the National League club's training camp at nearby St. John's Prep, Danvers, Mass. Some of the big men are too heavy and some of the others need to be built up, says the Clipper. So he has a "fat men's table, and a "thin men's" table. Sugar, butter and desserts are missing from the former. Back Joe Golding, erstwhile Oklahoma speedster, is the "thinnest" of the thin men at 181. Hartford's Al Sidorik, former Mississippi State star, is the champ at the sweetless table. Al started training at a mere 270 pounds.

Nearly Quit, Now All Star

The Braves' Bob Elliott, selected by the nation's fans at the National League's best third baseman, nearly quit the game in 1939. Tired of playing class B ball he up and told officials of the Pittsburgh Pirates who then owned him he was going to quit if he couldn't be advanced. The Pirates sweetened his check and sent him to Toronto where he had a good year and was brought up to the big time to stay at the end of that season.

BOXER DIES OF INJURIES

NORTH ADAMS, Miss., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Glenn Newton Smith, 23, Philadelphia middleweight boxer, died today at North Adams Hospital of injuries suffered last night in a bout with Sam Baroudi of Akron, Ohio.

Dr. Arthur Burckel, Meadowbrook Bowl Club physician and associate medical examiner, said Smith, who was knocked out in the ninth round of a scheduled 10-round bout, apparently died of a cerebral hemorrhage caused by a blow to the base of the skull.

PIRATES CHECK CARDS

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The pennant hopes of the St. Louis Cardinals got a setback today as the seventh place Pittsburgh Pirates smashed out seven home runs to defeat last year's world champion's 12 to 7 in a game that saw the major League home run record tied at 10.

The amazing Pirates also came within one of tying the major league standard of 8 homers for one club in a single game set by the New York Yankees against the Philadelphia A's in 1939.

BRAVES TRIM GIANTS

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The Boston Braves made it two in a row over the Giants tonight, defeating the New Yorkers 4-1 in a game called after one was out in the sixth inning because of a heavy mist. The victory, before 25,949 fans, most of whom remained through the half hour tilt, gave the tribe an advantage of a game and a half over the Giants in the battle between the two clubs for third place in the National League standings. Manager Mel Ott of the Giants argued with the umpires over calling the game, to no avail.

QUALIFYING STARTS FOR JUNIOR EVENT

Qualifying for the Ouachita Parish Junior Golf Tournament to be conducted over the McGuire Park Club's layout in West Monroe, gets underway tomorrow, Pro Johnny Myers said last night.

Myers has been busy for the past several weeks training young talent by giving one day each week for free instruction, and several good golfing prospects are taking advantage of the classes.

The tournament, first of its kind for McGuire Park, is designed to stimulate interest among the youngsters and develop possible future golfing greats to bring credit to Monroe and West Monroe. It will be a match play event.

GIVE SOFTBALL AWARDS HERE WEDNESDAY NIGHT

A dance for members of teams competing in the City, Senior, and Girls' softball leagues here this summer will be highlighted Wednesday night by the presentation of trophies to the championship Spatafora's Pharmacy club of the City League, and Lovers' Lane Pharmacy of the Girls' League. The Senior League titlist has not yet been determined.

The program will be held at the Monroe Recreation Center, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, and members of the various teams are invited to have as their guests their wives, husbands or "dates".

The Lovers' Lane girls, appearing in action for the first time since winning their league title, will play an exhibition game this afternoon with The Wo

SOUTH ALL-STARS NIP NORTH, 7 TO 6

Southern Prep Aces Start Strong, But North Takes Play In Last Half

SHREVEPORT, La., Aug. 16.—(AP)—The Southern All-Stars eked out a 7-6 victory over the Northern All-Stars last night as the hand-picked teams of last year's high school grid great in Louisiana closed the annual coaching school of the Louisiana High School Coaches Association.

The South outplayed the North consistently during the first half and indicated they would make it a walkaway win but the Northern Louisiana boys came back in the last half to roll up 205 yards net gains compared with 101 for the South.

The South hit pay dirt late in the first half when Al Hanzo, of Holy Cross, went around his left end from the one-foot line to score and then converted on an identical play.

The touchdown was set up after the North punted to the South 42 and a series of running plays and a 12-yard pass brought the ball to the North's 21 yard stripe.

Henry Hahn, of Easton, skirted left end for 10 and a first down on the North 11. Hahn then added another yard as did Charlie Villavoso, of Jesuit, Monroe Caballero, of Jesuit, South quarterback, weaved through the line to the one-foot mark from which Hanzo crossed for the touchdown and converted.

The North scored its tally midway the last quarter after Willie White, of Nichols, intercepted a North pass behind the South goal and carried it out to the one-yard marker. Elbert Van Buren, South halfback from Metairie, kicked out to Joe Tabb, who brought it back to the South 25. The North was penalized five yards for excessive time out but Ray Porta, of Istrouma, the North's captain, drove to the 16. Don Kelly, of Fair Park, Shreveport, tossed a touchdown pass to Jessie Walton, of Istrouma.

A fumble spoiled the North's attempt to convert.

CIVIC CLUB LEAGUE RESUMES ACTIVITY

The Civic Club Softball League moves into its second half of play Tuesday with a new member, the West Monroe Kiwanis, taking over in the place of the Jaycees who recently entered the newly organized Autumn League.

Performing in the Civic Club circuit during the last half will be the Optimist Club, West Monroe Kiwanis, Monroe Kiwanis, and Exchange Club with the top club at the close of the schedule to meet the Monroe Kiwanis, first half winners, in a series for the league championship.

Tuesday's games have the Optimist facing West Monroe Kiwanis at 6:45 and Monroe Kiwanis tackling the Exchange Club at 8:30 o'clock, both games to be played on the Barkdull Faulk diamond.

KNOW THEIR OATS

UNIVERSITY, Miss.—It's more than a coincidence that Johnny Vaught and Johnny Cain were 1932 all-America performers, for Vaught, a T. C. U. guard, was for three seasons an all-Southwest performer and Cain, Alabama fullback, was an all-Southern conference fullback during his three varsity campaigns. To top it off, Vaught, Ole Miss new head football coach, played for two seasons under Francis Schmidt, then wound up his career under Dutch Meyers. Cain, who started out under Wallace Wade, played his senior season as Frank Thomas' backfield ace.

SPATAFORA'S LOSE OUT AT ALEXANDRIA

ALEXANDRIA, La., Aug. 16.—(AP)—The Ethyls of Baton Rouge will meet the Cheneyville nine Sunday afternoon in the semi-finals of the three-day state softball tournament being played here. The winner will then take on Lake Charles in the finals Sunday night.

Lake Charles had previously defeated Ethyl, 2-0, in a morning game of the double elimination tourney and Johnnie Rush, by the same score tonight. Ethyl came back, however, to defeat Winnfield, 10-9, and Johnnie Rush of Alexandria, 3-2.

Spatafora's Pharmacy of Monroe, which lost to the Ethyls in their opener Friday, 10-5, bowed out of the tournament this morning under a 3-2 extra inning defeat at the hands of Norco Athletic Club.

The Spats, who outhit Norco, 7 to 5, jumped into a two run lead in the first inning when Haddad was safe on an error, advanced on Ralph Marionneaux's single, and both runners came home on an error. But Norco tied it up in the same frame when Ayme, Norco second baseman, homered after Scheynayder had reached first on an error. In the eighth inning Davis singled for Norco, advanced on an infield out and scored on an error. Marionneaux led the hitting for the Monroe team with three hits in four times at bat. Ayme got two hits to spark Norco.

THE TIGER ROARED

UNIVERSITY, Miss.—Ole Miss is the only team in history to whip L. S. U.'s Bengals four times hand-running, on the Tigers' own field. The skein, spun from 1938 through 1941, developed 20-7, 14-7, 19-6 and 13-12 results. The Rebs since have dropped three contests.

There are approximately 189 different species of trees listed as growing in the State according to the Louisiana Forestry Commission.

SAME OLD STORY FOR MISSISSIPPI

It Will Be Another Conerly To Poole Aerial Roundup For Rebs This Year

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Aug. 16.—(Special)—The story on Ole Miss football this autumn will be another "Conerly to Poole" aerial roundup—with few variations.

The principal changeover finds Barney Poole, all-America end at West Point in 1944 and 1946, replacing Brother Ray at left end for the Rebels. Otherwise, the picture's about the same.

The "Conerly-Poole" angle will have to be good if Johnny Vaught's charges are to get by, for from Kentucky on—September 20 through November 29—there's only one soft week end and it'll be served in the form of an open date.

The schedule calls for the Rebs to tackle Kentucky, Florida, South Carolina, Vanderbilt, Tulane, Louisiana State, Tennessee and Chattanooga on successive Saturdays, then spend two weeks preparing for Mississippi State.

Right now Kentucky, The Ole Miss homecoming foe, is claiming most of Vaught's attention. A good many fans and alumni feel the same way, apparently, for ticket sales to date indicate a capacity audience will sit in on the contest.

Conerly, who operates under the name of Charley, is a key figure in pre-season figuring for the tussle. An all-Southeastern halfback last year, he completed 65 of 124 tosses and should be able to pick up where he left off.

He'll be backed by a stronger running game, for one thing, and will have more experienced help up front. Barney Poole should be able to take over for Ray, even though Ray set a new Rebel aerial mark with 29 receptions and topped things off by scoring the same number of points.

As things stand now, the team that will open against Kentucky will have Poole and Hairline Harper at ends, Bill Erickson and Jimmy Clark at tackles, Phillip Poole and Jimmy Clark at guards, Dave Bridgers at center and, in the backfield, Buddy Bowen at quarterback, Conerly at left half, Jerry Tiblir or Farley Salmon at right half and 'Bama Jenkins at full.

The deal on revisions will be developed after September 1, when "fall" drills get underway.

BAG CO. SUPERINTENDENT DIES IN LOCAL HOSPITAL

James B. Forte, 47, superintendent of the Terminal Paper Bag Company of West Monroe and connected with the organization for 28 years, died last night in a Monroe hospital.

Mr. Forte, whose home is at 208 Austin avenue, West Monroe, is survived by his wife; four daughters, Mrs. Jerome Danna, Mrs. Sam Danna, Mrs. Jesse Luther, Jr., and Miss Ann Forte, all of Monroe and West Monroe; three brothers, Ralph Forte, Fred Forte, Nick Forte, all of Brooklyn, New York; three sisters, Mrs. Frank Kraft, Long Island, New York, and Mrs. Joe Materzero and Mrs. Eddie Kennedy, Brooklyn; and three grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements, being handled by Mulhearn Funeral Home, had not been completed late last night, but requiem mass is expected to be held at St. Paschal's Catholic Church, West Monroe, with the Rev. Arsenius Gatzemeier officiating. Interment is to take place in St. Paschal's Cemetery.

STRANAHAN WINS

BOISCHATEL, Que., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Frank Stranahan, U. S. Walker cup star from Toledo, Ohio, won the Canadian amateur golf championship today, defeating Bill Ezinicki of Toronto, 6 and 5, in the 36-hole tournament finals at the Royal Quebec Golf Club.

Fast growing Lounsiana pine trees may increase in volume at the rate of 8 to 12 per cent per year, according to information compiled by the Louisiana Forestry Commission.

GRAND AMERICAN OPENING MONDAY

Record Entry Of Nation's Scattergun Artists Converge On Dayton

By Fritz Howell

DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The nation's scattergun crackshots were converging today on nearby Vandalia for Monday's opening of the week-long 48th annual roaring Grand American Trapshoot.

Last year a record field of 1,478 sprayed leaden pellets along the quarter-mile firing line, and this year's entry is expected to eclipse that. Entries have been received from all the 48 states, most of Canada's provinces, Cuba and the Canal Zone.

Close to a million and a half rounds of 12-gauge ammunition will blown away at clay targets which, if stacked saucer-like atop each other, would reach almost 12 miles into the air. The leaden pellets, at an ounce and an eighth per shell, will total around 56 tons.

Top event of the week's barrage is the Grand American Handicap, the big windup in which the marksmen are given distance handicaps corresponding with their shooting averages and ability, the better ones being placed far back from the traps which send the discs flying into the air.

No shooter has ever won the big prize more than once, and few favorites have ever grabbed the laurels, some "unknown from nowhere" generally emerging with the coveted trophy and the long end of the $10,000 handicap prize.

Among the winners have been a 14-year-old boy, a 70-year-old man, preachers, mechanics, air line pilots, railway conductors, farmers, bookkeepers, highway workers and oil well operators.

Other races are for juniors, women, husbands and wives, fathers and sons, state champions and state teams, all of which will be fired from the 16-yard mark.

About $50,000 in prize money will be distributed to the victors, along with an enormous amount of silver trophies.

SPORTS ROUND UP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

By Joseph B. Kelley
(Pinch-Hitting For Hugh Fullerton, Jr.)

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Racket stuff: National Champion Jack Kramer, who resembles Ellie Vines more than any of the current tennis headliners, intends to follow his idol's steps into pro golf after he tires of court play. . . He is convinced that, as Vines did, he will find place for pay golf much more profitable than pro tennis in the long run.

Although handsome Frankie Shields now confines his tennis to week-ends he's still the idol of the fashionable Newport Casino galleries. Regardless what pair of classy, developing youngsters play on the grandstand court, sub debbies—yes and matrons—rush to the most distant court whenever ex-filmster Shields is performing . . . He still gives more autographs than all of the game's present top 20.

Ambitious youngsters will have their only chance to make the U. S. Davis Cup team during next week's national doubles at Brookline. Non-playing Captain Alrich Man has indicated that the selections committee will string along with Jack Kramer and Ted Schroeder for all four singles assignments and the only available berth will go to the doubles teams which finishes first or second at Longwood.

Still A Blue Uniform

There is a New England League umpire using a "nom de baseball" because he fears his hometown superiors might force him to decide between umpiring and being a policeman—his regular job.

Bulb Baseball Big Business

New Englanders, and summer vacationists hereabouts, have evidenced a fondness for night baseball. In 21 after dark contests so far this season 539,311 have paid to see the National Leaguers perform at Braves Field. Thirteen lighted tilts at Fenway Park, home of the Red Sox, have attracted a total paid attendance of 429,139. This is the second year for lights at the Wigwam and the first at Fenway.

Matrimonial Ice Note

The Church of the Messiah in adjacent Newton will be a gathering place for hockey fans and players next Friday when Woody (Porky) Dumart of the Boston Bruins will be married to Miss Phyllis Johnson. Among the guests will be Woody's mates on the Bruins' famous "kraut line," Bobby Bauer and Milt Schmidt. All are from Kitchener, Ont., and frequently are referred to as the ice sport's "Kitchener Kids."

Double Training Table

Clipper Smith, Boston Yanks' football coach, has introduced an innovation at the National League club's training camp at nearby St. John's Prep, Danvers, Mass. Some of the big men are too heavy and some of the others need to be built up, says the Clipper. So he has a "fat men's table, and a "thin men's" table. Sugar, butter and desserts are missing from the former. Back Joe Golding, erstwhile Oklahoma speedster, is the "thinnest" of the thin men at 181. Hartford's Al Sidorik, former Mississippi State star, is the champ at the weedless table. Al started training at a mere 270 pounds.

Nearly Quit, Now All Star

The Braves' Bob Elliott, selected by the nation's fans at the National League's best third baseman, nearly quit the game in 1939. Tired of playing class B ball he up and told officials of the Pittsburgh Pirates who then owned him he was going to quit if he couldn't be advanced. The Pirates sweetened his check and sent him to Toronto where he had a good year and was brought up to the big time to stay at the end of that season.

BOXER DIES OF INJURIES

NORTH ADAMS, Miss., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Glenn Newton Smith, 23, Philadelphia middleweight boxer, died today at North Adams Hospital of injuries suffered last night in a bout with Sam Baroudi of Akron, Ohio.

Dr. Arthur Burckel, Meadowbrook Bowl Club physician and associate medical examiner, said Smith, who was knocked out in the ninth round of a scheduled 10-round bout, apparently died of a cerebral hemorrhage caused by a blow to the base of the skull.

PIRATES CHECK CARDS

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The pennant hopes of the St. Louis Cardinals got a setback today as the seventh place Pittsburgh Pirates smashed out seven home runs to defeat last year's world champion's 12 to 7 in a game that saw the major League home run record tied at 10.

The amazing Pirates also came within one of tying the major league standard of 8 homers for one club in a single game set by the New York Yankees against the Philadelphia A's in 1939.

BRAVES TRIM GIANTS

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The Boston Braves made it two in a row over the Giants tonight, defeating the New Yorkers 4-1 in a game called after one was out in the sixth inning because of a heavy mist. The victory, before 25,949 fans, most of whom remained through the half hour tilt, gave the tribe an advantage of a game and a half over the Giants in the battle between the two clubs for third place in the National League standings. Manager Mel Ott of the Giants argued with the umpires over calling the game, to no avail.

QUALIFYING STARTS FOR JUNIOR EVENT

Qualifying for the Ouachita Parish Junior Golf Tournament to be conducted over the McGuire Park Club's layout in West Monroe, gets underway tomorrow, Pro Johnny Myers said last night.

Myers has been busy for the past several weeks training young talent by giving one day each week for free instruction, and several good golfing prospects are taking advantage of the classes.

The tournament, first of its kind for McGuire Park, is designed to stimulate interest among the youngsters and develop possible future golfing greats to bring credit to Monroe and West Monroe. It will be a match play event.

GIVE SOFTBALL AWARDS HERE WEDNESDAY NIGHT

A dance for members of teams competing in the City, Senior, and Girls' softball leagues here this summer will be highlighted Wednesday night by the presentation of trophies to the championship Spatafora's Pharmacy club of the City League, and Lovers' Lane Pharmacy of the Girls' League. The Senior League titlist has not yet been determined.

The program will be held at the Monroe Recreation Center, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, and members of the various teams are invited to have as their guests their wives, husbands or "dates".

The Lovers' Lane girls, appearing in action for the first time since winning their league title, will play an exhibition game this afternoon with The Woman's Shop, a league rival that started slow but was coming along fast when the schedule closed. The game will begin at 3 o'clock on the Barkdull Faulk lot.

'SONNY' ELLIS ADVANCES TO COLONIAL SEMI-FINAL

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Albert Stone, Jr., of Jackson, Tenn., went out against a pair of Louisiana State University golfers in the Colonial Country Club Invitational Tournament today—and when one couldn't beat him, the other did.

Stone, a University of Mississippi linksman, took a 3 and 2 second-round victory over Jimmy Whittenberg of Memphis, the L. S. U. team captain who defeated Stone a couple of weeks ago for the Tennessee state title.

But a couple of hours later in the quarter-finals, Medalist Sonny Ellis of Columbus, Ga., a teammate of Wittenberg, squared his match with Stone on the 18th hole and won it on the 19th. Ellis had

ORA FIELD HAS 2 MORE PRODUCERS

Shell Gets Its 6th Out Of 8 Tries; Another For Sellars-Ewing Co.

Two new producers, both gauging far more than the allowable 90 barrels per day, were completed in Union parish's Ora field during the week. They were the Shell company's Frost Lumber Co. A-11 and the Sellars-Ewing company's Monzingo-Rivers No. 3.

The A-11 is Shell's sixth successful operation against two dry holes, and the company has four other wells in the process of drilling. It was officially rated as flowing from 2,132-46 feet at the rate of 198 barrels per day through a 1/4-inch choke. Corrected gravity of the oil was given as 34.

The Monzingo-Rivers No. 3 flowed at the rate of 134 barrels per day through a 12/64-inch choke after perforation at 2,112-22 feet. Gravity was 28.7. This well is in the south 10-acre offset of the Sellars-Ewing discovery. The same operators' Perry J. Tucker No. 1 and No. 2, three miles southwest, both reported as "assured producers" have not been gauged officially.

The Harvey G. Fields No. 1 is the name of a well to be drilled by the Sellars-Ewing oil interests 330 feet south and 1,669 feet east of section 24-22N-1W, a short distance northeast of the discovery and the Shell group. The unit was named for Harvey G. Fields, Farmerville lawyer, former U. S. district attorney and current candidate for state attorney general, who is part owner of the 40-acre tract on which the location is situated.

Oil men Saturday were awaiting announcement by G. T. (Pat) Hudson, the "lone wolf" operator, on the results of his experiments with the wildcat J. W. Holloway No. 1, six miles north of the Ora field, which he bought from the Rev. R. W. Rhodes after efforts to complete it had proved unsuccessful. The new owner was saying nothing but there were persistent rumors that he was about to "bring in a good one." The well was reported to have had 12 feet of heavily-saturated sand at just above 2,200 feet.

A wildcat test by the Primos and Sharp company, five miles southwest of the Ora discovery, was disclosed by an application Saturday for a permit to drill the Williams-Green No. 1 in section 7-21-1W. The drilling contract is held by Sneed Bros. of Shreveport. The location is on a direct line between the Tucker lease and point 15 miles southwest of the Ora field where the Pan-American Production company is drilling its Elva Rugg No. 1 in section 31-20-1W. The Rugg well, announced as a 10,000-foot test, was reported Saturday as drilling at 4,300 feet.

New locations in Union, included in the weekly report of the Monroe conservation district, were the Peterson Drilling company's Mrs. D. D. Calloway No. 1 in section 18-22-1E, a mile and a half east of the discovery well, and the Marine Oil company's Monzingo-Rivers No. 10 in section 23-22-1W in the main field.

The Lion Oil company's J. T. Ballard in section 27-22-1W, two miles southwest of the discovery well, was reported yesterday as drilling ahead around 2,000 feet.

There was one completion and one new location during the week in gas operations in Union parish. The Southwest Gas Producing company brought in its Louisiana Gas Lands No. 2 well with a flow of 805,000 cubic feet per day from 2,234 feet, in section 32-23-4E and the Southern Carbon company made application for a permit to drill its Union Producing Co. No. 4 in section 21-22-3E.

The Danciger Drilling company spudded in Wednesday for the California company's 9,000-foot test in the Lafourche swamp, eight miles southeast of Monroe.

In Madison parish the Marine Oil company's Ayer Timber Unit No. 3, in section 24-15-9E, a mile and a half east of Bayou Macon and 5 1/2 miles northeast of Crowville, was reported at 7,218 feet. Intended as a distillate well, it is a half-mile northwest of the company's Ayer No. 1, a good gasser that was shut in without being gauged by the conservation department.

A permit application announced Saturday morning was by the Kingwood Oil company of Jackson, Miss., to drill Jines Unit No. 2 in section 13-17N-9E in Richland parish at the south edge of the town of Delhi. The location is 400 feet south of the company's Jones No. 1 which was drilled to the gas cap in the Paluxy sand and was not productive of oil. The new operation is under a special order from the state conservation commission, authorizing the company to drill to the Bryant-Holt zone, approximately 3,200 feet.

Drilling three dry holes in a row at a cost of approximately $15,000 each would be enough to cause most anyone to have high blood pressure, oil men observed here yesterday, but there was no suggestion that such an experience was responsibile for the reported illness from that ailment of George B. Franklin, Richland parish capitalist. It was pointed out that the three reverses he has met in seeking oil on his 30,000 acres would affect only his income tax return. And he is going right ahead with the remaining two of the five tests he said he would make. His application for a permit to drill in section 27-18-8 was received by mail at the district conservation office yesterday. The location is three miles north and slightly east of Holly Ridge in the same area as his three recent unsuccessful wells. As on the others, the contract depth is 3,000 feet and the Justiss-Mears company of Jena again is the driller.

Another application received yesterday was from Hester and Graham of Jackson, Miss., for a 2,400-foot well designated as the J. A. Mills No. 2 in the Little Creek field in LaSalle parish.

The Romans used cotton for tents.

OIL WELL DRILLER INSTANTLY KILLED

SHREVEPORT, Aug. 16.—(Special)—Odus E. Storey, 35, head driller for E. C. Laster, who is drilling a test on the Alice B. Witherspoon farm in the Kickapoo area of DeSoto parish was killed instantly Friday while working on the floor of the derrick.

According to Sheriff Van Austin of DeSoto parish, other members of the drilling crew were off the floor eating their lunches while Storey was running the equipment.

Casing had been set to a depth of 5,583 feet and the well was being readied for testing. It was reported that a perforating gun had been lost in the hole and efforts were being made to recover it.

Sheriff Van Austin said the only information given him was that Storey was caught in the cathead and jerked off his feet and that as he was turning over he was able to shut off the power to the machinery, but not in time to avert his head striking some of the equipment on the derrick floor. The back of his head was crushed and it is believed he died instantly.

Storey's home was in Henderson, Texas.

FAN DANCER BILLED BEFORE POLICE COURT

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Fan Dancer Sally Rand and stripteaser Georgia Sothern are billed to appear here Monday in police court.

Sally was summoned today to answer a disorderly conduct charge brought by Georgia, who alleged that Sally and Sally's manager—Georgia's husband—were together in a Springfield hotel room last night.

Sally appeared here this week in a carnival sideshow at the Illinois State Fair. Her manager is Harry Finkelstein of New York City, husband of Georgia, who currently is featured at a Cincinnati night club.

Sally and Finkelstein, later freed on $500 bond each, were arrested by city detectives in Sally's room after Georgia signed complaints and obtained warrants from Police Magistrate William Conway.

Conway said Georgia told him that she had listened at the door of Sally's room and heard her husband and Sally "laughing and talking" inside.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Profit-taking appeared in the corn pit on the board of trade today and prices slumped following an early run-up. Oats followed the action of corn, but wheat held relatively steady.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1/4 lower, September $2.38 1/2, corn was 2 3/4 to 4 cents lower, September $2.33 1/4-2.33, and oats were 1 to 1 3/8 lower, September $1.04 1/2-3/4.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

CHICAGO—Wheat: Steady; trade light. Corn: Weak; profit-taking. Cats: Eased on profit-taking. Hogs: Nominally steady. Cattle: Nominally steady.

INDONESIA HOLDS ANNIVERSARY PARTY

BATAVIA, Java, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Hundreds of Indonesian Nationalists, chanting "Merdeka" (Liberty) around crackling bonfires, began an all-night celebration tonight of the second anniversary of the declaration of the independence of the Indonesian republic.

The republic was proclaimed by President Soekarno on Aug. 17, 1945, in Batavia, capital of the Dutch East Indies empire, a city now stripped of all evidence of the Republican government.

At dusk, scores of men and women, few of them older than 30, began gathering behind the stucco bungalow which has become known as the Indonesian "white house" because it was the residence of Soekarno and, later, former Premier Sutan Sjahrir and other Republican officials. A monument on its grounds marks the spot where the republic was proclaimed.

Less than a block away Dutch military police jeeps passed frequently on their nightly patrols.

With nearly half the republic's territory in the hands of the Dutch military forces, there was irony in the hundreds of voices singing of "Independence Day."

ORA FIELD HAS 2 MORE PRODUCERS

Shell Gets Its 6th Out Of 8 Tries; Another For Sellars-Ewing Co.

Two new producers, both gauging far more than the allowable 90 barrels per day, were completed in Union parish's Ora field during the week. They were the Shell company's Frost Lumber Co. A-11 and the Sellars-Ewing company's Monzingo-Rivers No. 3.

The A-11 is Shell's sixth successful operation against two dry holes, and the company has four other wells in the process of drilling. It was officially rated as flowing from 2,132-46 feet at the rate of 198 barrels per day through a 1/4-inch choke. Corrected gravity of the oil was given as 34.

The Monzingo-Rivers No. 3 flowed at the rate of 134 barrels per day through a 12/64-inch choke after perforation at 2,112-22 feet. Gravity was 28.7. This well is in the south 10-acre offset of the Sellars-Ewing discovery. The same operators' Perry J. Tucker No. 1 and No. 2, three miles southwest, both reported as "assured producers" have not been gauged officially.

The Harvey G. Fields No. 1 is the name of a well to be drilled by the Sellars-Ewing oil interests 330 feet south and 1,669 feet east of section 24-22N-1W, a short distance northeast of the discovery and the Shell group. The unit was named for Harvey G. Fields, Farmerville lawyer, former U. S. district attorney and current candidate for state attorney general, who is part owner of the 40-acre tract on which the location is situated.

Oil men Saturday were awaiting announcement by G. T. (Pat) Hudson, the "lone wolf" operator, on the results of his experiments with the wildcat J. W. Holloway No. 1, six miles north of the Ora field, which he bought from the Rev. R. W. Rhodes after efforts to complete it had proved unsuccessful. The new owner was saying nothing but there were persistent rumors that he was about to "bring in a good one." The well was reported to have had 12 feet of heavily-saturated sand at just above 2,200 feet.

A wildcat test by the Primos and Sharp company, five miles southwest of the Ora discovery, was disclosed by an application Saturday for a permit to drill the Williams-Green No. 1 in section 7-21-1W. The drilling contract is held by Sneed Bros. of Shreveport. The location is on a direct line between the Tucker lease and point 15 miles southwest of the Ora field where the Pan-American Production company is drilling its Elva Rugg No. 1 in section 31-20-1W. The Rugg well, announced as a 10,000-foot test, was reported Saturday as drilling at 4,300 feet.

New locations in Union, included in the weekly report of the Monroe conservation district, were the Peterson Drilling company's Mrs. D. D. Calloway No. 1 in section 18-22-1E, a mile and a half east of the discovery well, and the Marine Oil company's Monzingo-Rivers No. 10 in section 23-22-1W in the main field.

The Lion Oil company's J. T. Ballard in section 27-22-1W, two miles southwest of the discovery well, was reported yesterday as drilling ahead around 2,000 feet.

There was one completion and one new location during the week in gas operations in Union parish. The Southwest Gas Producing company brought in its Louisiana Gas Lands No. 2 well with a flow of 805,000 cubic feet per day from 2,234 feet, in section 32-23-4E and the Southern Carbon company made application for a permit to drill its Union Producing Co. No. 4 in section 21-22-3E.

The Danciger Drilling company spudded in Wednesday for the California company's 9,000-foot test in the Lafourche swamp, eight miles southeast of Monroe.

In Madison parish the Marine Oil company's Ayer Timber Unit No. 3, in section 24-15-9E, a mile and a half east of Bayou Macon and 5 1/2 miles northeast of Crowville, was reported at 7,218 feet. Intended as a distillate well, it is a half-mile northwest of the company's Ayer No. 1, a good gasser that was shut in without being gauged by the conservation department.

A permit application announced Saturday morning was by the Kingwood Oil company of Jackson, Miss., to drill Jines Unit No. 2 in section 13-17N-9E in Richland parish at the south edge of the town of Delhi. The location is 400 feet south of the company's Jones No. 1 which was drilled to the gas cap in the Paluxy sand and was not productive of oil. The new operation is under a special order from the state conservation commission, authorizing the company to drill to the Bryant-Holt zone, approximately 3,200 feet.

Drilling three dry holes in a row at a cost of approximately $15,000 each would be enough to cause most anyone to have high blood pressure, oil men observed here yesterday, but there was no suggestion that such an experience was responsibile for the reported illness from that ailment of George B. Franklin, Richland parish capitalist. It was pointed out that the three reverses he has met in seeking oil on his 30,000 acres would affect only his income tax return. And he is going right ahead with the remaining two of the five tests he said he would make. His application for a permit to drill in section 27-18-8 was received by mail at the district conservation office yesterday. The location is three miles north and slightly east of Holly Ridge in the same area as his three recent unsuccessful wells. As on the others, the contract depth is 3,000 feet and the Justiss-Mears company of Jena again is the driller.

Another application received yesterday was from Hester and Graham of Jackson, Miss., for a 2,400-foot well designated as the J. A. Mills No. 2 in the Little Creek field in LaSalle parish.

The Romans used cotton for tents.

OIL WELL DRILLER INSTANTLY KILLED

SHREVEPORT, Aug. 16.—(Special)—Odus E. Storey, 35, head driller for E. C. Laster, who is drilling a test on the Alice B. Witherspoon farm in the Kickapoo area of DeSoto parish was skilled instantly Friday while working on the floor of the derrick.

According to Sheriff Van Austin of DeSoto parish, other members of the drilling crew were off the floor eating their lunches while Storey was running the equipment.

Casing had been set to a depth of 5,583 feet and the well was being readied for testing. It was reported that a perforating gun had been lost in the hole and efforts were being made to recover it.

Sheriff Van Austin said the only information given him was that Storey was caught in the cathead and jerked off his feet and that as he was turning over he was able to shut off the power to the machinery, but not in time to avert his head striking some of the equipment on the derrick floor. The back of his head was crushed and it is believed he died instantly.

Storey's home was in Henderson, Texas.

FAN DANCER BILLED BEFORE POLICE COURT

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Fan Dancer Sally Rand and stripteaser Georgia Sothern are billed to appear here Monday in police court.

Sally was summoned today to answer a disorderly conduct charge brought by Georgia, who alleged that Sally and Sally's manager—Georgia's husband—were together in a Springfield hotel room last night.

Sally appeared here this week in a carnival sideshow at the Illinois State Fair. Her manager is Harry Finkelstein of New York City, husband of Georgia, who currently is featured at a Cincinnati night club.

Sally and Finkelstein, later freed on $500 bond each, were arrested by city detectives in Sally's room after Georgia signed complaints and obtained warrants from Police Magistrate William Conway.

Conway said Georgia told him that she had listened at the door of Sally's room and heard her husband and Sally "laughing and talking" inside.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Profit-taking appeared in the corn pit on the board of trade today and prices slumped following an early run-up. Oats followed the action of corn, but wheat held relatively steady.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1/4 lower, September $2.38 1/2, corn was 2 3/4 to 4 cents lower, September $2.33 1/4-2.33, and oats were 1 to 1 3/8 lower, September $1.04 1/2-3/4.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

CHICAGO—Wheat: Steady; trade light. Corn: Weak; profit-taking. Cats: Eased on profit-taking. Hogs: Nominally steady. Cattle: Nominally steady.

INDONESIA HOLDS ANNIVERSARY PARTY

BATAVIA, Java, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Hundreds of Indonesian Nationalists, chanting "Merdeka" (Liberty) around crackling bonfires, began an all-night celebration tonight of the second anniversary of the declaration of the independence of the Indonesian republic.

The republic was proclaimed by President Soekarno on Aug. 17, 1945, in Batavia, capital of the Dutch East Indies empire, a city now stripped of all evidence of the Republican government.

At dusk, scores of men and women, few of them older than 30, began gathering behind the stucco bungalow which has become known as the Indonesian "white house" because it was the residence of Soekarno and, later, former Premier Sutan Sjahrir and other Republican officials. A monument on its grounds marks the spot where the republic was proclaimed.

Less than a block away Dutch military police jeeps passed frequently on their nightly patrols.

With nearly half the republic's territory in the hands of the Dutch military forces, there was irony in the hundreds of voices singing of "Independence Day."

NATION TO GET COOLER WEATHER

Heat Wave Definitely Broken After Gasping Its Last On East Coast

(By Associated Press)

The weather, which has shown a distressing single-mindedness recently, was expected to turn fickle as a debutante today.

From the Great Lakes eastward through the North Atlantic states the forecast was for cool, pleasant weather thundershowers were in prospect for a wide area in the Middle Atlantic states, portions of the Midwest, and the lower Mississippi valley; morning cloudiness and fog was expected on the Pacific Coast, and a new warmup was aborning in the southern Great Plains.

The week's weather news, the heat wave, was reported definitely broken after gasping its last over the East. From the Great Lakes region eastward through New York and New England generally fair and pleasant weather was expected Sunday, with cool temperatures in the Eastern section and about seasonable readings in the Lakes area.

Scattered thundershowers were on the weather menu throughout a wide band including Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, Southern Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, and Tennessee. Portions of the Dakotas, Minnesota and Western Wisconsin also were due to get sprinkled.

Evening thundershowers were expected in the Rocky Mountain states and in the lower Mississippi valley, from Western Georgia through Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana and eastern Texas. Portions of Iowa and western and southern Illinois were to have had scattered showers last night, but they were not expected to be heavy enough to be of much help to parched Midwestern corn fields.

Grain experts said a good, soaking rain was urgently needed to halt corn deterioration. Some fairly heavy rains occurred earlier this week end in southern Illinois, but the rainfall was too spotty to be credited with benefiting the sector generally.

Meanwhile, hot weather was developing again in the Great Plains, from South Dakota southward to Oklahoma and northern Texas. One or two points in Oklahoma were expected to reach 100 Sunday, with the rest of the area getting maximum readings in the middle 90's. Readings in the low 90's were forecast for Iowa, Missouri and Minnesota.

Generally fair weather was expected on the Pacific Coast, except for some morning cloudiness and fog.

In the East, "quite warm" weather was predicted for most of Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina Sunday, but most of the Middle Atlantic states north of Baltimore, Md., had pleasant cool readings in prospect. Washington, D. C., which reached the lower 90's Saturday expected a high temperature between 86 and 90 Sunday.

LEADS MEETING

Rev. John C. Jernigan (above) general overseer of the Church of God, will be the principal speaker in the Louisiana state convention held in Lida Benton School auditorium August 22-24. He is declared to be an outstanding preacher and leader among ministers and laity of the churches of this denomination. He has traveled and preached in nearly every state in the union in his present office which he has held for many years. Prior to holding this office he was for years state overseer in several different states. The public is cordially invited to attend these meetings.

BARBECUE HONORS JAMES M. COOPER

James M. Cooper, S. F. 3/c, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Cooper of Swartz, has returned home for a 15-day leave. Last Sunday he was honored with a barbecue at his home.

Those that attended the barbecue were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Richie, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Bain, Mrs. Aubrey Weems, Mrs. T. D. Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. James Hudson, Rev. and Mrs. Jenkinson, Dr. Sampognaro and his mother, Mrs. Sampognaro, Mr. C. H. Cooper, Mrs. Annie Richie, Misses Frances and Dorothy Cooper, Melba Ann Richie, Mildred Diffy, Virginia Weems, Eugene Richie, Regnal Hudson, Jerry Weems, Earl Knight and Charlotte Bain.

After his leave Cooper will return to Tacoma, Washington where he completed five years of naval service. He was in the battles of Iowa Jima, Okinawa, Saipan, and Guam. He served on a minesweeper, the USS Heed, for four years.

BAD LIGHTS FINES 'BARGAINS' HERE

State Police Point To Much Higher Penalties Elsewhere In Area

Drivers arrested for operating vehicles with improper lights appear to be getting a break when their cases are filed in the city courts of Monroe and West Monroe, for the prevailing penalty for that offense in those two tribunals is a fine of $1 and costs for a total of "only" $13.50. Justices of the peace in other areas of the Monroe state police district are reported to be assessing up to $25 for the offense.

Twelve drivers so charged by members of Troop F during the week were listed as W. M. Diffey, 26, of Eros; Grady Barnes, 30, of Bastrop, route 4; Alfred Viola, 20, of Monroe, route 1; J. E. Sutton, 28, of Transylvania; Jack White, 20, of Loop road, Monroe; O. W. Goodwin, 33, of Ruston, and Henry Cane, 17, of Monroe, and the following Negroes: Roman Moore of Ruston; J. W. Talton of Clay; Arvell Goldsmith of Monroe; Eugene Moore of Monroe, route 3; and Restee Burns of Fox addition, Bastrop.

Both of the drivers charged with operating cars while under the influence of liquor during the week were residents of Oak Grove. They were booked as R. C. Lambert, 46, and J. A. Lester, Jr., 24.

Reckless driving, causing personal injury and property damage and fleeing the scene of an accident formed the array of charges against Cecil Harper, 31, of Bastrop. Sanford E. Etier, Jr., 20, of 516 St. John street, Monroe, was accused of reckless driving and causing property damage.

Other arrests contained in the police post's weekly report were: Robert Anderson, Negro, 26, of Bastrop, parking truck on highway at night without flares and causing property damage; Tazieweki Scates, 22, Negro, of Bastrop, reckless driving; Harvey Glass, 45, Negro, of Jonesboro, hit and run and improper lights; Hoyt Hall, 20, of Dumas, Ark., aggravated assault; Jerry L. Leeds, 16, of Shreveport, burglary, and Myrle Suggs, 20, of Haynesville, route 1, hauling overwidth load on public highway at night.

IN MOVIELAND

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The claim most often voiced by press agents is that his client, even if a four-year-old, is "good copy." Not even the most zealous publicist would dare say that about Fred MacMurray.

Among Hollywood correspondents, MacMurray is notoriously "bad copy," which means he comes forth with an infinitesimal amount of news. A wealthy and well-established star who enjoys his leisure, he seems not to worry about publicty. We kidded about his etai shrdlu emfyp "Miracle Of The Bells" set and I asked why he refrained while others broke their necks to get their names in print.

His answer was like MacMurray—wordless. He merely placed his hand over his mouth in a "speak no evil" gesture.

MacMurray is one of the hazards of my job, but fortunately (I'm speaking from a news standpoint), there aren't many like him. Nearly all stars are trained, as part of their profession, to talk glibly about themselves. And indeed, that is all that some of them can talk about. You get used to their various habits and adjust yourself accordingly.

Bob Hope, for example, is the fast-traveling interview. You usually get a good story after you wade through writers, etc., and follow the comic around for an hour. Bing Crosby is much the same, though not as glib as Hope. Van Johnson is more of a sitter. He will stay in one place and talk to you about anything.

Humphrey Bogart is always available and if he doesn't have a story for you, he'll make one up. He might even give you a "tough" act with it. Errol Flynn is also productive, always enacting the role of Errol Flynn. Dana Andrews will talk an arm off you, but you have to be careful that you get some news in return.

The women have less leisure time on sets. They are usually interviewed in their dressing-room mirrors while they are being made up. Such stars as Irene Dunne, Claudette Colbert and Ingrid Bergman, who are married to doctors and make but a few pictures, are generally non-productive for news, though charming. Betty Hutton, on the other hand, will knock herself out to provide news, and Joan Crawford will do it in a more dignified manner.

Yes, it's pleasant work, but there is one class of performers I can't go for—the child stars. I love the little tykes, but for news they're awful.

Mackenzie's Column

By DeWitt Mackenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst)

There is an ominous ring in the Moscow radio's hint that Russia may sever diplomatic relations with Greece on the strength of the allegation that Greek authorities have "been arresting and even subjecting to torture persons employed by the Soviet embassy" in Athens.

This smacks of communist maneuvering in preparation for a coup which would further Moscow's aim of securing control of the Greek peninsula as a stepping-stone to domination of the Eastern Mediterranean. While Russia's broad strategy is clear enough, the exact meaning of the new tactics is a matter of debat.

Some diplomatic observers in Athens say it's likely that both the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia are looking for a chance to break off diplomatic relations with Greece.

Why? Well, such a break could be a preliminary to the setting up of a Communist government in Northern Greece as a rival to the established monarchist regime in Athens. Then Moscow and its Balkan satellites could recognize the new Red government, perhaps as a separatist regime or even as the government of all Greece. The Communists, of course, long have maintained that the monarchy is being maintained (with American and British help) against the will of the majority of the people.

In considering the possibility of such a Red coup, one is bound to recall that only last Tuesday the American delegation to the United Nations declared that if the security council fails to solve the Balkan problem the United States is prepared to join with other countries to protect Greece "within the provisions of the charter." Deputy U. S. Delegate Herschel Johnson gave this warning to Moscow after charging that Communist groups supported by Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria hoped to set up a totalitarian regime in Greece.

Could it be that a severance of relations with Greece by Moscow is an answer to America? The establishment of a Red regime in Northern Greece might be followed by a declaration from the Russian bloc that in turn it would protect the Communist Greek government "within the provisions of the charter."

In creating such a government the Communist bloc would merely be "legalizing" a situation which already exists, since the recent majority report of the U. N. Balkan border investigation stated that Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia were fostering the Communist civil war in the north. However, an excuse for greater Red intervention would be provided.

That would be playing with high explosive. Still, Russia has made it plain that she isn't afraid to handle dynamite if that is necessary in order to carry out her program of Communist expansion. Moreover, Moscow has been working shrewdly through her puppet states. They are her shield in battle.

In short, if the Western democracies should take action against the Red operation in Northern Greece they would come up against not Russia but the satellites—the Soviet shield. This is calculated to give the Communist bloc what it wants without precipitating another world war—which nobody wants.

It is dangerous game but one which bids fair to be played out to some sort of conclusion—risk or no risk.

Mrs. Leon Atkins, 714 Calypso street, phoned the News-Star—World Saturday and reported that her husband, an upholsterer by trade, left home Sunday and has not been heard from since. She said that their ailing four-year-old daughter, Leona, cries for her father all the time and refuses to eat.

She wants to have her husband return to the family.

MONROE-TECH BUS SERVICE REVIVED

Students Again To "Swing And Sway With Allen A" When Term Starts

Special bus service between Monroe and Louisiana Tech at Ruston for students and employes of the college will be resumed with the opening of the fall term on September 10, Allen A. Phillips of Eros, who will again operate the line, announced yesterday.

A modern new passenger coach with a seating capacity of 25 will make the 64-mile round-trip each school day, leaving Monroe at 7 a. m., reaching Tech in time for 8 o'clock classes and starting the return trip to Monroe at 4 p. m.

Patrons are to be given practically door-to-door service, Phillips explained, for he will make a circuit of the residential sections of Monroe each morning, picking up passengers at or near their homes and delivering them back to their starting points in the evening. The charge was announced as $13 per school month—slightly less than the rate in effect when Mr. Phillips operated the service from 1940 until 1943. The line was suspended in the latter year after the war had so cut Tech enrollment that an auto was more than large enough to carry the students from Monroe.

The new passenger coach, which has parlor car seats and airbrakes, is lettered with the Phillips line's trade name, "Covered Wagon Trails," and its slogan, "Swing and Sway With Allen A." Both were coined by his student riders during a period when he was hauling them in a truck with a makeshift tarpaulin top after his regular bus had been struck and put out of commission by an ambulance at a West Monroe street intersection.

The same insurance that Mr. Phillips carries on his passengers on the Ruston-Farmervile line he has operated since 1943 will be in effect on the Monroe-Tech service. Prospective passengers on the college run can contact Mr. Phillips by telephoning No. 58 here or 13 at Eros.

Louisiana has 16,000,000 acres of forest land. Twelve million acres is in fast-growing piney woods and four million in bottomland hardwoods.

Louisiana is the nation's number one producer of hardwoods, number three manufacturer of pulp and number four producer of pine lumber, according to figures released by the Louisiana Forestry Commission.

Happy hunting ground for a fish

WHEN HE PLANTED corn and tobacco, the Indian ceremoniously buried a dead fish with the seed. To him, it was an offering to the gods. Today we know it was also sound chemistry. Decaying animal matter restores a vital element to the soil—nitrogen. Without it, crops won't grow.

It would take all the fish in the sea to supply the industries which depend today on nitrogen. So we make it synthetically from ammonia. Familiar to you as the nose-tickling household compound that makes windows gleaming clean, ammonia performs a host of jobs in agriculture and industry. It helps make such products as the dry-cell battery, synthetic rubber, and textiles.

Last year, CSC purchased the Dixie Ordnance Works from the War Assets Administration. Today, this plant is working at capacity to produce ammonia for agriculture and industry. Ammonia is one of more than 200 CSC chemicals for the farmer, the manufacturer, the doctor, the motorist.

NATION TO GET COOLER WEATHER

Heat Wave Definitely Broken After Gasping Its Last On East Coast

(By Associated Press)

The weather, which has shown a distressing single-mindedness recently, was expected to turn fickle as a debutante today.

From the Great Lakes eastward through the North Atlantic states the forecast was for cool, pleasant weather thundershowers were in prospect for a wide area in the Middle Atlantic states, portions of the Midwest, and the lower Mississippi valley; morning cloudiness and fog was expected on the Pacific Coast, and a new warmup was aborning in the southern Great Plains.

The week's weather news, the heat wave, was reported definitely broken after gasping its last over the East. From the Great Lakes region eastward through New York and New England generally fair and pleasant weather was expected Sunday, with cool temperatures in the Eastern section and about seasonable readings in the Lakes area.

Scattered thundershowers were on the weather menu throughout a wide band including Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, Southern Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, and Tennessee. Portions of the Dakotas, Minnesota and Western Wisconsin also were due to get sprinkled.

Evening thundershowers were expected in the Rocky Mountain states and in the lower Mississippi valley, from Western Georgia through Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana and eastern Texas. Portions of Iowa and western and southern Illinois were to have had scattered showers last night, but they were not expected to be heavy enough to be of much help to parched Midwestern corn fields.

Grain experts said a good, soaking rain was urgently needed to halt corn deterioration. Some fairly heavy rains occurred earlier this week end in southern Illinois, but the rainfall was too spotty to be credited with benefiting the sector generally.

Meanwhile, hot weather was developing again in the Great Plains, from South Dakota southward to Oklahoma and northern Texas. One or two points in Oklahoma were expected to reach 100 Sunday, with the rest of the area getting maximum readings in the middle 90's. Readings in the low 90's were forecast for Iowa, Missouri and Minnesota.

Generally fair weather was expected on the Pacific Coast, except for some morning cloudiness and fog.

In the East, "quite warm" weather was predicted for most of Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina Sunday, but most of the Middle Atlantic states north of Baltimore, Md., had pleasant cool readings in prospect. Washington, D. C., which reached the lower 90's Saturday expected a high temperature between 86 and 90 Sunday.

LEADS MEETING

Rev. John C. Jernigan (above) general overseer of the Church of God, will be the principal speaker in the Louisiana state convention held in Lida Benton School auditorium August 22-24. He is declared to be an outstanding preacher and leader among ministers and laity of the churches of this denomination. He has traveled and preached in nearly every state in the union in his present office which he has held for many years. Prior to holding this office he was for years state overseer in several different states. The public is cordially invited to attend these meetings.

BARBECUE HONORS JAMES M. COOPER

James M. Cooper, S. F. 3/c, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Cooper of Swartz, has returned home for a 15-day leave. Last Sunday he was honored with a barbecue at his home.

Those that attended the barbecue were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Richie, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Bain, Mrs. Aubrey Weems, Mrs. T. D. Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. James Hudson, Rev. and Mrs. Jenkinson, Dr. Sampognaro and his mother, Mrs. Sampognaro, Mr. C. H. Cooper, Mrs. Annie Richie, Misses Frances and Dorothy Cooper, Melba Ann Richie, Mildred Diffy, Virginia Weems, Eugene Richie, Regnal Hudson, Jerry Weems, Earl Knight and Charlotte Bain.

After his leave Cooper will return to Tacoma, Washington where he completed five years of naval service. He was in the battles of Iowa Jima, Okinawa, Saipan, and Guam. He served on a minesweeper, the USS Heed, for four years.

BAD LIGHTS FINES 'BARGAINS' HERE

State Police Point To Much Higher Penalties Elsewhere In Area

Drivers arrested for operating vehicles with improper lights appear to be getting a break when their cases are filed in the city courts of Monroe and West Monroe, for the prevailing penalty for that offense in those two tribunals is a fine of $1 and costs for a total of "only" $13.50. Justices of the peace in other areas of the Monroe state police district are reported to be assessing up to $25 for the offense.

Twelve drivers so charged by members of Troop F during the week were listed as W. M. Diffey, 26, of Eros; Grady Barnes, 30, of Bastrop, route 4; Alfred Viola, 20, of Monroe, route 1; J. E. Sutton, 28, of Transylvania; Jack White, 20, of Loop road, Monroe; O. W. Goodwin, 33, of Ruston, and Henry Cane, 17, of Monroe, and the following Negroes: Roman Moore of Ruston; J. W. Talton of Clay; Arvell Goldsmith of Monroe; Eugene Moore of Monroe, route 3; and Restee Burns of Fox addition, Bastrop.

Both of the drivers charged with operating cars while under the influence of liquor during the week were residents of Oak Grove. They were booked as R. C. Lambert, 46, and J. A. Lester, Jr., 24.

Reckless driving, causing personal injury and property damage and fleeing the scene of an accident formed the array of charges against Cecil Harper, 31, of Bastrop. Sanford E. Etier, Jr., 20, of 516 St. John street, Monroe, was accused of reckless driving and causing property damage.

Other arrests contained in the police post's weekly report were: Robert Anderson, Negro, 26, of Bastrop, parking truck on highway at night without flares and causing property damage; Tazieweki Scates, 22, Negro, of Bastrop, reckless driving; Harvey Glass, 45, Negro, of Jonesboro, hit and run and improper lights; Hoyt Hall, 20, of Dumas, Ark., aggravated assault; Jerry L. Leeds, 16, of Shreveport, burglary, and Myrle Suggs, 20, of Haynesville, route 1, hauling overwidth load on public highway at night.

IN MOVIELAND

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The claim most often voiced by press agents is that his client, even if a four-year-old, is "good copy." Not even the most zealous publicist would dare say that about Fred MacMurray.

Among Hollywood correspondents, MacMurray is notoriously "bad copy," which means he comes forth with an infinitesimal amount of news. A wealthy and well-established star who enjoys his leisure, he seems not to worry about publicty. We kidded about his etai shrdlu cmfyp "Miracle Of The Bells" set and I asked why he refrained while others broke their necks to get their names in print.

His answer was like MacMurray—wordless. He merely placed his hand over his mouth in a "speak no evil" gesture.

MacMurray is one of the hazards of my job, but fortunately (I'm speaking from a news standpoint), there aren't many like him. Nearly all stars are trained, as part of their profession, to talk glibly about themselves. And indeed, that is all that some of them can talk about. You get used to their various habits and adjust yourself accordingly.

Bob Hope, for example, is the fast-traveling interview. You usually get a good story after you wade through writers, etc., and follow the comic around for an hour. Bing Crosby is much the same, though not as glib as Hope. Van Johnson is more of a sitter. He will stay in one place and talk to you about anything.

Humphrey Bogart is always available and if he doesn't have a story for you, he'll make one up. He might even give you a "tough" act with it. Errol Flynn is also productive, always enacting the role of Errol Flynn. Dana Andrews will talk an arm off you, but you have to be careful that you get some news in return.

The women have less leisure time on sets. They are usually interviewed in their dressing-room mirrors while they are being made up. Such stars as Irene Dunne, Claudette Colbert and Ingrid Bergman, who are married to doctors and make but a few pictures, are generally non-productive for news, though charming. Betty Hutton, on the other hand, will knock herself out to provide news, and Joan Crawford will do it in a more dignified manner.

Yes, it's pleasant work, but there is one class of performers I can't go for—the child stars. I love the little tykes, but for news they're awful.

Mackenzie's Column

By DeWitt Mackenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst)

There is an ominous ring in the Moscow radio's hint that Russia may sever diplomatic relations with Greece on the strength of the allegation that Greek authorities have "been arresting and even subjecting to torture persons employed by the Soviet embassy" in Athens.

This smacks of communist maneuvering in preparation for a coup which would further Moscow's aim of securing control of the Greek peninsula as a stepping-stone to domination of the Eastern Mediterranean. While Russia's broad strategy is clear enough, the exact meaning of the new tactics is a matter of debat.

Some diplomatic observers in Athens say it's likely that both the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia are looking for a chance to break off diplomatic relations with Greece.

Why? Well, such a break could be a preliminary to the setting up of a Communist government in Northern Greece as a rival to the established monarchist regime in Athens. Then Moscow and its Balkan satellites could recognize the new Red government, perhaps as a separatist regime or even as the government of all Greece. The Communists, of course, long have maintained that the monarchy is being maintained (with American and British help) against the will of the majority of the people.

In considering the possibility of such a Red coup, one is bound to recall that only last Tuesday the American delegation to the United Nations declared that if the security council fails to solve the Balkan problem the United States is prepared to join with other countries to protect Greece "within the provisions of the charter." Deputy U. S. Delegate Herschel Johnson gave this warning to Moscow after charging that Communist groups supported by Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria hoped to set up a totalitarian regime in Greece.

Could it be that a severance of relations with Greece by Moscow is an answer to America? The establishment of a Red regime in Northern Greece might be followed by a declaration from the Russian bloc that in turn it would protect the Communist Greek government "within the provisions of the charter."

In creating such a government the Communist bloc would merely be "legalizing" a situation which already exists, since the recent majority report of the U. N. Balkan border investigation stated that Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia were fostering the Communist civil war in the north. However, an excuse for greater Red intervention would be provided.

That would be playing with high explosive. Still, Russia has made it plain that she isn't afraid to handle dynamite if that is necessary in order to carry out her program of Communist expansion. Moreover, Moscow has been working shrewdly through her puppet states. They are her shield in battle.

In short, if the Western democracies should take action against the Red operation in Northern Greece they would come up against not Russia but the satellites—the Soviet shield. This is calculated to give the Communist bloc what it wants without precipitating another world war—which nobody wants.

It is dangerous game but one which bids fair to be played out to some sort of conclusion—risk or no risk.

Ferriday

During a windstorm Friday afternoon the home of Lee Cummerall was slightly damaged by fire, believed to have been caused by electric wiring. While the Ferriday fire company was engaged in extinguishing this blaze, lightning struck the barn on the home of Mrs. James Doyle on the Ferriday-Vidalia highway and the structure was burned. No other damage was done by the high winds. The accompanying rain was badly needed by farmers throughout this area in view of the recent extreme heat.

Billie Standiford, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Standiford of Lake Bruen, sustained a fracture of his right leg Saturday. While playing in his yard on a trailer, a wheel gave away, bringing the weight of the machine down on the boy's leg, breaking it in two places.

The Tensas Parish Farm Bureau will hold a chicken barbecue dinner at Ben Chase's Cooter Point camp next Thursday, D. S. Farrar, president, announced. Congressman Otto W. Passman will be the speaker for the occasion. Members of the committee on arrangements are: Ben Chase, chairman; David Miller, Jr. Hugh Roberson, Clyde Lee, Ben Burnside, Versie Segers, Truman James, Louis Preis, Elliott Coleman, Mitchell Butts, Corneal Goldman, Jr., and Wayne Eskew.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. McIntosh, of Oak Grove, have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Edna Carol to Robert James Lancaster of St. Joseph, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Lancaster of Waterproof. The wedding will be solemnized in the Oak Grove Methodist church, August 30, at 6:30 p. m.

Mrs. Norma M. Smith has been assigned to the Tensas parish health unit as public nurse. Mrs. Smith is a graduate of Touro Infirmary of New Orleans and has just completed the special course of study and field experience given at the L. S. U. training center. Nurse Francine Davis will continue her work with the parish unit.

Texas Girl Marries Mr. Elmer G. Bondy

Miss Isla Stockwell, of Raymondville, Texas, became the bride of Elmer Glen Bondy, son of Mrs. Robert Bondy, of Monroe, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Stockwell, on August 10 at 5 p. m.

The nuptial vows were exchanged before an improvised altar which was encircled by baskets of white gladioli, while gleaming tapers in candelabra cast a soft glow over the ceremony.

Mrs. M. J. Glarner, accompanied Miss Dorothy Jean Harding soloist, who sang "Always" prior to the ceremony.

The bride wore a white, street length crepe dress with long sleeves, fastened at the wrist with tiny buttons. Her hat was a white halo trimmed with pink rosebuds, from which a short veil fell. Pale pink lace gloves completed her costume. She carried a white prayer book showered with a bouquet of tiny pink roses.

Mrs. W. K. Amers, Jr. sister of the bride, who was her matron-of-honor, wore a pale blue crepe two-piece suit with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink sweetheart roses.

Floyd F. Bondy of Houston, Tex., brother of the groom, served as best man.

The bride's mother wore a pink crepe gown, while the groom's mother was gowned in black crepe. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

For traveling the bride wore a brown moire taffeta suit with matching accessories.

After a wedding trip to Mexico, the couple will be at home in Houston, Texas.

The bride is a graduate of Raymondville High School, attended S. W. E. T. C., San Marcos where she was a member of Phi Epsilon Mu and Idyllis Literary society. Mr. Bondy received a B. S. degree in physical education in Junior from the same college in San Marcos, where he was senior representative for the student council. He will serve as a coach for the South Houston Junior High School, for the next school year.

Ferriday

During a windstorm Friday afternoon the home of Lee Cummerall was slightly damaged by fire, believed to have been caused by electric wiring. While the Ferriday fire company was engaged in extinguishing this blaze, lightning struck the barn on the home of Mrs. James Doyle on the Ferriday-Vidalia highway and the structure was burned. No other damage was done by the high winds. The accompanying rain was badly needed by farmers throughout this area in view of the recent extreme heat.

Billie Standiford, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Standiford of Lake Bruen, sustained a fracture of his right leg Saturday. While playing in his yard on a trailer, a wheel gave away, bringing the weight of the machine down on the boy's leg, breaking it in two places.

The Tensas Parish Farm Bureau will hold a chicken barbecue dinner at Ben Chase's Cooter Point camp next Thursday, D. S. Farrar, president, announced. Congressman Otto W. Passman will be the speaker for the occasion. Members of the committee on arrangements are: Ben Chase, chairman; David Miller, Jr. Hugh Roberson, Clyde Lee, Ben Burnside, Versie Segers, Truman James, Louis Preis, Elliott Coleman, Mitchell Butts, Corneal Goldman, Jr., and Wayne Eskew.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. McIntosh, of Oak Grove, have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Edna Carol to Robert James Lancaster of St. Joseph, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Lancaster of Waterproof. The wedding will be solemnized in the Oak Grove Methodist church, August 30, at 6:30 p. m.

Mrs. Norma M. Smith has been assigned to the Tensas parish health unit as public nurse. Mrs. Smith is a graduate of Touro Infirmary of New Orleans and has just completed the special course of study and field experience given at the L. S. U. training center. Nurse Francine Davis will continue her work with the parish unit.

Texcs Girl Marries Mr. Elmer G. Bondy

Miss Isla Stockwell, of Raymondville, Texas, became the bride of Elmer Glen Bondy, son of Mrs. Robert Bondy, of Monroe, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Stockwell, on August 10 at 5 p. m.

The nuptial vows were exchanged before an improvised altar which was encircled by baskets of white gladioli, while gleaming tapers in candelabra cast a soft glow over the ceremony.

Mrs. M. J. Glarner, accompanied Miss Dorothy Jean Harding soloist, who sang "Always" prior to the ceremony.

The bride wore a white, street length crepe dress with long sleeves, fastened at the wrist with tiny buttons. Her hat was a white halo trimmed with pink rosebuds, from which a short veil fell. Pale pink lace gloves completed her costume. She carried a white prayer book showered with a bouquet of tiny pink roses.

Mrs. W. K. Amers, Jr. sister of the bride, who was her matron-of-honor, wore a pale blue crepe two-piece suit with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink sweetheart roses.

Floyd F. Bondy of Houston, Tex., brother of the groom, served as best man.

The bride's mother wore a pink crepe gown, while the groom's mother was gowned in black crepe. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

For traveling the bride wore a brown moire taffeta suit with matching accessories.

After a wedding trip to Mexico, the couple will be at home in Houston, Texas.

The bride is a graduate of Raymondville High School, attended S. W. E. T. C., San Marcos where she was a member of Phi Epsilon Mu and Idyllis Literary society. Mr. Bondy received a B. S. degree in physical education in June from the same college in San Marcos, where he was senior representative for the student council. He will serve as a coach for the South Houston Junior High School, for the next school year.

FORMER MONROE RESIDENT MARRIES IN NATCHITOCHES

Of interest here is the marriage of Miss Marjorie Warner, daughter of Mrs. Amos C. Warner, and the late Mr. Warner, of Natchitoches, to Mr. Joseph Edward Duval, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Duval, of Brooklyn, N. Y., which took place Sunday, July 13.

Miss Warner, who lived in Monroe and taught school locally for a year, frequently has visited her aunt, Miss Myrtle Rodgers, and her brothers, M. Everett Warner and A. C. Warner, Jr., here.

Msgr. John Vandegaer performed the ceremony which took place at 4 p.m. at the Church of the Immaculate Conception.

White cathedral tapers burning in gold circular candelabra, flanked by floor baskets of white gladioli, feverfew, and fern in artistic arrangement, were placed within the communion rail.

The satin-covered prie-dieu was adorned with a small bouquet of gladioli and fern, fastened with a white satin bow. The pews for the families were marked with similar bows.

Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Dorothy Coleman, accompanied by Miss Marguerite Ackel at the organ, sang "There Is No Heart Like Thine" and "Ave Maria." The traditional wedding marches were played.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Jack Warner. She wore a bridal gown of white slipper satin, reminiscent of the Elizabethan period with its upstanding ruff, edged with cording, where the yoke and bodice were joined, and at the wrists. The yoke was of flesh-colored net, and the basque waist was deeply pointed in both the front and the back, and attached with cording to the full skirt, which was designed with a bustle effect at the sides and ended in a short train. Her full-length veil of illusion cascaded from a coronet of seed pearls and crystal beads. The bride's bouquet was of white gladicli and tube-roses, tied with a bow of wide white satin ribbon.

The bridesmaids were the sisters-in-law of the bride, Mrs. A. C. Warner, Jr., and Mrs. M. E. Warner of Monroe, Mrs. L. L. Warner of Marfa, Tex., and Mrs. W. R. Warner of this city. The maid of honor was Miss Freddie Logan of Colfax. They wore white dresses that were identical in material and design—of mousseline de soie over white taffeta, fashioned with a yoke of net, a rippled bertha, cap sleeves, and covered buttons down the back of the basque waist, which was attached to a full skirt. Their crownless picture hats of white net featured white satin bows at the back. They were elbow-length mitts of net and carried bouquets of red rosebuds and fern.

The ushers were John Winn, W. R. Warner, and Lieutenant Reynolds, O. Boaz and Captain Danna F. McFall, Jr., of Barksdale. Frank Magaro, of Shreveport, attended the groom as best man.

Immediately after the wedding, a reception took place at the Old Lemee House, with the members of the bridal party, the bride's mother, and the groom's parents receiving the guests. The reception hall was beautifully decorated with an unusually attractive display of crepe myrtle, magnolias and magnolia foliage on the mantel, and arrangements of crepe myrtle blossoms and greenery at other points about the hall.

Miss Myrtle Rogers of Monroe and Mrs. Claude H. Reed of Shreveport, aunts of the bride, alternated at the punch bowl.

The bride, a graduate of Natchitoches High School, attended N. S. C. for three years, where she was a member of Theta Sigma Upsilon sorority and the Davis Players. She taught one year in Monroe, and for the past few years has been a Civil Service employe in Memphis and Barksdale Field.

The groom received his B. S. degree from the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn. He served five and one-half years in the army and had attained the rank of captain when he was separated from the service.

Ferriday Girl Weds Mr. Beecham

Claiming interest in social circles of Vidalia, Natchez, and Alamogardo, New Mexico, was the marriage of Miss Virginia Beatrice McCrea to Mr. Arthur McKinley Beacham, which was solemnized Monday at the Ferriday Baptist Church in the presence of relatives and friends, with the Rev. Don F. Sterling, pastor of the church performing a double ring ceremony.

The bride's attendants were Miss Ruth Turpin, maid of honor; Misses Lucille Matthews, Mildred Murray and Anna Calhoun, bridesmaids. Petite Molly McCrea, niece of the bride, served as flower girl.

Mr. Beacham had as his best man Mr. Laymon Cargile; and other attendants, Messrs. Walter McCrea, L. C. Mosely and Percy Rountree. Mr. Tam Winston served as usher.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bride. Later in the evening the young couple left for a wedding trip, after which they will return to Vidalia for a short visit before going to Alamogardo, New Mexico to make their home.

Miss Sadie Bryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Bryan, of New Era, La., became the bride of Mr. Homer Lipsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vanner Lipsey of New Era, Saturday evening, August 2, at the home of the bride's parents.

Justice of the Peace Sam Rice read the marriage rites before a large assemblage of friends and relatives. Following the ceremony a reception was held.

Her full-length veil of illusion cascaded from a coronet of seed pearls and crystal beads. The bride's bouquet was of white gladioli and tube-roses, tied with a bow of wide white satin ribbon.

The bridesmaids were the sisters-in-law of the bride, Mrs. A. C. Warner, Jr., and Mrs. M. E. Warner of Monroe, Mrs. L. L. Warner of Marfa, Tex., and Mrs. W. R. Warner of this city. The maid of honor was Miss Freddie Logan of Colfax. They wore white dresses that were identical in material and design—of mousseline de soie over white taffeta, fashioned with a yoke of net, a ripple bertha, cap sleeves, and covered buttons down the back of the basque waist, which was attached to a full skirt. Their crownless picture hats of white net featured white satin bows at the back. They wore elbow-length mitts of net and carried bouquets of red rosebuds and fern.

The ushers were John Winn, W. R. Warner, and Lieutenant Reynolds, O. Boaz and Captain Danna F. McFall, Jr., of Barksdale. Frank Magaro, of Shreveport, attended the groom as best man.

Immediately after the wedding, a reception took place at the Old Lemee House, with the members of the bridal party, the bride's mother, and the groom's parents receiving the guests. The reception hall was beautifully decorated with an unusually attractive display of crepe myrtle, magnolias and magnolia foliage on the mantel, and arrangements of crepe myrtle blossoms and greenery at other points about the hall.

Miss Myrtle Rogers of Monroe and Mrs. Claude H. Reed of Shreveport, aunts of the bride, alternated at the punch bowl.

The bride, a graduate of Natchitoches High School, attended N. S. C. for three years, where she was a member of Theta Sigma Upsilon sorority and the Davis Players. She taught one year in Monroe, and for the past few years has been a Civil Service employe in Memphis and Barksdale Field.

The groom received his B. S. degree from the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn. He served five and one-half years in the army and had attained the rank of captain when he was separated from the service.

MRS. WILLIAM PAUL CROWNOVER

Mrs. William Paul Crownover, the former Miss Betty Gilbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Gilbert, of Monroe, whose marriage to Mr. Crownover, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Crownover, of Crossville, Tenn., took place July 26 at the home of her parents.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George Mason at Swartz was the scene of a birthday party recently when their grandson, Claud Ray Mason, was honored on his seventh birthday. Twenty guests were present for the occasion.

Ferriday Girl Weds Mr. Beecham

Claiming interest in social circles of Vidalia, Natchez, and Alamogardo, New Mexico, was the marriage of Miss Virginia Beatrice McCrea to Mr. Arthur McKinley Beacham, which was solemnized Monday at the Ferriday Baptist Church in the presence of relatives and friends, with the Rev. Don F. Sterling, pastor of the church performing a double ring ceremony.

The bride's attendants were Miss Ruth Turpin, maid of honor; Misses Lucille Matthews, Mildred Murray and Anna Calhoun, bridesmaids. Petite Molly McCrea, niece of the bride, served as flower girl.

Mr. Beacham had as his best man Mr. Laymon Cargile; and other attendants, Messrs. Walter McCrea, L. C. Mosely and Percy Rountree. Mr. Tam Winston served as usher.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bride. Later in the evening the young couple left for a wedding trip, after which they will return to Vidalia for a short visit before going to Alamogardo, New Mexico to make their home.

Miss Sadie Bryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Bryan, of New Era, La., became the bride of Mr. Homer Lipsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vanner Lipsey of New Era, Saturday evening, August 2, at the home of the bride's parents.

Justice of the Peace Sam Rice read the marriage rites before a large assemblage of friends and relatives. Following the ceremony a reception was held.

Mrs. H. L. Driskell, friends will learn with regret, is a patient in St. Francis sanitarium, where she underwent a serious operation.

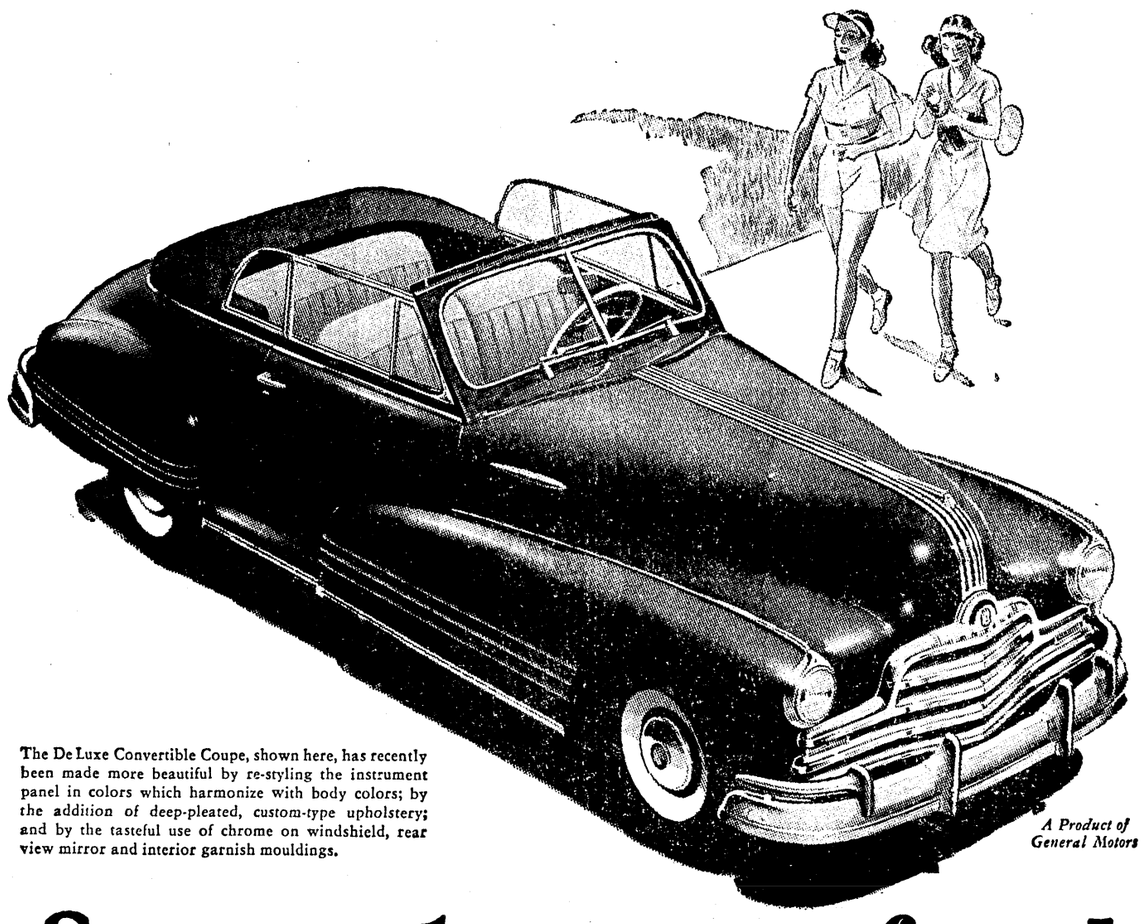
PONTIAC
A fine car made finer



The De Luxe Convertible Coupe, shown here, has recently been made more beautiful by re-styling the instrument panel in colors which harmonize with body colors; by the addition of deep-pleated, custom-type upholstery; and by the tasteful use of chrome on windshield, rear view mirror and interior garnish mouldings.

A Product of General Motors

So many things in its favor!

Ask a Pontiac owner why he recommends Pontiac—and he will likely tell you there are so many things in its favor that he finds it is difficult to enumerate them all.

He likes its "Silver Streak" styling—so distinctive that you can recognize a Pontiac as far as you can see it. He likes its eager, smooth, quiet performance. He likes its comfort and handling ease. He likes the many fine-car features which make it such a pride to own and such a pleasure to drive. He likes its faithfulness—its ability to stay on the job for year after year with undiminished performance. And, of course, he will mention that he gets all this at a price within easy reach of any new car buyer.

Yes, there are so many things in its favor that your next car should be a Pontiac. You can never do better than a Pontiac.

THE SOONER YOU PLACE YOUR ORDER for a new Pontiac, the earlier you will get it. In the meantime, take care of your present car—you will get more for it when your new car is delivered.

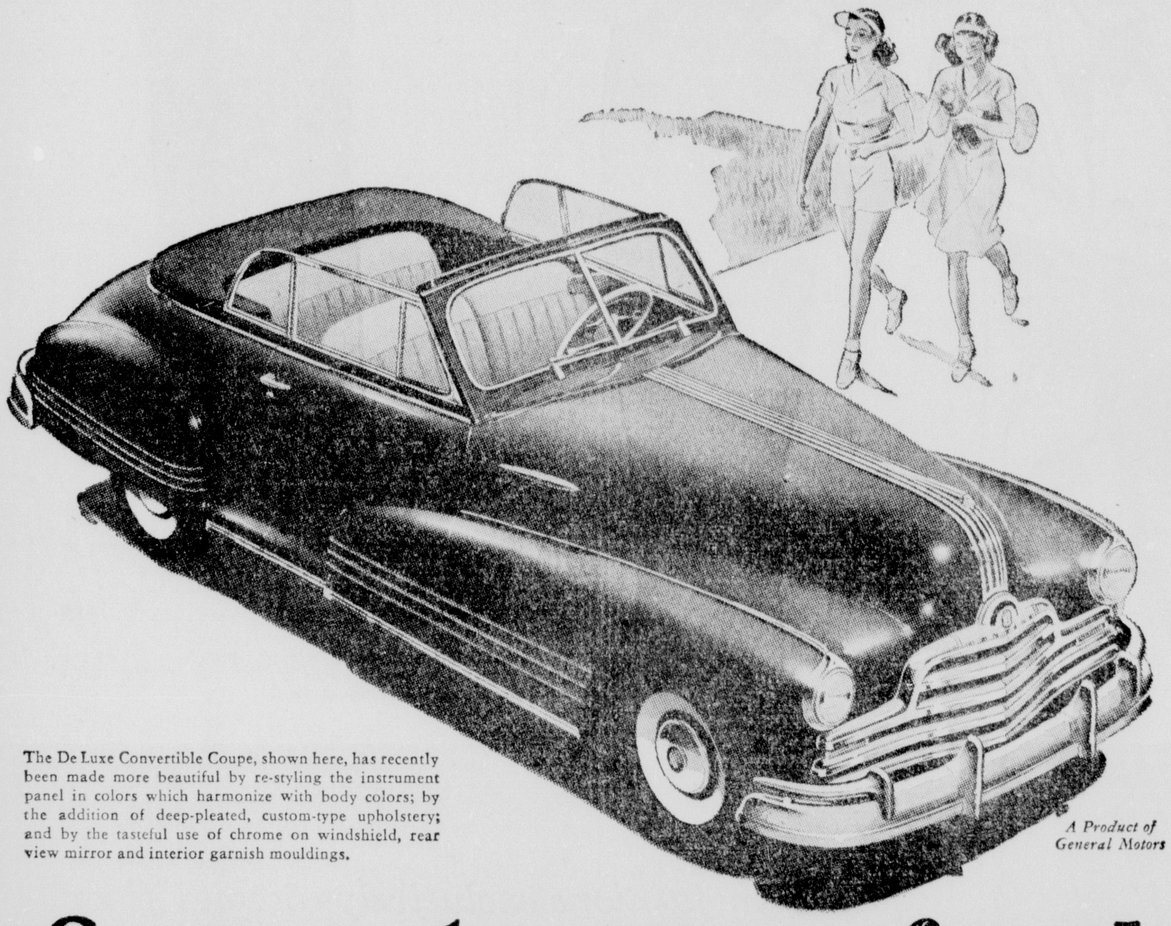
PONTIAC
A fine car made finer



The De Luxe Convertible Coupe, shown here, has recently been made more beautiful by re-styling the instrument panel in colors which harmonize with body colors; by the addition of deep-pleated, custom-type upholstery; and by the tasteful use of chrome on windshield, rear view mirror and interior garnish mouldings.

A Product of General Motors

So many things in its favor!

Ask a Pontiac owner why he recommends Pontiac—and he will likely tell you there are so many things in its favor that he finds it is difficult to enumerate them all.

He likes its "Silver Streak" styling—so distinctive that you can recognize a Pontiac as far as you can see it. He likes its eager, smooth, quiet performance. He likes its comfort and handling ease. He likes the many fine-car features which make it such a pride to own and such a pleasure to drive. He likes its faithfulness—its ability to stay on the job for year after year with undiminished performance. And, of course, he will mention that he gets all this at a price within easy reach of any new car buyer.

Yes, there are so many things in its favor that your next car should be a Pontiac. You can never do better than a Pontiac.

Miss Mildred Swift Advises About Mildew

Make sure that cotton shower curtains, awnings, tents, sails, etc., have been treated with chemicals to make them resistant to mildew before using them in damp places, advises Mildred G. Swift, associate home demonstration agent. Many of these articles are now treated before they are placed on the market. Special products for protecting articles against mildew are available at drug and department stores. Be cautious in using them on clothing for they may irritate the skin of the wearer, she suggests.

"A simple process for making a shower curtain mildew-resistant can be carried out at home," the agent reminds. "It uses soap and cadmium chloride. For this treatment, first dip the cloth in hot soap suds made of water and good neutral soap. Soak for a few minutes to make sure that the goods are wet through. Then remove the cloth and, without rinsing, put it immediately into a solution of cadmium chloride using 1 1/2 ounces of cadmium chloride to a gallon of water. Heat the fabric for about 15 minutes in this bath stirring and turning all the time. Then wring out the fabric and hang to dry on a twine clothes line. A wire line will stain the treated fabrics. Be sure to have plenty of soap in the fabric for it is the combination of the soap with the cadmium chloride that does the trick.

"Copper sulphate can also be used with soap for making cloth mildew-resistant. It makes the fabric blue. Both cadmium chloride and copper sulphate are poisonous so be careful in using them. After laundering, storage, and exposure to weather, the soap-cadmium chloride treated fabrics are more satisfactory than those treated with soap and copper sulphate. Both treatments withstand two or three launderings," she says.

Shoulder pads are one of the problem items in women's clothing in recent years, says Mrs. Mildred G. Swift, associate home demonstration agent. Though these pads are hot and bulky, hard to clean, difficult to press over as well as clumsy on hangers, they have continued in style because they are becoming and give a lift to sloping shoulders, she asserts.

"To save time and trouble with pads, make them removable," suggests the agent. "Instead of sewing them into clothes, attach them with small-size snaps. Snaps do not show if hidden under seams. By this simple device, pads can be taken out easily when dresses or coats are cleaned and pressed, packed or hung on hangers. They can be snapped in just before wearing the garment.

"For travel, removable pads have many advantages. Dresses pack more easily and fold more smoothly without them. Trouble and expense may be saved as well as space in suitcases if one pair of pads is used for all dresses of similar style.

"Pads are difficult to wash because the filling is likely to become lumpy or out of shape. Keeping them clean is much easier than cleaning them. Tack a piece of washable material over the side of the pad that goes next to the skin. When this becomes soiled, it is easy to wash," she emphasizes.

MISS JULIA AREY MOSS MARRIES MR. PAUL O'NEAL IN RUSTON

A late afternoon ceremony at St. John's Catholic Church on Saturday, August 16, united in marriage Miss Julia Arey Moss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Drew Ferguson Moss of Ruston, and Mr. Paul Murff O'Neal, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Murff O'Neal. The Rev. John J. Druhan, S. J., officiated.

Prior to the ceremony, Miss Mary Glorioso played selections of pre-nuptial music including "Panis Angelicus" by Cesar Franck and "Ave Maria" by Schubert.

The bride wore a white satin wedding gown fashioned on princess lines with a sweetheart neckline. The yoke of the dress was embroidered with seed pearls. Long fitted sleeves ended in points over her hands. Her vail of illusion fell from a coronet of orange blossoms and seed pearls. She carried a prayer book topped with a white orchid and streamers of white satin ribbon caught with tuberoses. She wore a diamond neckline which is a family heirloom and was worn by the bride's mother on her wedding day.

The matron of honor, Mrs. J. Hugh Bellamy, Jr., wore ice blue mousseline de soie with long torso and gathered skirt. She wore a coronet of daisies and short veil on her head and carried a snower bouquet of daisies.

Bridesmaid—Miss Beverly Stuckey—same as matron of honor except dressed in lime color.

Bridesmaid—Miss Gloria Benoist of New Orleans—(cousin of bridegroom) same as matron except dressed in yellow color.

Miss Beverly Stuckey, serving as bridesmaid wore a lime colored dress like that of the maid-of-honor as did Miss Gloria Benoist of New Orleans, who also was a bridesmaid.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward O. Brown for the bridal party and relatives.

The bride's table was covered with a full length embroidered cloth. The bride's bouquet was mounted on a cut glass stand, which was used in her grandmother's wedding as a table decoration. The wedding cake surmounted the table. The punch bowl was presided over by Mrs. John Cummings Motter. Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Bryce Wilhite and Mrs. Dewey C. Thurmon of Ruston, La., Miss Sarah Jones of Shreveport, while Mrs. A. G. Brothers and Mrs. Eugene Johnson of Bastrop, La., alternated at the guest book.

Miss Moss is a graduate of Louisiana Polytechnic Institute where she was outstanding in campus activities. She is the granddaughter on the maternal side of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Norris of Morehouse parish—on the paternal side of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Oliver Moss of Haynesville, La.

Mr. O'Neal attended Louisiana State University. He served for three and one-half years in the army air corps, two years of which were spent in England, France, and Belgium. He is descended paternally from the late Mr. and Mrs. James W. O'Neal of Bossier parish and maternally from Mrs. R. T. DeLouche and the late Mr. Neville Benoist of Natchitoches parish.

Later in the evening the bride and bridegroom left on a wedding trip for Colorado Springs, Colo. For traveling Mrs. O'Neal wore a white suit with a brown blouse and brown accessories. Her wedding orchid was worn on her shoulder as a corsage. Upon their return, the couple will make their home at 228 Lister street in Shreveport.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding included the bride's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Drew F. Moss, and her brothers, William H. Moss, Drew F. Moss, Jr., and John Warren Moss, all of Ruston; Mrs. R. T. DeLouche, Mr. George Benoist, Miss Gloria Benoist, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. DeLouche, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Earl LeBlanc, all of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. Victor S. Benoist of Texarkana, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Johnston and Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Brothers of Bastrop; Mrs. Bryce Wilhite, Mrs. Dewey C. Thurmon, and Dean and Mrs. W. L. Mitchell of Ruston, La.

MISS CAROLYN SMELSER

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Smelser announce the engagement of their daughter, Carolyn, to Mr. Alfred O. Ware, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Ware. The wedding will take place September 20.

MR. AND MRS. ARMAND BREARD ANNOUNCE DAUGHTER'S BETROTHAL

Mr. and Mrs. Armand Vaughan Breard announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Cecile Pauline Breard, to Mr. Louis Pyrone Milner, Jr., son of Mrs. Louis Pyrone Milner and the late Mr. Milner.

The wedding will take place October 22 at St. Matthew's Catholic Church.

Miss Breard is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School and Randolph-Macon Woman's College in Lynchburg, Virginia. She is a member of Delta Beta Sigma and Alpha Omicron Pi sororities.

Mr. Milner is a graduate of Neville High School and attended New Mexico Military Institute. He attended the University of Arizona, and later served in the armed forces.

Lake Providence

Mrs. D. F. Davis and daughter, Elizabeth, on a motor trip to Chicago to bring home Donna Davis, who had been visiting maternal grandparents, were accompanied by Mrs. R. E. McClendon and son, John Dennis McClendon, who vsiited relatives.

One of the most enjoyable conversational hours to compliment Mrs. S. E. Burgoyne, Monroe, during her visit in Lake Providence was with Mrs. Leon Minsky, hostess.

Guests on Saturday morning to spend an hour in chatting with hostess and honoree were: Mrs. B. R. Burgoyne, Mrs. J. E. Brown, Mrs. Jeff Hair, Mrs. W. G. Roberts, Mrs. Vernon Cox of Texarkana, Mrs. C. R. Evans, Mrs. Ernest Parra, Mrs. John Hester, Mrs. O. S. Brown, and Mrs. J. G. Wyly, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Schneider, Jr., and children, Sara Ann, Gay and Nannette, and F. H., III, are at Dalray Beach, Fla., for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Deaderick.

Mrs. Joe Brock and Mrs. Jack Stinson were Vicksburg motorists on Friday of the past week.

MISS JULIA AREY MOSS MARRIES MR. PAUL O'NEAL IN RUSTON

A late afternoon ceremony at St. John's Catholic Church on Saturday, August 16, united in marriage Miss Julia Arey Moss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Drew Ferguson Moss of Ruston, and Mr. Paul Murff O'Neal, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Murff O'Neal. The Rev. John J. Druhan, S. J., officiated.

Prior to the ceremony, Miss Mary Glorioso played selections of pre-nuptial music including "Panis Angelicus" by Cesar Franck and "Ave Maria" by Schubert.

The bride wore a white satin wedding gown fashioned on princess lines with a sweetheart neckline. The yoke of the dress was embroidered with seed pearls. Long fitted sleeves ended in points over her hands. Her vail of illusion fell from a coronet of orange blossoms and seed pearls. She carried a prayer book topped with a white orchid and streamers of white satin ribbon caught with tuberoses. She wore a diamond neckline which is a family heirloom and was worn by the bride's mother on her wedding day.

The matron of honor, Mrs. J. Hugh Bellamy, Jr., wore ice blue mousseline de soie with long torso and gathered skirt. She wore a coronet of daisies and short veil on her head and carried a snower bouquet of daisies.

Bridesmaid—Miss Beverly Stuckey—same as matron of honor except dressed in lime color.

Bridesmaid—Miss Gloria Benoist of New Orleans—(cousin of bridegroom) same as matron except dressed in yellow color.

Miss Beverly Stuckey, serving as bridesmaid wore a lime colored dress like that of the maid-of-honor as did Miss Gloria Benoist of New Orleans, who also was a bridesmaid.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward O. Brown for the bridal party and relatives.

The bride's table was covered with a full length embroidered cloth. The bride's bouquet was mounted on a cut glass stand, which was used in her grandmother's wedding as a table decoration. The wedding cake surmounted the table. The punch bowl was presided over by Mrs. John Cummings Motter. Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Bryce Wilhite and Mrs. Dewey C. Thurmon of Ruston, La., Miss Sarah Jones of Shreveport, while Mrs. A. G. Brothers and Mrs. Eugene Johnson of Bastrop, La., alternated at the guest book.

Miss Moss is a graduate of Louisiana Polytechnic Institute where she was outstanding in campus activities. She is the granddaughter on the maternal side of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Norris of Morehouse parish—on the paternal side of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Oliver Moss of Haynesville, La.

Mr. O'Neal attended Louisiana State University. He served for three and one-half years in the army air corps, two years of which were spent in England, France, and Belgium. He is descended paternally from the late Mr. and Mrs. James W. O'Neal of Bossier parish and maternally from Mrs. R. T. DeLouche and the late Mr. Neville Benoist of Natchitoches parish.

Later in the evening the bride and bridegroom left on a wedding trip for Colorado Springs, Colo. For traveling Mrs. O'Neal wore a white suit with a brown blouse and brown accessories. Her wedding orchid was worn on her shoulder as a corsage. Upon their return, the couple will make their home at 228 Lister street in Shreveport.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding included the bride's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Drew F. Moss, and her brothers, William H. Moss, Drew F. Moss, Jr., and John Warren Moss, all of Ruston; Mrs. R. T. DeLouche, Mr. George Benoist, Miss Gloria Benoist, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. DeLouche, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Earl LeBlanc, all of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. Victor S. Benoist of Texarkana, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Johnston and Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Brothers of Bastrop; Mrs. Bryce Wilhite, Mrs. Dewey C. Thurmon, and Dean and Mrs. W. L. Mitchell of Ruston, La.

Mrs. Mamie Coverdale is spending her vacation with her daughters, Mrs. Dick Dean and Mrs. Harold Breard, Mrs. Coverdale is now living in Washington, D. C., and is affiliated with Julius Garfinckel and company.

Mrs. R. C. Camp was hostess at a crystal and china shower on Friday for Miss Mary Alice Humble, bride-elect of Calhoun.

Lovely summer flowers adorned the living and dining rooms of Mrs. Camp's spacious country home. Miss Joyce Camp received the guests at the door at which time they were presented with paper and pencils for games and contests which were enjoyed by all. Each guest was asked to write her favorite recipe on a file card and the cards with a lovely corsage of white asters, lace fern and ribbons were presented to Miss Humble. As she read a recipe for "the perfect marriage" handsome and useful gifts were carted in and placed on a table before her.

Throughout the afternoon chilled punch and bride's cakes were served to the following guests: Miss Humble, Mrs. Sallie Humble, Mrs. J. E. Bryan, Miss Eleanor Humble, Mrs. W. B. Humble, Mrs. Jessie Fuller, Mrs. E. M. Finley, Mrs. J. L. Heath, Jr., Mrs. R. R. Fuller, Mrs. Reece Camp, Mrs. Ewell Camp, Mrs. Georgia Camp, Miss Patsy Camp, Mrs. Jake Brooks, Mrs. R. L. ONE HUNDRED GUESTS ATTEND COFFEE HOUR FOR MISS TISDALE AT HOME OF MRS. LEWIS SLATER

One hundred guests attended one of the round of parties which honored Miss Louise Tisdale, bride-elect, when members of the Judson Class were hostesses at a coffee hour at the home of Mrs. Lewis Slater last week.

A silver epergne filled with tuberoses and clematis formed a centerpiece for the dining room table, while white butterfly lilies and asters in floral containers furnished decorations throughout the house.

In the receiving line were Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, mother of the prospective bride, Miss Tisdale, and Mrs. Slater.

Mrs. J. Hunter Thatcher poured coffee while Mrs. Henry Montgomery greeted guests at the door.

Serving in the dining room were Mrs. J. W. Stanley, Mrs. Amman Buckley, Mrs. Gus Williams, Mrs. W. L. Husted, Mrs. G. A. Aleman, Mrs. Shelby Meek, and Mrs. Eleen Donnelly.

Miss Greenwell To Wed Mr. Jones

Mr. and Mrs. William Merrell Greenwell announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Betty Gene, to Mr. William Dan Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones of Los Angele, Calif.

The wedding will take place September 6, at 6 o'clock in the evening at the First Methodist Church here.

Miss Greenwell, a graduate of Neville High School, received a B. S. degree from Louisiana Polytechnic Institute. She is a member of Delta Betta Sigma and Sigma Kappa sororities.

Mr. Jones attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute where he was a member of the V-12 unit. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in the marines after attending the Quantico Officers Training School. He is now attending the University of Southern California where he will receive his Master's degree in physical education in June.

Farmerville Girl Marries Texas Boy

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Wilson of Farmerville announce the marriage of their daughter, Kathryn, to Mr. Clarence D. Daniel, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Daniel, Sr., of Itasca, Texas.

The wedding was solemnized at 1:40 p. m. Saturday, August 2, at the home of Rev. A. A. Ducan, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Commerce, Texas.

The bride was dressed in blue crepe, accented with tiny pearl buttons. She wore a string of pearls and a shoulder corsage of white gladiola. Her accessories were white.

Miss Florene Daniel, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. Her dress was of pink crepe and she wore black accessories.

The bride was graduated from the Farmerville High School and attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute. The bridegroom served four years in the navy overseas. Both now are attending school at East Texas Teachers' College, Commerce, Tex., and will make their home at 170 1/2 Live Oak street.

Present for the ceremony were Miss Florene Daniel, Messers. J. B. Daniel, James Guy Daniel of Itasca, Tex., and Mr. Fred Edwards of Cason, Tex.

THIS IS ONE OF A SERIES OF ADVERTISEMENTS BEING SPONSORED BY OUTSTANDING INDUSTRIES AND ESTABLISHMENTS IN THE TWIN CITIES

BLANKS TELLS OF POST-WAR FUROPE, DESCRIBES INFLATION

Prominent Columbia Resident Guest Speaker At Optimist Club

H. W. Blanks, of Columbia, guest speaker at the Optimist club, at Hotel Frances, Friday noon, discussed world affairs and inflation, as well as other topics in which he is widely versed. He has traveled many times throughout Europe and in Africa.

Telling of inflation, he said he got first hand information when in Paris at the end of the First World War. At that time it was rumored that the value of the French franc would likely drop at any time, and drop it did, from 19 cents to one-cent in value, American money. Then merchants raised prices to correspond.

Another example was shown of recent Chinese inflation. He received a letter that had $12,000 in Chinese stamps. When Chinese currency was staple, it would cost only eighty cents. Today the French franc is listed at 120 francs to the American dollar. His sister, he said, recently in Paris bought a $3 dinner that cost $38 due to inflation.

Some countries in Europe are endeavoring through extreme measures to prevent money from leaving the country. Holland requires that all foreign-bound letters be carried unopened to the postoffice so that the postmaster may see that no money is being sent out of the country. England has a law, he said, that states, "Any person caught sending money to any other country other than the British, shall pay a fine of $30,000." This is equal to $30,000 in our money he explained.

In the early thirties, Mr. Blanks, when visiting Europe, found that he could buy standard American goods for one-third to one-fifth of their price in the U. S. A. A merchant explained that American factories turned out goods so fast than when the home market was saturated, the surplus was sold abroad for whatever they could get for them. When these foreign markets were also saturated, American factories closed and many workers were discharged.

He further said that on one trip to Europe he dined with a shoe manufacturer in Prague and there was no china on the table, as all was served in solid silver. This man today is well supplied with money, but he can not send any of it abroad to buy food and clothing that are scarce at home. Therefore, Mr. Blanks is having to send him clothing and food unobtainable there.

Mr. Blanks stated that he believes that trade treaties will not improve imports and exports as long as countries pass laws to prohibit purchase of goods from other countries. A standard currency of exchange, he said, is needed between all countries.

Mr. Blanks said he had had two private audiences with different popes of Rome. He has seen the original passion play twice and was guest at the Lord Mayor's reception to the Lord Mayor of Edinborough at which the famed kiltie band of Queen Victoria played the last time before her death.

He also organized and conducted the first traveling college on wheels in America in which college credits were given by Catawba College and the University of North Carolina.

He narrated in thrilling manner the boiler explosion of the steamer Corona on the Mississippi river near Baton Rouge on October 11, 1889, when he was but eight years of age. Eighty people were killed in the explosion that sank the steamer. Blanks was in a New Orleans hospital three months but recovered completely. He has since been in a number of bus and train wrecks but states he never had a broken bone.

Guests at the dinner were Robert Rainwater and Richard Sackett.

Fifty-five lookout towers are operated by the Louisiana Forestry Commission in conjunction with their extensive program of fire detection and suppression.

FRANKLIN SCHOOL TEACHERS NAMED

Budget Of 809,000 Is Approved By Parish School Board

The Franklin parish school board this week approved a budget of $809,481.72 to operate schools for the 1947-48 session, it was announced this week by W. B. Glover, superintendent.

Also approved and included in the budget was an increase of $36 per month for every teacher in the parish with the possibility in the future of another raise in pay pending approval by the state legislature in April, 1948, of Act No. 2 of the extraordinary session of 1947 which calls for the edditional pay boosts.

The opening dates of parish schools were set according to the following schedule: schools for white children, Sept. 15; high schools for negro children, October 6; rural schools for negro children, October 20.

By far the largest item on the list of disbursements for the 1947-48 session was the $439,445.23 allotted for white teacher's salaries, and the $106,887.38 set aside for pay of negro teachers.

Next highest item was that of the auxiliary agencies including the transportation of children to schools. For these services, the board will spend $82,692, of which $78,450 will go to transportation.

Janitor's salaries will cost $14,872.59, and coupled with other operating expenses for the plants of the parish, totals $29,293.09.

The list of teachers approved for employment during the coming term is as follows:

Boyle's Notebook

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK.—(AP)—The years have caught up with "Sonny," who lived in an underground penthouse in Greenwich Village and was known as "the poor man's playboy."

Time tames all gay blades, but I hate to see Sonny slowing up. He was the freest soul I ever knew.

He must have had a first name and a last name, but nobody called him anything but Sonny. He was the big city neighborhood equivalent of the town drunk—certainly not a bum. He was—if there is such a thing—a stationary hobo, anchored to alcohol.

Sonny was the symbol of man, ever-defeated and ever-triumphant. Everybody wanted to protect him because he wouldn't bother to protect himself. Everybody liked to stake him to a handout or an old shirt because it gave the giver the feeling that at least there was one guy in the neighborhood worse off than himself.

Sonny's binges—based on rubbing alcohol, bay rum, canned heat and sometimes even honest whiskey—were Greenwich Village epics ten years ago, the themes of friendly harmless corner gossip that knit the neighborhood together.

Sonny then was well into middle-age, a slim, tobacco-chewing city hillbilly with a great gift of friendship. Our biggest worry was that he would be run over by a strange taxicab, as he had a habit of lying down in the street and falling asleep.

Despite this outdoor life Sonny was the healthiest man in the neighborhood. He never had a cold. In periods of sobriety he slept in the basement of a drug store—his "underground penthouse"—and when he clanged down the iron cellar doors at night, people said:

"Sonny's sounding curfew. Time to go to bed."

He stoked furnaces, painted walls with cheap calcimine, and carried out garbage when he wasn't on a spree. His clothes were always patched and nondescript, but Sonny kept himself showered and clean. Constant soap and water were the only luxuries his beaten body and mind ever knew.

Sometimes the cheap drink he drowned his dreams in set his wits to wandering, and he went to Bellevue Hospital. Once a neighbor went to the hospital to get Sonny released to help him with some household chores.

The neighbor didn't agree with the doctor's diagnosis that Sonny should stay in longer.

"Don't you feel okay, Sonny," he asked.

"Sure," said Sonny, "except these shoes are pinching my feet."

The neighbor looked down and saw—Sonny was bare-footed. So he stayed in a few days more.

The greatest bender Sonny ever threw was the day the neighborhood druggist sent him on a delivery errand. Sonny collected a dollar from the customer, bought himself a bottle of "smoke" and boarded a bus. Back and forth he rode, a nickel a trip, until the liquor was gone.

"I took a whole double seat to myself," he said later. "I felt like a king."

For that gesture of bourbon grandeur, Sonny will be a neighborhood hero forever.

During the war he moved away to the East Side, and suddenly became an old tired man.

He still limps back sometimes to the old corner, and says defensively:

"Nobody wants me since my leg hurts so much and I can't work anymore. Anyway I don't live here. I'm just slumming."

The average acre of good pine forest in Louisiana is growing at the rate of 150 board feet per year. The Louisiana Forestry Commission reports that experiments show this same acreage could be made to grow 500 board feet during the same period.

100 SWEATING GI'S TO ESCORT 1000 U. S. MULES TO GREECE

FORT RENO, Okla., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Remember the 100 sweating GIs gentling 1,000 U. S. mules for the Greeks?

They're a quiet bunch tonight.

The last straw has just fallen on their aching backs.

They are going to Greece as nursemaids to the mules.

And it will be no sight-seeing tour.

As soon as they get the mules—sent as part of a $400,000,000 U. S. Greek-Turkish aid program—safely to a Greek port they will turn right around and return to the U. S.

The mules and the GIs will not all go together, however.

Five hundred of the mules and 50 of the GIs will sail from New Orleans around Sept. 1, Col. Moris M. L'Abbe, commander of the remount station here, was advised.

Then—so no partiality will be shown in the matter—the original 50 GIs will remain in the U. S. and the other 50 will go with the other 500 mules at a date to be set later.

One of the saddest looking mule skinners, when word of the trip seeped out, was Pfc. Charles McGrath, who lived in San Francisco, Calif., before he took up the army as a career.

"I was all set to get married next month," he moaned. "And now what have I got ahead of me?"

"A honeymoon with a mule, instead."

Others among the group took the news philosophically.

"As long as it's a round trip ticket and I'm coming back, what can I lose but a little skin?" said Thomas Ritchie of Hazard, Ky., as he applied salve to rope burns on his hand after being hauled around by one of the mules during a "gentling" session.

"Anyway, the mules are staying in Greece."

The mules have been in training here since the later part of June and have been taught to carry packs, both as led and free animals and have undergone a gentling process in sessions which looked like amateur rodeos.

In addition, they have had their hooves manicured and their fetlocks sheared in a trimming pen where they were thrown and tied to keep them from taking the trimmers apart.

The pack animals will be shipped without shoes—a point that brought a grin back to even the most glum looking GIs.

"Wait'll the Greeks try to shoe some of them," they chuckled.

The aircraft carrier, U. S. S. Langley, was the first electrically-driven ship in the United States Navy.

GM GENERAL MOTORS HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE *Optional at extra cost

The "drive" of tomorrow is here today! . . . as ultra-modern as television, and with nearly 8 years of PROOF behind it!

It's in the picture for the future—and Oldsmobile brings it to you today! Just as television is the big news in the field of electronics, automatic transmissions are the number-one topic of conversation in the automobile industry. Some day . . . nobody will shift gears . . . nobody will push a clutch. But today . . . only Hydra-Matic Drive provides fully automatic shifting! Only Hydra-Matic Drive eliminates the clutch pedal entirely!

What's more . . . Hydra-Matic Drive was introduced by Oldsmobile nearly 8 years ago! Since that time it has been proved in the hands of nearly 400,000 Oldsmobile owners—proved in literally billions of miles of driving—even proved in combat use on Army tanks!

Today, the lowest-priced car to offer GM Hydra-Matic Drive* is the smart new Oldsmobile—away out ahead automatically—away out ahead in appearance, too. Owners know Oldsmobile is always in tune with tomorrow. They expect Oldsmobile to come out first with the really important advancements like Hydra-Matic Drive. That's why so many future-minded people say, "It's SMART to Own an Olds!"

He narrated in thrilling manner the boiler explosion of the steamer Corona on the Mississippi river near Baton Rouge on October 11, 1889, when he was but eight years of age. Eighty people were killed in the explosion that sank the steamer. Blanks was in a New Orleans hospital three months but recovered completely. He has since been in a number of bus and train wrecks but states he never had a broken bone.

Guests at the dinner were Robert Rainwater and Richard Sackett.

FRANKLIN SCHOOL TEACHERS NAMED

Budget Of 809,000 Is Approved By Parish School Board

The Franklin parish school board this week approved a budget of $809,481.72 to operate schools for the 1947-48 session, it was announced this week by W. B. Glover, superintendent.

Also approved and included in the budget was an increase of $36 per month for every teacher in the parish with the possibility in the future of another raise in pay pending approval by the state legislature in April, 1948, of Act No. 2 of the extraordinary session of 1947 which calls for the additional pay boosts.

The opening dates of parish schools were set according to the following schedule: schools for white children, Sept. 15; high schools for negro children, October 6; rural schools for negro children, October 20.

By far the largest item on the list of disbursements for the 1947-48 session was the $439,445.23 allotted for white teacher's salaries, and the $106,887.38 set aside for pay of negro teachers.

Next highest item was that of the auxiliary agencies including the transportation of children to schools. For these services, the board will spend $82,692, of which $78,450 will go to transportation.

Janitor's salaries will cost $14,872.59, and coupled with other operating expenses for the plants of the parish, totals $29,293.09.

The list of teachers approved for employment during the coming term is as follows:

100 SWEATING GI'S TO ESCORT 1000 U. S. MULES TO GREECE

FORT RENO, Okla., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Remember the 100 sweating GIs gentling 1,000 U. S. mules for the Greeks?

They're a quiet bunch tonight.

The last straw has just fallen on their aching backs.

They are going to Greece as nursemaids to the mules.

And it will be no sight-seeing tour.

As soon as they get the mules—sent as part of a $400,000,000 U. S. Greek-Turkish aid program—safely to a Greek port they will turn right around and return to the U. S.

The mules and the GIs will not all go together, however.

Five hundred of the mules and 50 of the GIs will sail from New Orleans around Sept. 1, Col. Moris M. L'Abbe, commander of the remount station here, was advised.

Then—so no partiality will be shown in the matter—the original 50 GIs will remain in the U. S. and the other 50 will go with the other 500 mules at a date to be set later.

One of the saddest looking mule skinners when word of the trip seeped out, was Pfc. Charles McGrath, who lived in San Francisco, Calif., before he took up the army as a career.

"I was all set to get married next month," he moaned. "And now what have I got ahead of me?"

"A honeymoon with a mule, instead."

Others among the group took the news philosophically.

"As long as it's a round trip ticket and I'm coming back, what can I lose but a little skin?" said Thomas Ritchie of Hazard, Ky., as he applied salve to rope burns on his hand after being hauled around by one of the mules during a "gentling" session.

"Anyway, the mules are staying in Greece."

The mules have been in training here since the later part of June and have been taught to carry packs, both as led and free animals and have undergone a gentling process in sessions which looked like amateur rodeos.

In addition, they have had their hooves manicured and their fetlocks sheared in a trimming pen where they were thrown and tied to keep them from taking the trimmers apart.

The pack animals will be shipped without shoes—a point that brought a grin back to even the most glum looking GIs.

"Wait'll the Greeks try to shoe some of them," they chuckled.

The aircraft carrier, U. S. S. Langley, was the first electrically-driven ship in the United States Navy.

Boyle's Notebook

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK.—(AP)—The years have caught up with "Sonny," who lived in an underground penthouse in Greenwich Village and was known as "the poor man's playboy."

Time tames all gay blades, but I hate to see Sonny slowing up. He was the freest soul I ever knew.

He must have had a first name and a last name, but nobody called him anything but Sonny. He was the big city neighborhood equivalent of the town drunk—certainly not a bum. He was—if there is such a thing—a stationary hobo, anchored to alcohol.

Sonny was the symbol of man, ever-defeated and ever-triumphant. Everybody wanted to protect him because he wouldn't bother to protect himself. Everybody liked to stake him to a handout or an old shirt because it gave the giver the feeling that at least there was one guy in the neighborhood worse off than himself.

Sonny's binges—based on rubbing alcohol, bay rum, canned heat and sometimes even honest whiskey—were Greenwich Village epics ten years ago, the themes of friendly harmless corner gossip that knit the neighborhood together.

Sonny then was well into middle-age, a slim, tobacco-chewing city hillbilly with a great gift of friendship. Our biggest worry was that he would be run over by a strange taxicab, as he had a habit of lying down in the street and falling asleep.

Despite this outdoor life Sonny was the healthiest man in the neighborhood. He never had a cold. In periods of sobriety he slept in the basement of a drug store—his "underground penthouse"—and when he clanged down the iron cellar doors at night, people said:

"Sonny's sounding curfew. Time to go to bed."

He stoked furnaces, painted walls with cheap calcimine, and carried out garbage when he wasn't on a spree. His clothes were always patched and nondescript, but Sonny kept himself showered and clean. Constant soap and water were the only luxuries his beaten body and mind ever knew.

Sometimes the cheap drink he drowned his dreams in set his wits to wandering, and he went to Bellevue Hospital. Once a neighbor went to the hospital to get Sonny released to help him with some household chores.

The neighbor didn't agree with the doctor's diagnosis that Sonny should stay in longer.

"Don't you feel okay, Sonny," he asked.

"Sure," said Sonny, "except these shoes are pinching my feet."

The neighbor looked down and saw—Sonny was bare-footed. So he stayed in a few days more.

The greatest bender Sonny ever threw was the day the neighborhood druggist sent him on a delivery errand. Sonny collected a dollar from the customer, bought himself a bottle of "smoke" and boarded a bus. Back and forth he rode, a nickel a trip, until the liquor was gone.

"I took a whole double seat to myself," he said later. "I felt like a king."

For that gesture of bourbon grandeur, Sonny will be a neighborhood hero forever.

During the war he moved away to the East Side, and suddenly became an old tired man.

He still limps back sometimes to the old corner, and says defensively:

"Nobody wants me since my leg hurts so much and I can't work anymore. Anyway I don't live here. I'm just slumming."

The average acre of good pine forest in Louisiana is growing at the rate of 150 board feet per year. The Louisiana Forestry Commission reports that experiments show this same acreage could be made to grow 500 board feet during the same period.

GM GENERAL MOTORS HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE *Optional at extra cost
The "drive" of tomorrow is here today! . . . as ultra-modern as television, and with nearly 8 years of PROOF behind it!
It's in the picture for the future—and Oldsmobile brings it to you today! Just as television is the big news in the field of electronics, automatic transmissions are the number-one topic of conversation in the automobile industry. Some day . . . nobody will shift gears . . . nobody will push a clutch. But today . . . only Hydra-Matic Drive provides fully automatic shifting! Only Hydra-Matic Drive eliminates the clutch pedal entirely!
What's more . . . Hydra-Matic Drive was introduced by Oldsmobile nearly 8 years ago! Since that time it has been proved in the hands of nearly 400,000 Oldsmobile owners—proved in literally billions of miles of driving—even proved in combat use on Army tanks!
Today, the lowest-priced car to offer GM Hydra-Matic Drive* is the smart new Oldsmobile—away out ahead automatically—away out ahead in appearance, too. Owners know Oldsmobile is always in tune with tomorrow. They expect Oldsmobile to come out first with the really important advancements like Hydra-Matic Drive. That's why so many future-minded people say, "It's SMART to Own an Olds!"

LOUIS WILHITE DRAWS THRONG

Many Attend Tent Meeting Conducted By Young Baptist Preacher

Louis Wilhite, 14-year-old youthful Baptist preacher, conducting a tent revival meeting four miles out of the city on the Ruston highway, is having capacity crowds. Numbers of people have made professions of faith and requested church membership in some church.

Rae Bryan began the service Thursday evening by reading the Bible story on the rich man in hell, as given in the Gospel of Luke 16:19. He stated, "This should be a warning to people in our own day to get right with God."

The youthful Wilhite preacher spoke on "The New Birth," John 3 1-16, with zeal and intelligence, for in advance of a youth his age. He placed emphasis on, "The need of the new birth and how one can obtain the new birth" with forcible language he said. "One of the tragic conditions which confronts our nation and world today is most of our leaders have never experienced a new brith and do not know God. They have never had this divine change and their lives and influence in a spiritual way leads their fellow men downward and not upward."

It seems to amaze congregations to hear one so young speak with the wisdom and courage of this youth, say his hearers. He will speak Sunday afternoon at 1:30 p. m. on the Baptist Crusade Program over KMLB.

PARENTS WILL MEET NEW BAND DIRECTOR

WINNSBORO, Aug. 16.—(Special)—Members of the Winnsboro Band Parents Club will meet with the new band director, Oscar Barnes, Jr., at the city hall Monday at 3 p. m.

The new director received his bachelor of music degree from Louisiana Tech on July 31 and is scheduled to visit all towns in the parish to speak with parents and band members to make plans for the coming year.

He plans to be in Crowville Tuesday, August 19, in Gilbert on Wednesday, August 20, and Wisner on Thursday, August 21, and will be accompanied by the principals of the various schools in each town.

JR. LIFE SAVING COURSE TO START

A Junior Life Saving Course will begin Monday, August 18, under the auspices of the Ouachita parish chapter of the American Red Cross, in connection with their nation-wide program on water-safety. All participants must be 12 years of age or over, and must already be good swimmers. Registration will take place at 4 p. m. Monday, the 18th, at Swayze natatorium.

Participation in the course is free to all those who qualify. Instruction will be given by Jack Blanks and Larry Bennett. Satisfactory completion of the course entities swimmers to a card certifying them as junior life savers, and a badge which can be worn on swimming suits.

Preparation for an emergency is regarded a part of every citizen's obligation to his community, and the Red Cross' Water Safety Program is an important contribution to the nation-wide drive now being made for safety in all matters. All good swimmers of 12 or over are urged to report Monday at 4 p. m.

Water-repellant and water-proof processes can make cottons impervious to rain and dampness.

PAY INCREASED FOR CATAHOULA TEACHERS

JONESVILLE, La., Aug. 16.—(Special)—All Catahoula parish school teachers will receive a $350 raise for the 1947-48 term, according to the budget approved by the school board this week.

The raise, which includes both white and colored, is the result of funds appropriated at the recent special session of the state legislature. An additional $180 per teacher will be granted if an amendment is ratified in April which will do away with the "90 per cent clause." At present, the state cannot contribute over 90 per cent to the administration of a local school system.

Teachers with bachelor degrees and five years experience will get an annual salary of $2,075 as a result of the $350 raise. The increase will be paid over a 10-month period.

All coaches of senior boys and girls basketball teams will get a $20 per month increase in pay.

One of the most important increases granted was a $250 annual raise to teachers with master degrees. The board voted this increase to encourage teachers to supplement their education. At present, Catahoula has only four faculty members with master degrees.

Tandy McIlwee, new Block High School principal, will draw $3,775 per year as a result of the master degree raise and the $350 increase. Other master degree holders and their total salaries are:

F. H. Holderman, Enterprise High School agriculture instructor and girls basketball coach, $3,390; S. E. Lanier, principal of Harrisonburg High School, $3,575, and Mrs. Myrtle Price, librarian at Block High School in Jonesville, $2,325.

Bus drivers and janitors also received salary hikes. Operators of main lines will receive $10 a month more, and those driving lateral or "feeder" routes will get a $5 per month raise. Janitors, who are paid 12 months, will get a $10 a month increase.

W. MONROE CHURCH PLANS EXPANSION

Needing additional rooms for educational activities, the First Methodist Church in West Monroe, has voted to erect a two-story brick building on a vacant lot owned by the church and located in front of the present church edifice.

The new building will be 50 by 90 feet in dimensions. The lower floor will be devoted to a large recreation room and modern kitchen to replace the present inadequate culinery facilities. The second floor will be used for large Sunday school rooms.

A special quarterly conference will be held August 20 to obtain approval of the construction.

A new insulant, consisting of 6 per cent silica and 94 per cent air, will make more room in refrigerators by permitting thinner walls without loss of efficiency.

SEEK TO BAN STATUE OF WILLIAM BRYAN

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Former Governor Sam R. McKelvie said today he will seek a court restraining order if necessary to prevent placing of a statue of William Jennings Bryan at the main entrance to the Nebraska statehouse.

"I hadn't heard a peep about this monstruous proposition until recently," said McKelvie, who was chairman of the original commission which planned the state building. "If I had realized what an outrage was afoot I surely would have spoken up long ago."

Bryan, known as the "silver-tongued orator of the Platte" in his days of public service, was a presidential candidate three times and served as secretary of state. He died 22 years ago.

McKelvie recalled that the capitol planning commission "felt it was not even well to put the statue of Abraham Lincoln" before the main entrance of the statehouse. He said he agreed with several architects who contend a statue placed before the main entrance of the statehouse. He said he agreed with several architects who contend a statue placed before the main entrance would be "architecturally unwise."

The Nebraska Architects Association has protested placing of the statue, scheduled for dedication Sept. 1, before the main entrance. Chairman W. Bruce Shurtleff of the Bryan Memorial commission said "most of the critics have been anti-Bryan most of their lives * * * and would like to see the statue ditched in Salt creek," small stream which skirts Lincoln.

TAMPICO NURSES HURRICANE HURTS

3 Dead, 19 Injured In Tropical Storm; Portions Of City Flooded

TAMPICO, Mexico, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Tampico, a flooded city without power or transportation, nursed its hurricane hurts tonight as rain continued.

The Panuco river, which flows through Tampico to the Gulf of Mexico, and surrounding lakes were on the rise. Thousands who took refuge elsewhere during yesterday's hurricane returned to their homes to find portions of the city under water.

The hurricane which struck the coast on a 100-mile front has disintegrated into strong winds leaving a casually list of three known dead, 19 injured and considerable property damage.

Of the three dead, one was electrocuted by a power cable here and two others were killed in the storm at Cerro Azul, oilfield town south of here.

Electric service was lacking in this city of 132,000 because the two power plants were flooded. Telegraph wires are down and plane and bus service is suspended. Telephones still work.

Stores and factories with their own power plants resumed work today and crews began repairs in the homes of the poor which suffered most damage.

There is no estimate of property loss. Many homes were wrecked. The government's antenna here was blown down and Pemex, the government oil monopoly, reported derricks were blown over and sheds wrecked.

The hurricane which started early this week in the Caribbean swept across the tip of Yucatan peninsula and came northwest to the Tampico coast.

HEALTH NURSES CONDUCT MEETING

The regular public health nurses staff education meeting met in the Ouachita parish health unit with Mrs. Louise Anderson serving as chairman of the group. Miss Emma Maurin, director of public health nursing, state health department, was guest speaker.

The meeting was made interesting by the contributions of Mrs. Naylor, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Trapp, and Mrs. Hudson on their recent short course experiences in obstetrics at Teachers College, Columbia University.

In the afternoon Miss Tarver gave the many practices shared while taking the course in pediatrics with Mrs. Margaret Adams as instructor at Columbia University.

The group enjoyed a luncheon at the LaCasa Tea Room. Those present were: J. Moore, Lincoln; I. Naylor, Madison; O. L. Gossett, Ouachita; A. Hudson, Ouachita; A. Jones, Ouachita; A. Rogers, Ouachita; A. Tarver, Ouachita; E. Trapp, Ouachita; N. Smith, Tensas; F. Davis, Tensas; V. Harlow, Jackson; R. Herr, W. Carroll; L. May, W. Carroll; E. Laurent, northern region; L. Anderson, Winn; F. Kelly, Union; B. Maxey, Union; K. Kentworthy, orthopedic nurse, northern region; Louise Guidry, northern region; Emma Maurin, director, division of public health nursing.

THE NATION TODAY

By James Marlow

By D. Harold Oliver
(For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Nearly half of the delegates to the 1948 presidential nominating conventions will be chosen in state primary elections beginning next March.

These primaries will be in 15 states.

From a Republican standpoint they can prove significant, despite the fact that only a few of the 15 send delegates firmly pledged to a candidate.

They will prove significant, however, only where two or more potential candidates battle it out for delegates. This is possible, though not necessarily probable, in a majority of the 15 states. The rest will likely have favorite sons.

At this writing, the only primary of special interest to the Democrats will be California's. There, supporters of Henry A. Wallace are forming a slate as a challenge to one which may go pledged to President Truman.

Delegates not chosen by the primary method are selected in state party conventions or, in a few instances, by state party committees.

There will be 1,093 delegates to the Republican convention, an increase of 36 over 1944 due to party gains in the 1946 congressional elections. A majority of 547 will be needed to nominate.

Democrats have yet to announce their 1948 delegate apportionment.

But under their rules, they should have 1,166, or 10 less than 1944.

This reflects a net loss of two each in Ohio, Wisconsin and Wyoming for losing those states to the Republicans in the 1944 presidential election, and six which formerly came from the Philippines, now an independent country. There will be two more delegates from Michigan next year compared with 1944.

The Republicans will pick 496 of their delegates in primaries; the Democrats around 506.

Following are the 15 states in which one or both parties will hold primaries, together with the dates of the primaries and the number of delegates to be chosen by each party:

States	Date	Rep.	Dem.
New Hampshire	March 9	8	10
New York	April 6	99	99
Wisconsin	April 6	27	24
Illinois	April 13	52	52
Nebraska	April 13	15	12
Massachusetts	April 27	35	34
Pennsylvania	April 27	73	72
Maryland	May 3	16	18
Florida	May 4	..	18
Ohio	May 4	53	50
West Virginia	May 11	16	18
Oregon	May 21	12	14
California	June 1	53	52
New Jersey	June 1	35	34
South Dakota	June 1	11	8

For New York and Illinois, the table shows district delegates only. Those states also have delegates-at-large but choose them in state conventions.

In addition to these 15 states, which have 248 electoral votes out of the nation's 531, a presidential primary is optional in Alabama, Arkansas and Georgia but is rarely held.

In Florida, a primary is mandatory on the Democrats, but only optional as far as the Republicans are concerned.

There are five distinct types of presidential primaries:

1. No presidential preference vote, but direct election of district delegates who are not pledged to any candidate (New York).

2. No presidential preference vote, but direct election of delegates who may be pledged (California, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, South Dakota).

3. Presidential preference vote, out election of delegates to national convention by state convention. They are pledged in accordance with preference vote (in the various counties and legislative districts of city of Baltimore, Md.).

4. Presidential preference vote and direct election of delegates who are not pledged (Illinois, district delegates only; Nebraska, Pennsylvania, West Virginia).

5. Presidential preference vote and direct election of delegates who may be pledged (Ohio, Oregon, Wisconsin).

LOUIS WILHITE DRAWS THRONG

Many Attend Tent Meeting Conducted By Young Baptist Preacher

Louis Wilhite, 14-year-old youthful Baptist preacher, conducting a tent revival meeting four miles out of the city on the Ruston highway, is having capacity crowds. Numbers of people have made professions of faith and requested church membership in some church.

Rae Bryan began the service Thursday evening by reading the Bible story on the rich man in hell, as given in the Gospel of Luke 16:19: He stated, "This should be a warning to people in our own day to get right with God."

The youthful Wilhite preacher spoke on "The New Birth," John 3 1-16, with zeal and intelligence, for in advance of a youth his age. He placed emphasis on, "The need of the new birth and how one can obtain the new birth" with forcible language he said. "One of the tragic conditions which confronts our nation and world today is most of our leaders have never experienced a new brith and do not know God. They have never had this divine change and their lives and influence in a spiritual way leads their fellow men downward and not upward."

It seems to amaze congregations to hear one so young speak with the wisdom and courage of this youth, say his hearers. He will speak Sunday afternoon at 1:30 p. m. on the Baptist Crusade Program over KMLB.

PARENTS WILL MEET NEW BAND DIRECTOR

WINNSBORO, Aug. 16.—(Special)—Members of the Winnsboro Band Parents Club will meet with the new band director, Oscar Barnes, Jr., at the city hall Monday at 3 p. m.

The new director received his bachelor of music degree from Louisiana Tech on July 31 and is scheduled to visit all towns in the parish to speak with parents and band members to make plans for the coming year.

He plans to be in Crowville Tuesday, August 19, in Gilbert on Wednesday, August 20, and Wisner on Thursday, August 21, and will be accompanied by the principals of the various schools in each town.

JR. LIFE SAVING COURSE TO START

A Junior Life Saving Course will begin Monday, August 18, under the auspices of the Ouachita parish chapter of the American Red Cross, in connection with their nation-wide program on water-safety. All participants must be 12 years of age or over, and must already be good swimmers. Registration will take place at 4 p. m. Monday, the 18th, at Swayze natatorium.

Participation in the course is free to all those who qualify. Instruction will be given by Jack Blanks and Larry Bennett. Satisfactory completion of the course entities swimmers to a card certifying them as junior life savers, and a badge which can be worn on swimming suits.

Preparation for an emergency is regarded a part of every citizen's obligation to his community, and the Red Cross' Water Safety Program is an important contribution to the nation-wide drive now being made for safety in all matters. All good swimmers of 12 or over are urged to report Monday at 4 p. m.

Water-repellant and water-proof processes can make cottons impervious to rain and dampness.

PAY INCREASED FOR CATAHOULA TEACHERS

JONESVILLE, La., Aug. 16.—(Special)—All Catahoula parish school teachers will receive a $350 raise for the 1947-48 term, according to the budget approved by the school board this week.

The raise, which includes both white and colored, is the result of funds appropriated at the recent special session of the state legislature. An additional $180 per teacher will be granted if an amendment is ratified in April which will do away with the "90 per cent clause." At present, the state cannot contribute over 90 per cent to the administration of a local school system.

Teachers with bachelor degrees and five years experience will get an annual salary of $2,075 as a result of the $350 raise. The increase will be paid over a 10-month period.

All coaches of senior boys and girls basketball teams will get a $20 per month increase in pay.

One of the most important increases granted was a $250 annual raise to teachers with master degrees. The board voted this increase to encourage teachers to supplement their education. At present, Catahoula has only four faculty members with master degrees.

Tandy McIlwee, new Block High School principal, will draw $3,775 per year as a result of the master degree raise and the $350 increase. Other master degree holders and their total salaries are:

F. H. Holderman, Enterprise High School agriculture instructor and girls basketball coach, $3,390; S. E. Lanier, principal of Harrisonburg High School, $3,575, and Mrs. Myrtle Price, librarian at Block High School in Jonesville, $2,325.

Bus drivers and janitors also received salary hikes. Operators of main lines will receive $10 a month more, and those driving lateral or "feeder" routes will get a $5 per month raise. Janitors, who are paid 12 months, will get a $10 a month increase.

W. MONROE CHURCH PLANS EXPANSION

Needing additional rooms for educational activities, the First Methodist Church in West Monroe, has voted to erect a two-story brick building on a vacant lot owned by the church and located in front of the present church edifice.

The new building will be 50 by 90 feet in dimensions. The lower floor will be devoted to a large recreation room and modern kitchen to replace the present inadequate culinery facilities. The second floor will be used for large Sunday school rooms.

A special quarterly conference will be held August 20 to obtain approval of the construction.

A new insulant, consisting of 6 per cent silica and 94 per cent air, will make more room in refrigerators by permitting thinner walls without loss of efficiency.

SEEK TO BAN STATUE OF WILLIAM BRYAN

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Former Governor Sam R. McKelvie said today he will seek a court restraining order if necessary to prevent placing of a statue of William Jennings Bryan at the main entrance to the Nebraska statehouse.

"I hadn't heard a peep about this monstruous proposition until recently," said McKelvie, who was chairman of the original commission which planned the state building. "If I had realized what an outrage was afoot I surely would have spoken up long ago."

Bryan, known as the "silver-tongued orator of the Platte" in his days of public service, was a presidential candidate three times and served as secretary of state. He died 22 years ago.

McKelvie recalled that the capitol planning commission "felt it was not even well to put the statue of Abraham Lincoln" before the main entrance of the statehouse. TAMPICO NURSES HURRICANE HURTS

3 Dead, 19 Injured In Tropical Storm; Portions Of City Flooded

TAMPICO, Mexico, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Tampico, a flooded city without power or transportation, nursed its hurricane hurts tonight as rain continued.

The Panuco river, which flows through Tampico to the Gulf of Mexico, and surrounding lakes were on the rise. Thousands who took refuge elsewhere during yesterday's hurricane returned to their homes to find portions of the city under water.

The hurricane which struck the coast on a 100-mile front has disintegrated into strong winds leaving a casualty list of three known dead, 19 injured and considerable property damage.

Of the three dead, one was electrocuted by a power cable here and two others were killed in the storm at Cerro Azul, oilfield town south of here.

Electric service was lacking in this city of 132,000 because the two power plants were flooded. Telegraph wires are down and plane and bus service is suspended. Telephones still work.

Stores and factories with their own power plants resumed work today and crews began repairs in the homes of the poor which suffered most damage.

There is no estimate of property loss. Many homes were wrecked. The government's antenna here was blown down and Pemex, the government oil monopoly, reported derricks were blown over and sheds wrecked.

The hurricane which started early this week in the Caribbean swept across the tip of Yucatan peninsula and came northwest to the Tampico coast.

At this writing, the only primary of special interest to the Democrats will be California's. There, supporters of Henry A. Wallace are forming a slate as a challenge to one which may go pledged to President Truman.

Delegates not chosen by the primary method are selected in state party conventions or, in a few instances, by state party committees.

There will be 1,093 delegates to the Republican convention, an increase of 36 over 1944 due to party gains in the 1946 congressional elections. A majority of 547 will be needed to nominate.

Democrats have yet to announce their 1948 delegate apportionment.

But under their rules, they should have 1,166, or 10 less than 1944.

This reflects a net loss of two each in Ohio, Wisconsin and Wyoming for losing those states to the Republicans in the 1944 presidential election, and six which formerly came from the Philippines, now an independent country. There will be two more delegates from Michigan next year compared with 1944.

The Republicans will pick 496 of their delegates in primaries; the Democrats around 506.

Following are the 15 states in which one or both parties will hold primaries, together with the dates of the primaries and the number of delegates to be chosen by each party:

States	Date	Rep.	Dem.
New Hampshire	March 9	8	10
New York	April 6	90	90
Wisconsin	April 6	27	24
Illinois	April 13	52	52
Nebraska	April 13	15	12
Massachusetts	April 27	35	34
Pennsylvania	April 27	73	72
Maryland	May 3	16	18
Florida	May 4	..	18
Ohio	May 4	53	50
West Virginia	May 11	16	18
Oregon	May 21	12	14
California	June 1	53	52
New Jersey	June 1	35	34
South Dakota	June 1	11	8

For New York and Illinois, the table shows district delegates only. Those states also have delegates-at-large but only; Nebraska, Pennsylvania, West Virginia).

5. Presidential preference vote and direct election of delegates who may be pledged (Ohio, Oregon, Wisconsin).

In addition to these 15 states, which have 248 electoral votes out of the nation's 531, a presidential primary is optional in Alabama, Arkansas and Georgia but is rarely held.

In Florida, a primary is mandatory on the Democrats, but only optional as far as the Republicans are concerned.

There are five distinct types of presidential primaries:

1. No presidential preference vote, but direct election of district delegates who are not pledged to any candidate (New York).

2. No presidential preference vote, but direct election of delegates who may be pledged (California, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, South Dakota).

3. Presidential preference vote, but election of delegates to national convention by state convention. They are pledged in accordance with preference vote (in the various counties and legislative districts of city of Baltimore, Md.).

4. Presidential preference vote and direct election of delegates who are not pledged (Illinois, district delegates choose them in state conventions.

GOLLY! HOTSHOT, IT'S A GOOD THING THE NOISES IN THE DARK TURNED OUT TO BE YOU AND PAT WITH A FLOCK OF GENDARMES. IF THOSE HILL BANDITS HAD COME BACK, I'M AFRAID I'D HAVE BEEN FRESH OUT OF STAMINA... WHAT'S PAT UP TO?

GEORGE WUNDER

IN PANTOMIME IT LOOKS LIKE HE'S GETTING BAD NEWS.

HMMM. I'M TOO TIRED TO CARE... HAVEN'T SLEPT IN DAYS...

THAT IS HOW THE THING OCCURRED, SIR COMMANDANT. I AM OVERCOME WITH SHAME AT BEING OUTWITTED SO SIMPLY.

FORGET IT. IT WAS A TOUGH BREAK...

CAPTAIN, YOU'LL TAKE CHARGE HERE. I'VE GOT A JOB OF STOP-THIEFING TO DO.

O.K., YOU BEAUTIFUL DREAMERS! NOW THAT YOU'VE HAD A NICE, LONG REST, YOU'LL BE RARIN' TO GO WHEN I TELL YOU WE'RE HAVING FAT MAN TROUBLE AGAIN.

OH, NO!

I'M AFRAID SO. I LEFT OUR MOTOR CONVOY WITH THE DRIVERS ON GUARD, PARKED BACK AT THE POINT WHERE WE DEPLOYED INTO THE OIL FIELD...THE BOY WITH THE BUMP WAS THE DRIVER WITH ONE OF THE JEEPS. A FAT EUROPEAN SLIPPED UP BEHIND HIM, SAPPED HIM, AND TOOK OFF WITH THE TRANSPORTATION.

SOUNDS LIKE TUBBY, ALL RIGHT. HE MUST HAVE DOUBLED BACK AND LOST THE MOB THAT WAS TRAILING HIM. PROBABLY HEARD YOUR VEHICLES ARRIVE AND WAITED FOR SOMEBODY TO GET CARELESS.

THERE'S THE CONVOY OVER THERE. LUCKY THERE'S ANOTHER JEEP WITH IT.

HE'S GOT QUITE A START ON US, THOUGH. HOW DO WE TRACE HIM?

SINCE HIS PARTNER, ERMINE TOY, IS WAITING FOR HIM BACK IN THE CITY, THEY MUST HAVE A HIDEOUT THERE. HE'LL HEAD FOR IT.

VERY CONSIDERATE OF THE GOOD COMMANDANT'S RELIEF EXPEDITION TO ARRIVE AT SUCH AN OPPORTUNE TIME. THIS CONVEYANCE, WITH SIDE CURTAINS UP AND SIREN WAILING, SHOULD BE OFFICIAL ENOUGH TO GET ME PAST THE POLICE ROAD BLOCKS.

MEANWHILE, BACK IN THE CITY

GET OUT!

YI! THE SHE DEVIL RAGES AGAIN. EVERY DAY HER TEMPER BECOMES WORSE.

SHE IS ANGRY BECAUSE THERE IS NO WORD OF THE MASTER'S SUCCESS.

THE ONLY THING THAT KEEPS ME FROM GOING MAD IN THIS HORRIBLE HOLE IS THE KNOWLEDGE THAT WHEN THEODORE BOR WALKS THROUGH THAT DOOR, HE'LL HAVE A FORTUNE IN HIS POCKET.

DICK TRACY

CHESTER GOULD

HEY, LOOK, LUGI. LOOK!

TRACY'S ARRIVAL AT COFFYHEAD'S APARTMENT IS SO SUDDEN THAT COFFYHEAD AND HIS PAL SCARCELY HAVE ENOUGH TIME TO DUCK INTO THE BUILDING ACROSS THE STREET, WHERE THEY LOOK ON FROM A SECOND-FLOOR LANDING.

IT'S THEIR BODIES! THE WORLD NOW HAS TWO FEWER "CRIME STOPPERS."

GOSH, I DIDN'T THINK THAT GAS WAS SO FAST-ACTING.

THEY CAN'T TALK. THEY CAN'T IDENTIFY US. LET'S SHAKE, LUGI!

NO, SIR, I DIDN'T THINK IT'D KILL THAT QUICK.

EASY, BOYS!

THIS CALLS FOR A CELEBRATION! AS SOON AS THE COAST'S CLEAR, WE'LL GO TO YOUR BROTHER'S.

CARRY THAT GAS DRUM BY THIS PIECE OF STRING. THERE MAY BE FINGERPRINTS.

—AND PUT THE OXYGEN KIT IN THE CAR.

THE BOYS SAID HE WAS QUITE A MARKSMAN WITH PEAS AND A RUBBER BAND. H'M? WHAT'S THIS ON THE BACK OF THIS TARGET?

YOU BOYS CAN SIT UP NOW, BUT TRACY WANTS YOU TO STAY IN THE AMBULANCE. WE'RE GOING TO HEADQUARTERS.

YEAH. HE WANTED IT TO APPEAR WE WERE DEAD IN CASE THE PLACE WAS BEING WATCHED.

A LABEL ON THE BACK OF THIS WRAPPING PAPER TARGET SAYS "ZABU IMPORTING CO." SOMETHING HAD BEEN MAILED TO COFFYHEAD.

THE COFFEE HE DRANK WASN'T REGULAR COFFEE LIKE YOU BUY IT SMELLED TERRIBLE

"ZABU IMPORTING CO."? H'M??

LATER IN AN OLD GARAGE, UPTOWN

SURE YOU CAN STAY HERE, COFFYHEAD, BUT THESE COTS AIN'T TOO COMFORTABLE.

THIS'LL BE GREAT! PLUG IN THE HOT PLATE, LUGI.

LATER THAT EVENING TRACY TAKES A STROLL—ALONE! HE IS INTERESTED ONLY IN ONE ADDRESS.

THE LOKI GIRL FAINTS WHEN JIM RESCUES HER FROM A TIGER. "LOOK, KOLU--SHE'S TIED IN THE TREE!"

KOLU CUTS HER LOOSE AND SHE FALLS INTO JIM'S ARMS. THE GIRL GASPS, "OH, SAHIB! YOU SAVE ME!"

Copr. 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.

"SAHIB BIXBY?" JIM GUESSES HE'S ON THE TRAIL OF THE MISSING INTELLIGENCE MAJOR. "WHAT HAPPENED TO HIM?" THE GIRL SHRUGS: "HIM TIGER BAIT, TOO."

NEXT WEEK: COLD TRAIL.

FLASH GORDON

Registered U. S. Patent Office

"I LIKE YOU, JO. BUT KANG COULD MAKE ME EMPRESS OF MONGO. WHAT CAN YOU OFFER?" SULTRA DEMANDS. FLASH WARNS: "YOU KNOW KANG WILL NEVER HELP ANYONE BUT HIMSELF!"

"WHEN I SMASH KANG, YOU'LL SIT BESIDE ME ON MONGO'S THRONE!" FLASH DOESN'T ADD HOW BRIEFLY SHE'LL SIT BY MONGO'S PRESIDENT, NOR DOES SULTRA ADMIT SHE'S PLAYING ON BOTH SIDES ---

IN PROTECTO-SUITS, SULTRA GUIDES FLASH TO KANG'S INNER STRONGHOLD. "I MUST SEE KANG," FLASH SAYS. THE GUARD SNARLS, "YOU? WHY, YOU'RE THE ESCAPED PRISONER HE WANTS DEAD OR ALIVE!"

IN SELF-DEFENSE, FLASH FIRES THE BENT-RAY GUN. ITS RAY SEEKS OUT THE OPENINGS OF THE SENTRY BOX--

FLASH BREAKS INTO KANG'S UNDERGROUND HIDE-OUT, ONLY TO FIND IT INSULATED AGAINST THE BENT-RAY GUN. "I THOUGHT YOU KNEW," SULTRA LIES.

ANOTHER THING SULTRA DIDN'T TELL -- THE SOLID-LOOKING WALL IS TELE-GLASS, AND KANG CAN LOOK THROUGH IT AND SEE FLASH. HE SOUNDS A SECRET ALARM.

by EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

"THE PYGMIES WANT US TO DELIVER THEM FROM KA-GOR, A TERRIBLE GOD WHO DEMANDS MANY DIAMONDS AND HUMAN SACRIFICES. "THE PYGMY WITH US," TARZAN CONTINUED, "WILL BE THE SACRIFICE TO KA-GOR AT DAWN TOMORROW. PERHAPS THROUGH HIM WE CAN LEARN THE SECRET OF THE ISLAND."

Distr. by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

THE PYGMY GUIDED THEIR CRAFT TO THE ISLAND'S SHORE, LEFT TARZAN AND DALLAS IN HIDING AND MADE HIS WAY TO THE SACRIFICIAL STONE.

A SCARLET SUNRISE COLORED THE LAKE AS THE HUMAN SACRIFICE HEARD THE CHANT OF PRIESTS FILING OUT OF THE TEMPLE.

HOGARTH.

THE PRIESTS OF KA-GOR FLED. TARZAN AND DALLAS RELEASED THE PYGMY. "WHAT NEXT?" THE GIRL ASKED. "ATTACK!" TARZAN CRIED.

TARZAN

by EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

"THE PYGMIES WANT US TO DELIVER THEM FROM KA-GOR, A TERRIBLE GOD WHO DEMANDS MANY DIAMONDS AND HUMAN SACRIFICES. "THE PYGMY WITH US," TARZAN CONTINUED, "WILL BE THE SACRIFICE TO KA-GOR AT DAWN TOMORROW. PERHAPS THROUGH HIM WE CAN LEARN THE SECRET OF THE ISLAND."

Distr. by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

THE PYGMY GUIDED THEIR CRAFT TO THE ISLAND'S SHORE, LEFT TARZAN AND DALLAS IN HIDING AND MADE HIS WAY TO THE SACRIFICIAL STONE.

HOGARTH.

THE PRIESTS OF KA-GOR FLED. TARZAN AND DALLAS RELEASED THE PYGMY. "WHAT NEXT?" THE GIRL ASKED. "ATTACK!" TARZAN CRIED.

INSPECTOR, THE STORY YOU'VE JUST TOLD ME SEEMED FANTASTIC AT FIRST, BUT ---

--- OUR COUNTRY IS DOING A LOT OF RESEARCH WITH TRANSONIC AND SUPERSONIC PLANES AND GUIDED MISSILES!

--- AND IN CASE OF ANOTHER WAR, THOSE WOULD BE OUR MOST IMPORTANT WEAPONS AND AN OUTSTANDING FACTOR IN OUR FIRST LINE OF DEFENSE!

--- IT STANDS TO REASON THAT SOME POTENTIAL ENEMIES WOULD GO TO ANY EXTREME TO OBTAIN OUR SECRETS!

RIGHT, JACK, AND OUR DEPARTMENT HAS REASON TO BELIEVE THAT SOME OF THIS MOST VALUABLE SECURITY DATA IS LEAKING OUT!

RAN INTO SOME OF MR. GAWS' ROUGH BOYS IN TOWN, I BELIEVE··· NOTHING SERIOUS···

GAWS IS A DIRTY, CHISELIN' BLACKGUARD IN MY BOOK! I HATE THAT GUY!

NO, ANNIE! NO MAN IS ALL BAD··· AND HATING EVEN AN EVIL MAN MERELY LOWERS YOU TOWARD HIS LEVEL ··· AND PUTS YOU AT A DISADVANTAGE···

HAROLD GRAY

SMILIN' JACK

IN WASHINGTON, JACK RAN INTO AN INSPECTOR WHOM HE HAD WORKED FOR AS AN UNDERCOVER MAN WHILE HELPING CRACK A SPY RING, A YEAR OR SO BEFORE PEARL HARBOR!

INSPECTOR, THE STORY YOU'VE JUST TOLD ME SEEMED FANTASTIC AT FIRST, BUT···

AMERICAN LEGION NAT'L MODEL PLANE CONTEST MINNEAPOLIS MONTICELLO AUG. 18-23

··AND IN CASE OF ANOTHER WAR, THOSE WOULD BE OUR MOST IMPORTANT WEAPONS AND AN OUTSTANDING FACTOR IN OUR FIRST LINE OF DEFENSE!

···IT STANDS TO REASON THAT SOME POTENTIAL ENEMIES WOULD GO TO ANY EXTREME TO OBTAIN OUR SECRETS!

RIGHT, JACK, AND OUR DEPARTMENT HAS REASON TO BELIEVE THAT SOME OF THIS MOST VALUABLE SECURITY DATA IS LEAKING OUT!

···I WANT YOU TO WORK FOR ME AS AN UNDERCOVER MAN AND OPERATE UNDER THE GUISE OF A TEST PILOT ··· IT WON'T BE ANY PICNIC!

Miss WICHITA PAPA BANANA

REMEMBER ALL THE DANGERS WE ENCOUNTERED WITH "THE HEAD'S" FREE-LANCE SPY RING A COUPLE OF YEARS BEFORE PEARL HARBOR, JACK?

WELL, INSPECTOR THE FACT THAT YOU THINK "THE HEAD" IS IN BUSINESS AGAIN IS THE ONLY FANTASTIC THING ABOUT YOUR STORY!

CERTAIN DEVELOPMENTS HAVE LED US TO BELIEVE THAT HE IS IN OPERATION AGAIN, AND···

···IF HE IS, YOU KNOW THAT WE ARE UP AGAINST THE MOST CLEVER BRAIN IN THE ESPIONAGE FIELD! WILL YOU TAKE THE JOB?

YOU CAUGHT ME AT A GOOD TIME! I WAS JUST TAKING A POWDER FROM A REGRETTABLE DEAL THAT I WAS INVOLVED IN!

WHAT WAS THE GIRL'S NAME?

WHY, INSPECTOR, HOW DID YOU KNOW A GIRL HAD ANYTHING TO DO WITH IT?

ZACK MOSLEY AUG. -17-

LISTEN, JACK, I'VE KNOWN YOU FOR A LONG TIME AND DID I EVER SEE YOU THAT YOU WEREN'T HAVING WOMAN TROUBLE?

OKAY BOSS! YOU WIN··· THERE WAS A LI'L DE-ICER NAMED SABLE, BUT THIS JOB WILL GIVE ME A CHANCE TO FORGET AND I WON'T BE INVOLVED WITH ANY FEMALES!

MEANTIME, AT A HUGE MOUNTAIN ESTATE NEAR THE AIR FORCE TESTING GROUNDS AT DRY MUROC LAKE···

MISS GUIDED MISSILE, COME INTO MY STUDY!··· I HAD TO CALL YOU TWICE! ··· LIFE CAN BECOME MOST UNPLEASANT FOR THOSE WHO KEEP "THE HEAD" WAITING! I HAVE NEWS!
